'TAKE U. S. OUT OF BUSINESS,' CONGRESS TOLD

Shannon Group Hits Farm Board.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Abolition of the federal farm board's stabilization activities and immediate withdrawal of the government from operation of barge lines on the inland waterways were recommended to the house of representatives today. Such was the final report of the Shannon special committee, appointed to investigate government competition with private business.

J. B. SHANNON.

That committee's report contained twenty-nine specific recommendations following nearly a year of inquiry and the hearing of more than 600 witnesses. The witnesses represented more than 200 lines of activity and protested against government competition.

No legislative action to carrry out the proposals advanced by the committee are in prospect at this session of congress. Many of the recommendations, however, may be acted upon either at the special session, to be called by President Roosevelt, or at the next regular session.

The Principal Proposals.

Prominent among the committee's recommendations, in addition to those affecting the farm board and the federal barge lines, were:

Abolition of the army transport service and the ship service of the Panama Railway company.

Curtailment of government hospitalization for veterans.

Consolidation of the purchasing activities of the army and navy, as well as of all other executive departments of the government, into "one general department of supplies and munitions under civilian control and direction."

Curb for Farm Board.

Regarding the operations of the federal farm board the report recommended:

"The discontinuance of further stabilization operations under the agricultural marketing act.

"That if credit is extended by the government to the distributors of farm products, whether cooperatives or private middlemen, it be on equal terms to both.

"That if exemption from taxation, exemption from anti-trust acts, and federal encouragement and loans to cooperatives are to be continued, cooperatives should be restricted to the handling of commodities delivered by members engaged in the actual production and not be permitted to engage in any form of direct or indirect buying of commodities for merchandising purposes.

"Because cooperatives are exempt from taxation and anti-trust laws, being essentially monopolies and subject only to the indirect supervision of the attorney general through the secretary of agriculture, more close and direct supervision of their operation should be established. We consider this essential to the public interest."

Wants Barge Lines Sold.

While the committee recommended immediate discontinuance and sale of the federal barge lines operated by the Inland Waterways corporation, it declined, in its report, to deal with the problem of further development of inland waterway transportation facilities.

"In view of the fact that this is a matter of broad national policy heretofore laid down by congress," the report said, "this committee does not feel justified in making any specific recommendation with reference thereto. It does, however, suggest the desirability of a further study of this whole subject matter in the light of the development since the world war of new and additional transportation facilities."

The report was signed by Representatives Joseph B. Shannon [Dem., Mo.], chairman; E. E. Cox [Dem., Ga.], Samuel B. Pettengill [Dem.,

AMENDED SALES TAX LIKELY TO HIT SNAG TODAY

Made Three Instead of Two Per Cent.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Shoals face the state-wide sales tax bill—amended today from two to three per cent—when it is called for passage in the senate tomorrow.

On a showing of strength this evening the bill drew only 29 favorable votes. It must have 34 to pass by a two-thirds majority, necessary for immediate effect. Twelve members voted against it and eight present did not vote at all. The hostility shown today was so firm that there is little likelihood that the bill will pass.

The senate adjourned tonight to meet again early tomorrow. There still is a strong possibility that arguments will develop on the floor tomorrow. Several amendments slaughtered today may be revived. And there are many senators from the border districts intent on protecting the Illinois markets.

New Majority Tested.

Sixty-two amendments faced the senators when they started work on the bill late this afternoon. They tacked on about twenty, threw thirty-one overboard in one grand smash, and swallowed great mouthfuls of burning oratory for two hours and a half until the leaders thought the bill was in the best shape possible. Then they let it go to third reading.

The amendments adopted during this hectic session made vital changes in the bill. Summarized, they follow:

FIRST—The tax was raised from two to three cents on the dollar.

SECOND—Instead of being returned to counties pro rata, the tax will be distributed according to population.

THIRD—Outside of Cook county the tax shall be primarily a substitute tax, replacing levies on real estate and personal property.

FOURTH: In Cook county the tax shall go first for idle relief, any remainder to reduce taxes only by a two-thirds vote of the Cook county board.

Battle Over "Relief" Control.

A fifth amendment was also brought in after senate leaders had conferred an hour with Gov. Horner. This provided that when downstate counties use tax payments for relief they shall be administered by the Illinois emergency relief committee.

This struck fire immediately.

Downstaters, led by Martin R. Carlson [Rep., Moline], declared that they did not want the emergency relief commission to handle county funds, and their protests were so strong that the amendment was itself amended so that the downstate county boards could dispense their relief money themselves.

It was not readily apparent just how the changes in the bill would affect Cook county's receipts. Under the two per cent bill, estimates have been made that Cook would receive about $25,000,000 annually if the tax were returned on the basis of payments.

Now that population has been made the basis of return instead of payment Cook county would receive less money for its idle, but the jump from two to three per cent in rate would, in the minds of many, about balance the cut.

Quarrel Over Foodstuff Tax.

Twelve amendments designed to strengthen noncontroversial features of the bill were passed in a hurry, but Senator Thomas P. Gunning's proposal to exempt foodstuffs from the tax proved a stumbling block. Gunning declared "no sense of justice" would be shown if food were taxed. Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet], the minority leader, opposed the amendment, and when the roll was called it lost adoption by a vote of 29 to 14.

The show of strength on the bill itself came on an amendment proposed by James O. Monroe [Dem., Collinsville], to include under the tax all services for which a wage or salary is not paid. This would take in lawyers', dentists', and physicians' fees among other things. This was voted down, 29-12.

Gov. Horner's concern over passage of the sales tax was made known in a special message read to the assembly in the morning.

Fleas, Frogs Display Skill for Uncle Sam

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Those citizens who furnish the money to run the government often wonder where that money goes. They do not realize that the great business of running a country consists of many activities other than congress, the income tax, the mails, and prohibition. So the people as a whole do not avail themselves of many of the services which are theirs to command.

I have just returned from a visit to the great flea jumping and frog jumping trials, which were held under scientific conditions at the request of an anonymous citizen of California. Of course a citizen of California would be more likely to know of the existence of such facilities than a citizen of any other state, because the Californians make more use of the government than others.

Kindness of Dr. Wilbur.

This particular citizen wrote to Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, the secretary of the interior, who is a Californian himself, and asked him to have the government find out whether a flea could outjump a frog or vice versa—size and weight allowances—and if so by how much and under what conditions, as this question had been bothering him for four years.

The fleas jumped in the department of agriculture under the direction of a staff of scientists of the bureau of entomology and the frogs jumped in the bureau of fisheries of the department of commerce. It was demonstrated that the flea can jump 13 inches horizontally or 7¾ inches straight up, and that a frog can hop three feet under normal conditions, but five feet under emotional stress, from squashy ground, and six feet under great emotion from firm footing.

Frog Best at Own Game.

The tests developed one more interesting fact. This is that frogs are natural broad jumpers, but do not ordinarily go in for the high jump and are not very good at it. There is a celebrated story, possibly one of the fables, about a frog which tried to jump its way out of a well, but I forget how it goes and possibly it would have no bearing on the case anyway.

Then there was the other one of Mark Twain's about the champion jumping frog of Calaveras which was loaded with bird shot shoved down its neck by a fiend in human form who was betting against it. The frog could not jump itself off the floor, but I only mention this so that nobody else will. And a few years ago in New York there was a great scandal among the offshore fishing boats when certain deck hands of one boat were caught shoving a hatful of lead sinkers down the gullet of a vacant codfish of theirs in an attempt to win the boat's pool of $100 for the best fish of the day.

Weighty National Affair.

It seems that one idea just suggests another, and another and so forth, and here we are this far from the subject of government and the relative jumping radius of the flea and the frog as established by official scientific tests of the United States departments of agriculture and commerce at the request of a citizen of California.

They made their flea tests off living dogs of medium thick hair, allowing each flea three jumps broad and three high and the championship jumps were made from a pooch named Rover, by one of his personal fleas, a filly flea whose fine natural form and

A cold wave that reached from the Pacific to the Atlantic last night had given Chicago its lowest temperatures in more than three years. The mercury was scheduled to plumb still lower depths and no immediate relief, according to Weather Forecaster C. A. Donnel, is in prospect.

The last official reading, at 9 p. m., was 6 below zero. An hour later the unofficial reading was 8 below. At 4 o'clock this morning the reading on an official thermometer at the airport was 15 below.

Mr. Donnel said that in his opinion a mark of 10 below and possibly 15 below would be established by daybreak near the lake and that in the suburbs the temperature might approach 20 below.

Buildings Temper Weather.

"Both the lake and the multitude of buildings pouring out gas and smoke act as factors that raise temperatures," he said. "We know that the suburbs to the west are colder than the territory near the lake. Even the far west side must endure greater cold than the spots where official temperatures are taken. A clear atmosphere such as prevails now is favorable to considerable differences in readings within the Chicago area.

"There may be light snow flurries in the morning, but no snow of consequence. It will be extremely cold through Friday. A slight warming up may occur Saturday—steady zero temperatures are hardly possible over so long a period—but it appears the readings will continue far below normal."

City Clears Away Drifts.

Although yesterday's high was only 3 above zero and the low yesterday morning was 2 below, the city had finished the work of digging its transportation lines and its main arterial highways out of the 11 inch snow early in the morning. Travel was no more hampered during the day on surface and elevated lines and suburban trains than on ordinary days. Bus schedules also were much improved over the preceding day.

Chicago's schools, which were kept closed yesterday on an order issued by Supt. William J. Bogan after the blizzard of Tuesday, will reopen today, as will most of the suburban schools. The J. Sterling Morton High in Cicero and the schools of Forest Park will remain closed.

The maximum temperature of 3 above was recorded at 2 and 3 p. m. in the afternoon. By 5 p. m. there had been a fall to zero and at 6 p. m. it was 2 below. Two hours later there had been another drop of 4 degrees.

The last time such extreme temperatures were recorded was early in 1930. On Jan. 18 of that year there was a minimum of 16 below and on Jan. 22 of 8 below. The two intervening winters were mild enough to avoid subzero marks entirely.

17 Above in Imperial Valley.

The vast spread of the cold wave was no less remarkable than its severity. In the Imperial valley of California, near Los Angeles, the coldest weather in many years destroyed one-fourth of the 10,000 acre crop of canteloupes and half the crop of early peas. There were low readings of 17 above in the valley, where frost is seldom known.

In the citrus region surrounding Los Angeles intensive efforts were made to protect grapefruit orchards. Growers burned so many smudges to ward off the blight of cold that it was reported the skies in the city were obscured by a pall of gray smoke.

40 Degrees Drop in N. Y.

More than 3,000 miles away, in New York, the cold wave swept down swiftly in the wake of the mildest Feb. 8 in the city's history. At 2 p. m. the mercury stood at 63 degrees. There was a forty degree drop between that hour and 8 p. m., and it was forecast the morning minimum would touch 10 above.

Other eastern cities had the same swift alteration of summer and winter. Before the frigid wave arrived Boston had a maximum of 66; Hartford,

FLAMES DRIVE 10 FAMILIES INTO COLD OF 15 BELOW

With the thermometer unofficially at 15 degrees below zero, ten families were driven out into the street this morning by fire which attacked the four store building at 1403-09 East 47th street. A 5-11 alarm was sounded for extra equipment. The firemen were handicapped in fighting the flames because of frozen water plugs.

The building extends around to Lake Park avenue and includes stores on the street level. A single alarm was first sounded, but firemen arriving first saw that without extra help the structure would be doomed. A 3-11 alarm was turned in. Despite extra equipment the fire grew worse and the 5-11 alarm followed. Even so, it appeared that the building would be destroyed.

The fire started in the basement. Smoke aroused Miss Cinnie Conn, living on the second floor of 1405 47th street, and another woman, a sister of C. G. McMinn, living on the fourth floor at 1403 47th street. They spread the alarm. Among the families living in the building were those of Clay Bonifield, 1407 47th street, the Conns, the McMinns, and the Allen, Ward and Romero families. Firemen could not account for all of them, but it was believed all were safe.

Restore Normal Salaries to London Workers April 1

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The cuts in the salaries of 30,000 London county council employés, made under stress of the economic situation last year, will be restored on Apr. 1. Teachers, firemen, street railway workers, and others whose wages are subject to trade union agreement are not included. Those benefiting are doctors, nurses, messengers, and the staffs of hospitals and other public institutions.

Family Kills Aged Member as 'Sacrifice'

Inez, Ky., Feb. 8.—(AP)—From the hills of Kentucky today came the weird story of an alleged human sacrifice offered up in the bizarre rites of a mountain cult.

Praying and shouting, eight members of a family are in the Martin county jail here tonight in connection with the death of Mrs. Lucinda Mills, 72 year old mountaineer mother.

Officers who arrested them near Tomahawk, west of Ines, charged the aged woman had been strangled with a chain. They said they broke into the barred home of the Mills family, far in the mountain fastnesses, as plans were being made to place the body on an altar.

Fasting Precedes Rites.

Rites that culminated in the alleged sacrifice lasted for hours, officers said, and were preceded by a period of fasting that began Friday.

Similar rites had been held frequently in the little mountain settlement, the officers asserted, since a revival meeting last year, when the village was aroused to a height of religious frenzy.

Officers charged that two daughters, a daughter-in-law, two sons, a grandson, and two sons-in-law of the aged woman took part in the weird rites behind locked doors and shaded windows. All were arrested, seven of them charged with the slaying and one as a material witness.

Receive "Divine Commands."

Hours of praying, shouting, singing, and dancing, cult members told officers, brought "divine commands" to offer the life of a human as a sacrifice.

Mrs. Mills was chosen, they said, and her son John clutched her by the throat as others stood by watching.

Blaine McGinnis, a son-in-law, told officers at the jail of wanting to prevent the sacrifice, but feeling impelled to stand back. Time after time, he said, John pressed his fingers into his aged mother's neck. Then, the sacrifice completed, chains were tied about her throat and plans were made for a burnt offering.

A cross or an altar, he said, was to be erected and her body placed upon it and burned. Officers said their discovery halted the burning.

Those arrested are: John Mills, 36, and Fred, 34, sons of the woman; Ballard, a 25 year old grandson; Blaine McGinnis and Tom Boyd, sons-in-law; the aged woman's daughters, Mrs. Mollie McGinnis and Ora Mills, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John H. Mills. All but Tom Boyd, officers said, were held on murder charges.

An inquest conducted by Judge T. J. Hardin brought a verdict that Mrs. Mills died "at the hands of her son John and others."

Use "Unknown Tongue."

The cult rites were described by officers as gatherings at which men and women met, sang, and prayed until they received a "blessing." Then they begin shouting in the "unknown tongue" which the cultists contend is the correct language for prayer.

Members claim power, officers said, to perform miracles, saying that they can convert water into wine and transform grapevine stalks into living snakes.

In the Mills' mountain cabin, officers said, they found a bucket of liquid which purported to be water converted to wine. It bore the appearance of well water, they said.

Most of the southland was shivering in the coldest weather of the winter. Early last evening it was 14 above in Atlanta. West of the Mississippi, at Bentonville, Ark., there was a minimum of 10 below. At Fayetteville in the same state the low was 9 below. Lower Florida, however, was still pleasant, with readings in the 70's.

The brunt of the cold, however, was borne by the west and the northwest. Fifty below was the report from Orr, Minn. Other low figures from Minnesota towns were Bemidji, 49 below; Park Rapids, 46 below; Minneapolis, 24 below. Bismarck, N. D., had 32 below. At Trask, Mont., in the mountains near Butte, the temperature was 54 below. Downstate Illinois records included 14 below at Canton; 10 below at Quincy; 12 below at Bloomington, and 9 below at Pana.

As a contrast to the cold here, residents of interior Alaska, who were suffering from the coldest weather in years two weeks ago, were enjoying springlike warmth yesterday, with the temperature at Fairbanks mounting to 28 degrees. Two weeks ago the mercury fell to 65 below in that area.

With the snowfall definitely ended, air traffic, both mail and passenger, was resumed in the middle west yesterday. Pilots reported the temperatures at flying levels ten below those on the ground.

Few Auto Accidents Here.

Automobile traffic accidents here were few during the day. The only untoward happening to train passengers in the suburban area occurred when a trolley wire of the Chicago and Joliet railroad snapped near Willow Springs, marooning forty passengers. They were given shelter by the Willow Springs station of the highway police until help arrived.

Fears that there might be a milk shortage in the city were lessened by reports that farmers in many parts of the city's milkshed were opening roads to permit the passage of supplies. Much milk was shipped by train and one consignment of 200,000 pounds, sent from west Kenosha county, Wis., was stalled in a sonw drift on the North Western railroad for several hours near Kenosha.

Two Kiled By Train.

Twelve deaths in the city and suburbs were attributed in part to the cold. Most of the victims were sufferers from heart disease, however, and the responsibility of the weather for their deaths was not clearly established. Two persons were killed when they were struck by trains. They were Burley Woodward, 15 years old, 2643 South 59th court, Cicero, and Bitar Esparza, 45 years old, track laborer.

Supt. J. Frank Lyman, of the Lincoln park system, and Supt. George Donoghue, of the south parks, said skating on the lagoons was not yet regarded as safe, but that efforts would be made today to flood small areas for skaters.

The cold held down crime, few robberies and few automobile thefts being recorded by the Chicago police. Matrimony was less in favor than usual, only 38 licenses to wed having been issued at the county building.

Relief workers said there had not been an unusual number of new requests for aid, but that many of those being supported by public funds had asked for additional supplies of fuel. Efforts were made to meet the requests of these applicants.

ALL OVER NOW; ROOSEVELT AND GARNER VICTORS

Senate and House Join in Canvass of Vote.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Charlie Curtis, right jovial for an undertaker presiding at his own funeral, stood up in the house of representatives today and told a joint session of congress that he had died, politically, the 8th of last November and that his successor, after the 4th of next March, would be a gentleman from Texas named John Nance Garner.

Before he made that autobiographical statement he anounced—just as solemnly as if it were an announcement—that Franklin Delano Roosevelt of New York had been elected President of the United States.

No, it wasn't a travesty on government, but a tradition of government that this joint session enacted today. It was the old constitutional custom of canvassing the electoral vote. The canvass was thoroughly conservative and allowed the arithmatic that had been flashed around the world election night—a total of 531 electoral votes, of which 472 had gone to the Democratic candidates, Roosevelt and Garner; 59 to the Republican candidates, Hoover and Curtis.

Like First Night Audience.

But the senators and representatives received the news with all the hilarity and enthusiasm of a first night audience sitting through a three act mystery play whose end they couldn't possibly guess.

Here's the review of the play.

At five minutes to one Speaker Garner told the house that the senate was on its way over and would they, the house members, please duck out of the first three rows of seats. Which th. house members did on the jump. About this time the back door opened; the doorkeeper announced: "The Vice President of the United States and the member of the United States senate."

Mr. Curtis, in black, walked up the aisle. In back of him were two page toys. Each carried a shiny mahogany box. In back of them, a solemn pair in cutaways, came Senator Glenn [Rep., Ill.] and Senator King [Dem., Utah], the senate tellers of this vote. They marched to their places on the platform and met the house tellers, Representative Gifford [Rep., Mass.] and Representative Jeffers [Dem., Ala.].

Alabama First on List.

The speaker sat down, the Vice President stood up and took charge of the show. He unlocked the first mahogany box, peeked inside, fumbled around, drew out a large document, all festooned with a pretty gold seal. It was from the state of Alabama. A clerk took the paper—it was imposing enough to have been an ancient Athenian scroll—handed it to Representative Jeffers. Mr. Jeffers stood up, cleared his throat, rolled out some information about everything being "regular," and then announced that "it appears therefrom that Franklin Delano Roosevelt received 11 votes for President."

There was a whoop-la-la roar of delight on the Democratic side. Mr. Jeffers went on to reveal that Alabama had also given 11 votes for Vice President to John Nance Garner of Texas. Another roar of delight.

Mr. Curtis beat the gavel, gently at first, then fiercely. "Order, order," he demanded. "Let there be no applause."

Curtis' Gavel Silent.

Somebody giggled; somebody else guffawed. The irony of a defeated Republican gaveling down triumphant Democrats struck Mr. Curtis' sense of humor. He smiled, shrugged, let his gavel slide softly out of his fingers. Again he peeked into the big box. Again he pulled out a piece of paper, from Arizona this time. It was Senator Glenn's turn to read. Dutifully he informed his colleagues that Arizona's three electoral votes had gone Democratic.

And so on through the alphabet. There was a minor swing of applause when Connecticut went Republican; there was a cowboy yell when Texas went Democratic. And there was a funny little crisis when New Jersey got lost. The Vice President fiddled with the papers; the clerks fiddled with the papers. Everybody on the rostrum whispered.

"Let's pass New Jersey," Mr. Curtis suggested, and went on to New York. Five minutes later New Jersey's document, resplendent in purple seal and yellow ribband, was discovered all wrapped up in a protecting tube.

Pretend to Do Sums.

At last the last paper from the second box had been read. The tellers pretended to do sums. Really it all had been printed on their tally sheets and all they had to do was read, not figure.

The result was given officially to Mr. Curtis, who had already received it unofficially back in Kansas the 8th day of November, and he announced that it was Roosevelt and Garner. Then he waved Garner up, pushed him forward, shook his hand, and there was a lot of handclapping.

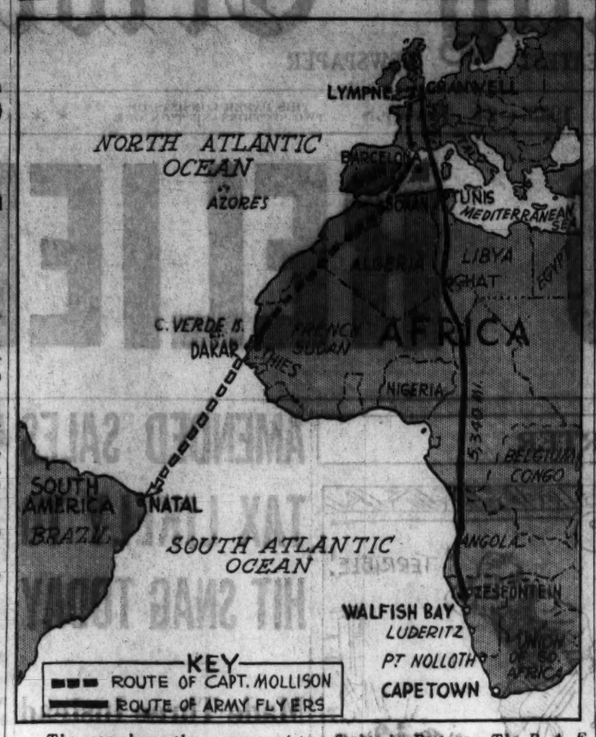
Britons Set Record in "Down Africa" Flight



The map shows the progress of two flights by Britons. The R. A. F. officers, Gayford and Nicholetts, leaving Cranwell, England, flew 5,340 miles in 57 hours, landing at Walfish bay, South Africa, to break the record of Boardman and Polando, Americans. Capt. James A. Mollison reached Thies, Senegal, and awaits favorable weather to make a solo hop of the South Atlantic. Both flights started from England Monday.

TWO BRITISHERS FLY 5,340 MILES; BEAT U. S. RECORD

Gayford, Nicholetts Land Short of Cape Town.

BULLETIN.

THIES, Senegal, Feb. 9 [Thursday.]—(AP)—Capt. James A. Mollison, noted British flier, started unexpectedly at 12:50 a. m. today on his projected 2,000 mile flight across the south Atlantic to Natal, Brazil.

WALFISH BAY, Union of South Africa, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Great Britain won the world's nonstop long distance air record today when two officers of the royal air force, Squadron Leader O. R. Gayford and Flight Lieutenant G. E. Nicholetts, landed at this little settlement at 4:40 p. m. [9:40 a. m. Chicago time], after a 5,340 mile flight from Cranwell airdrome, England.

They had been in the air 57 hours and 25 minutes, but they showed remarkably few signs of their arduous flight when freshly shaven and smiling they clambered out of their giant monoplane after a perfect landing.

The flyers explained that they were obliged to come down because of lack of fuel, strong headwinds having reduced the normal range of their monoplane. They had intended to fly to Cape Town, a distance of 6,198 miles. Their official report to the air ministry listed their average speed at 93.3 miles per hour, though actual speed for most of the flight was more than 100 miles an hour. Before going to a hotel they said they might remain here until Friday morning.

Gayford and Nicholetts, who took off from Cranwell Monday morning, exceeded by 328 miles the distance record set by Russell Boardman and John Polando, Americans, in a flight over the Atlantic from the United States to Turkey in 1931.

Mollison Reaches Senegal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Capt. James A. Mollison, British flyer who is aiming at a new time record for an England to Brazil air flight, prepared today to enter the last stretch of his journey, the 3,000 mile hop across the South Atlantic. He landed this morning at Thies, Senegal. Capt. Mollison left England early Monday, planning to complete the ocean trip in three and one half days.

Polando Will Try Again.

Lynn, Mass., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Lieut. John L. Polando of Lynn, Mass., co holder with Russell T. Boardman of the previous nonstop flight record of 5,012 miles, today said: "The British aviators have made a marvelous flight and their deed adds to the progress of aviation.

"In all probability, Boardman and I will make an attempt to regain the nonstop flight record."

Two Frenchmen Poised.

ISTRES, France, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Stirred by the success of the two British officers in setting a new world's distance flight record, two French aviators, Lucien Bossoutrot and [illegible] rice Rossi, tonight had their monoplane fueled and placed on the runway at the airport here and last minute weather reports will determine whether they will set out for South America or Java.

FLEAS AND FROGS JUMP FOR THEIR OWN UNCLE SAM

The Babe is a little flea, but very animated and she hopped from Rover's tail, square into his left ear with beautiful grace and style, to win the broad jump without a question.

The dog, however, then sat down and began to bat himself on the ear with his hind foot and we almost lost our champion.

But one of the scientists had whiskers and ran over and jabbed them up against Rover's head and Babe Didriksen hopped aboard and was saved. On her high jump, the Babe's style was just a little questionable and some of the scientists who were standing around wearing big gilt badges with "Official," or "Committee," on them, like A. A. U. officials at a track meet, wanted to rule her out for diving. You may remember that they did that to La Babe Didriksen of the Olympics in California.

The protest was referred to the secretary of agriculture, together with all the papers and affidavits in triplicate and after a while the answer came down that Babe's jump was a jump, not a dive and would have to be accepted. You should have heard the cheers there in the staid scientific atmosphere of the bureau of entomology of the United States department of agriculture.

Flea Stable Real Economy.

I asked one of the scientists if it was very expensive to the government to maintain a stable of fleas and he said, no, that the cost was practically negligible, because they had to keep the dogs anyway, in order to be ready to conduct scientific researches and determine why dogs bark at the moon instead of mooing or quacking if some Californian should every write to Mr. Wilbur wishing to know.

I tell you, those Californians know what government is for and how to make the most of it. If they want to water the lawn, they get the government to build a dam up in the mountains.

After the finals of the flea jump the, asked the Babe if she would pose for the movies, with sound, with her arms around her nearest opponent, a flea named Stella, and the Babe answered, "I certainly will not pose with Stella. Stella is a louse."

Another Triumph for Science.

I thought for a moment that the girls were going to kill each other, as it seems that it is a mortal insult to call a flea that, but they tossed Stella back onto her dog and Babe back onto Rover and the situation passed.

Then we went over to take in the frog jump at the bureau of fisheries but I wouldn't believed it happened myself, except that it was an official scientific test of the U. S. government paid for at public expense, and I don't blame you if you don't want to hear any more about it.

Your tax bill will show that it did happen, however.

I once got a letter from a man driven almost wild, who wanted to know why the handkerchief pockets in night shirts were made so small. He said if he put his handkerchief in the pocket it made a hard lump and woke him up when he rolled over.

Forgets Federal Aid.

If he didn't put it in the pocket and just let it lie loose in the bed, some time during the night he would be sure to sneeze and wouldn't be able to find it among the sheets. So then he would have to get up and get another one out of the bureau drawer and then he couldn't go back to sleep. He wanted me to do something about it. He blamed the Wall street night shirt interests.

But he wasn't a Californian or he would have written to the department of the interior and Mr. Wilbur would have ordered some scientific tests by the bureau of handkerchief pockets in night shirts.

CITY CLERKS HELP MAKE DRINK 'PARLOR' BOND TRADE THRIVE

The insurance offices of George Herrmann & Co., 175 West Jackson boulevard, are said to be doing a land office business writing bonds for soft drink parlor operators under the provisions of the new city license ordinance. The company has opened a branch office in room 2205 at 100 North La Salle street, across the street from the city hall, and clerks in the city collector's office are doing their bit to make the venture a success.

A saloonkeeper, followed by a reporter, approached the license application counter with a blank bond form.

"What must I do with this?" he asked a clerk.

"You may get two individual real estate sureties to go on your bond or get a surety company," said the clerk.

"You have a lot of trouble with real estate sureties, don't you?" said the saloonkeeper.

"Yes, you do. The property has to be investigated for incumbrances and all that business. Most of them have been going across the street," the clerk explained.

"Sure," another clerk volunteered. "We've been sending them all over there. Here's a card. Wait a minute, I'll take you over there."

A $2,000 bond is required for each beverage dispensing license. The city license fee is $150 for six months. Premium on the bond is $20. So far 2,000 license applications have been made and 3,000 more are expected.

City Collector Edward Kaindl said his clerks had instructions to send applicants to particular companies and that he would investigate the matter.

CLEAR DRIFTS FROM ILLINOIS' MAIN HIGHWAYS

Motor snow plows of the state and county highway departments late yesterday had cleared the snow drifts of Tuesday's blizzard from all except one major highway in Illinois. Route No. 4, between Joliet and Bloomington, was still reported impassable last night.

Bulletins to the Chicago Motor club announced the opening to traffic of all of the fourteen state and five county highways which were blocked Tuesday night by snow drifts, some of them twelve feet high. However, in many places there is room for only one vehicle to pass through at a time. It is expected that this condition will be remedied today.

A number of highways still were blocked yesterday in northeastern Indiana. Motorists were warned to stay off U. S. routes 12 and 20 between Gary and Michigan City. Dozens of large motor trucks were reported stalled in the snow drifts on these roads.

Fire Drives 50 Negroes Out Into Subzero Cold

Nearly fifty Negroes were driven out into the subzero cold last night by fire which attacked a six flat building at 3414-16 Indiana avenue. The fire started in the basement and spread upward to the three floors. A 2-11 alarm was sounded to insure the presence on the scene of sufficient apparatus.

SHE AGREES TO ROUT EVIL; HELD FOR CON GAME

Miss Lottie Nicholas, 21 years old, who is alleged to have stolen $479 after contracting to rout some evil spirits from the home of Carl Ewart, 4056 West 22d street, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bond of $2,000 on a charge of operating a confidence game. Mrs. Meta Ewert, wife of Carl, told Judge Donald S. McKinlay that Miss Nicholas and another woman went to the Ewert home and declared the place to be full of evil spirits.

"I will dissipate their evil spell for 25 cents," Mrs. Ewert said Miss Nicholas told her. The witness said the equipment used to combat the spirits was an egg shell, a glass of water, and a worm. Miss Nicholas then convinced her that the family savings should be added to the equipment, Mrs. Ewert said.

The $479 and the egg shell were placed in a handkerchief, while the worm was dropped into the glass of water. Following instructions, Mrs. Ewert said, she threw the water over her left shoulder and placed the handkerchief and its contents beneath her pillow. She later discovered that a bar of soap had been substituted for the money in the handkerchief.

Baby Born in Ambulance Blocked by Snow Drifts

Because of the impassability of the roads due to the snow drifts, an ambulance yesterday provided the birthplace for the son of Mrs. Lucille Dukes, 425 Vernon street, East Chicago, Ind. An interne and nurses from St. Catherine's hospital, Gary, attended the mother in the amoulance, when the driver reported he could not break through the drifts to reach the institution. Carried to the hospital, both mother and baby were reported doing well.

ROOSEVELT PARTY FIGHTS 15 ROUND DRAW WITH SHARK

Miami, Fla., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—President Elect Roosevelt today fell into some good fishing on his Bahama island yachting vacation, it was revealed in a message he relayed to Miami. The message, wirelessed from Vincent Astor's yacht, the Nourmahal, on which Mr. Roosevelt has spent five days of his ten day holiday, stated that Chief Justice Frederick Kernochan of the New York City Court of Appeals, one of his companions, had fought a "fifteen round draw" with a shark which got away.

BEWARE WOMEN WITH HYSTERIA, PASTORS TOLD

Pastors had better have their wives within calling distance when dealing with "certain unmarried middle-aged women who are prone to be somewhat hysterical." This advice was given by Dr. W. S. Sadler yesterday at a session of the International Council of Religious Education at the Hotel La Salle.

Dr. Sadler, who is a widely known psychiatrist, warned the pastors that such women are likely to conceive a personal affection for the minister, and that is likely to lead to delusions from which scandals spring.

"Nearly all the scandals with which our clergymen are connected, and often the innocent victims of those scandals, come from cases of this kind," Dr. Sadler said. "In dealing with a woman of this type the pastor had better have his wife within sight."

COLD WAVE PUTS CRIMP IN WORK OF HOLDUP MEN

The cold wave has suppressed even gunmen. Police records showed that for the 21-hour period ended at 9 o'clock last night, only eighteen robberies were reported. This is probably the low record in years. Not infrequently forty or more holdups are committed in 21 hours.

"It looks as though the holdup men like the warm indoors better than the zero cold," observed one police official. "There are other reasons, of course. The snow on the streets prevents a quick getaway, for one reason."

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

HOODLUM SHOT; DIES REFUSING TO NAME SLAYERS

Victim Member of Touhy Liquor Gang.

William J. O'Brien, 35 years old, a member of the Touhy liquor gang, was shot and fatally wounded yesterday in the speakeasy of Ted [Spider] Meyers at 2042 North Clark street. The shooting was revealed when O'Brien staggered into the Augustana hospital and sought treatment for two bullet wounds in his back and a third in his right hand. He died about two hours later.

The hoodlum refused to name his assailants and it was only after his car was found in front of the Clark street speakeasy that he admitted the shooting had occurred there. Then he told police that he was shot when he resisted the efforts of three men to take him for a gangland ride.

Knew Killers Ten Years.

"I've known them for ten years," he told Capt. Martin O'Malley of the Hudson avenue police, "but I won't tell you who they are."

Told that he was going to die, O'Brien maintained his silence and merely shook his head when asked to name the men who shot him. The police believe the shooting grew out of a barroom brawl and pointed to the reputation of O'Brien as a saloon brawler to substantiate the belief.

O'Brien, the owner of a roadhouse at 7332 Irving Park boulevard, was wounded in a fight in which his brother Robert, also a roadhouse owner, was killed on April 10, 1930. The shooting took place in the Elk Grove roadhouse of Andrew [Sonny] Dunne. The proprietor said he shot the men in self-defense.

Knows No Closing Hours.

The brawl theory in the shooting yesterday was further substantiated by the nature of the speakeasy in which it occurred. Meyers' place, known as "The Garage," is said to have no closing hours. Politicians and stage folk gather there and it is known to be a favorite rendezvous for café owners and speakeasy proprietors who have closed their own establishments.

The speakeasy gained notoriety little more than a week ago when it was the target of a bomb. The bomb was believed thrown because Theodore English, Meyers' bartender, was to appear in court as a witness in a robbery case against William Davis.

Take Pride in "Toughness."

At that time investigators invaded the speakeasy and found a bar more than 100 feet long. The bartenders, waiters and entertainers wore typical tough Bowery costumes and the atmosphere was carried out in the sawdust on the floor, the Tom and Jerry bowl on the bar, the ornate mirror, and the four old-fashioned stoves that furnished the heat.

The police seized Meyers, his brother, Sam, 32 years old; English Ralph Clausen, a waiter; Sidney Raymond, an entertainer; Joseph Sellner, a waiter; Harry Ross, 25 years old, 4911 North Whipple street, an electrician; Frank Luke, 39 years old, 2028 Holly court, and George Fluda, 32, the chef.

Questioning the employés, police learned only that three girls had entered with the three men who did the shooting.

In front of the place the police found a car which they said belonged to Mrs. W. W. Smith, 5357 North Luna avenue. She was sought.

Trap Two Beer Runners.

Two beer runners fell into a police trap at the speakeasy yesterday afternoon. They identified themselves as John Warner, 1414 School street, and Harry Fletcher, 9371/2 Cornelia avenue. They entered the speakeasy and addressed two detectives detailed there.

"Say," Warner said, "we've got two barrels of beer for you out here." The detectives arrested the men and seized the beer and the automobile in which it was delivered.

Later the place was closed on orders of Police Commissioner Allman, who said Meyers had no retail beverage license.

Maltby Sentenced for Embezzlement.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Fred E. Nierle, robbery, sentenced to 1 year in Pontiac reformatory; Ernest Maltby, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Rudolph F. Desort.

Ernest V. Maltby, vice president and manager of the defunct Rural Grain company, 141 West Jackson boulevard, was sentenced yesterday to serve one to ten years in the pentitentiary for embezzlement of company funds. Judge Rudolph F. Desort, who heard the case without a jury, allowed the defendant his liberty in bond for 60 days pending an appeal to the state Supreme court.

Testimony showed that Maltby, who is 60 years old and lives at 15246 Lexington avenue, Harvey, was once one of the largest traders on the Chicago Board of Trade. Peter Carey, now president of the board, was called as a character witness by the defense. He testified that he was employed as an office boy for Maltby more than 20 years ago.

Thefts Set at $170,000.

While Maltby was sentenced on the specific charge of taking $2,000 of the company funds, his total peculations are said to equal the $170,000 deficit of the Rural Grain company. The company, which was placed in bankruptcy in 1930, was a cooperative society made up of farmers from Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin.

Following the company's collapse, President S. J. Cottington charged that the failure was due to Maltby's unauthorized speculations in grain futures. Maltby disappeared and was expelled by the board of trade.

The government became interested in the case and charged Maltby with violation of the grain futures act. Sought for 14 months by department of justice agents, Maltby was arrested in October, 1931, in a cabin near Seattle, Wash. Five months later the government charges were dropped because of insufficient evidence.

Forbidden to Speculate.

Cottington, who lives in Stanhope, Ia., appeared at the present hearing and displayed a contract under which Maltby was forbidden to speculate while employed by the Rural Grain company. The state offered evidence that Maltby drew two company checks to himself in 1929. One for $1,200 was turned over to his daughter, Helen, witnesses said, and the other was used by Maltby.

Testimony showed that Maltby had carried his speculative accounts under the name of an old friend, George B. Marble, well known grain trader. Mr. Marble was called by the state and testified that he knew nothing of the accounts until they were revealed in the criminal investigation. Four other charges of embezzlement against the defendant were continued until March 16. Assistant State's Attorney James Brown prosecuted the case.

VOTE TO INSTALL UNIFORM LIGHTS ON MICHIGAN AVE.

Members of the Lincoln park board yesterday directed J. Frank Lyman, park superintendent, to get information on costs and take other preliminary steps for the installation of a progressive traffic light system from Oak street to the link bridge in Michigan avenue.

The action was in response to a communication from the south park commissioners stating that the south park board would proceed with its plans to install such a system in Michigan avenue from 12th street to Randolph street as soon as the city and the Lincoln park board indicate they are ready to cooperate in completing the system. The city has jurisdiction over the boulevard from Randolph street north to the bridge.

In discussing plans for the improvement the Lincoln park commissioners indicated they favored having the work of changing the present system done by park employés under supervision of the park engineer.

MUTINEERS SEND DUTCH TERMS OF THEIR SURRENDER

Ask Immunity and No Wage Cut.

BATAVIA, Java, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Dutch navy's game of hide and seek with the runaway battleship De Zeven Provincien continued tonight, with the vessel manned by mutineers determined not to be tagged except on their own terms.

The harassed Dutch commander, aboard one of the vessels pursuing the warship, received another wireless message from the mutineers, but it offered nothing except surrender of the ship in return for assurance that the rebellious crew would not be punished and that the wage cut which caused the demonstration would be dropped.

Say Everything O. K.

"We will surrender in conformity with our earlier message," the crew told the commander. "Please inform high authorities there are no communistic leanings and no violence. We intended only a protest against wage cuts and against the arrest of our comrades. Everything aboard is all right. There are no casualties and service is proceeding as usual."

The cruiser was believed tonight to be proceeding along the coast of south Pora island, Sumatra, at a speed of seven knots.

Dutch Ready for Battle.

THE HAGUE, Feb. 8.—(AP)—A decisive encounter between the Dutch battleship De Zeven Provincien, now in the hands of mutineers off Sumatra, and pursuing Dutch naval vessels is expected tomorrow or Friday.

The Dutch ministry of defense announced that the pursuing submarines and other warcraft cannot be far from the cruiser, and that it is their intention to demand immediate and unconditional surrender. Should the rebels resist the pursuers will open fire forthwith, the announcement said.

PETITTI INQUEST TO BE FEB. 21.

AGREE TO SELL 42 MILLIONS IN TAX WARRANTS

28 Big Business Leaders Indorse Plan.

An agreement to aid in the sale of $42,000,000 worth of tax anticipation warrants was obtained yesterday from 28 representatives of large business and banking interests by Fred W. Sargent, chairman of the citizens' committee on public expenditures, and Charles S. Dewey, who heads the group that is endeavoring to sell the warrants, at a closed conference in the Chicago club.

After the conference, Mr. Sargent said the business men had agreed unanimously that the warrant sales plan proposed to them was sound, and a committee was named to work out the details of the plan. Neither the plan nor the membership of the committee working on the details could be made public at this time, Mr. Sargent said.

Twelve Million Already Sold.

The Dewey committee already has taken subscriptions for $12,000,000 worth of the warrants, the proceeds of which would be used to pay city, school, and county employes, but with the aid of the business men pledged, Mr. Dewey said his group would now put on a concentrated campaign to sell the remaining $30,000,000 worth.

Working under the Dewey committee are several subcommittees which are canvassing various branches of industries in their efforts to sell the warrants. Yesterday, John McKinlay, president of Marshall Field & Co., and chairman of the State street subcommittee, reported subscriptions totaling $805,000 from the State street merchants.

Payoff Today Is Likely.

In letters to 200 merchants, Mr. McKinlay pointed out that the money received by the local governments from the sale of the warrants would go to pay policemen, firemen, school teachers, and other employes, and that the sale of the warrants would release more than $40,000,000 in purchasing power.

The payment of two week's salaries to city and school employes today with the money taken from the city's aggregate of funds in anticipation of the success of the Dewey committee's concentrated drive was regarded as likely in the city hall, although no official announcement was forthcoming. The city would advance nearly $4,500,000 to make the pay day possible.

Among those who attended the Chicago club conference were James Simpson, chairman of the boards of several operating utilities, Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, and several members of the Sargent group.

MERCHANT FOUND SERIOUSLY SHOT; REFUSES TO TALK

Fillmore street police opened an investigation last night into the mysterious shooting of John F. Leverington, 67 years old, 4505 Congress street, owner of a notions store and postal substation at 421 South Cicero avenue. Leverington, who has only one arm, is in a serious condition in Frances Willard hospital from a head wound.

The merchant, though able to talk, refused to tell Sergt. Andrew Carroll how he was shot.

HEADLESS BOARD FINDS IT CANNOT PUSH SCHOOL PAY

Election Urged by Security Experts.

The board of education is without a president and therefore cannot legally enter into pending negotiations that may bring about a pay day for teachers and other school employés. This plight of the board was disclosed yesterday in an opinion submitted by Henry Cutler of Chapman and Cutler, security experts who advise the banks on the validity of municipal bonds and warrants for investment purposes.

James A. Hemingway, vice president and appointee of a former administration, assumed the duties of President Lewis E. Myers when the latter resigned two weeks ago, but his position, according to the Cutler opinion, is that of temporary presiding chairman.

Cutler Advises Election.

Mr. Cutler recommended that a president be elected immediately to carry on the board's business. "When the president resigns," he explained, "under the school law and rules of the board his office is left vacant and it is the duty of the board to elect a new president."

The statute provides that "the vice president shall perform the duties of the president in case of the president's absence or inability to act," but makes no provision that he shall succeed to power should the president resign, the opinion points out.

At the school board meeting yesterday a group of teachers asked the trustees to set machinery in motion for the distribution to unpaid employés of approximately $3,000,000 in 1931 tax anticipation warrants held in the city's aggregate of funds. Although the question of Mr. Hemingway's authority to act in the warrant distribution was not discussed yesterday, Thomas V. Sullivan, school attorney sought a delay when he was instructed to draw up a resolution to further the action.

Needs More Time.

"I need some time," said Mr. Sullivan. "I can't write a resolution like that in a few minutes. Perhaps if the board would recess until Thursday it could be done."

An obstacle in the way of the teachers' plan for warrant distribution, it was disclosed later, is that the warrants would have to be reissued and signed by the president of the board. As Hemingway's status is that of a temporary chairman, it was admitted there is no one vested with the proper authority to sign the securities.

The trustees recently offered the presidency to Orville J. Taylor, a Cermak appointee.

"I haven't made up my mind," said Mr. Taylor last night, "and cannot until Mayor Cermak returns from Florida and I have a chance to talk to him.

Willing to Act.

"However, in the case of the legalities of the situation, if the board should decide they want me to act, I am now of the mind to accept the presidency until the election in May. I should want the rules amended so that the job would not be for a year, but to fill an unexpired term. Then if the board wanted me to stay, and I could devote the time to it, I would continue."

Mr. Taylor added that his "fondness for and confidence in Jim Hemingway," are such that he is agreeable to have him act as president.

Mr. Hemingway's term expires in May, as do the terms of Trustees H. Wallace Caldwell and John A. English. Besides these three positions to fill in May, the mayor has not yet appointed trustees for the posts left vacant through the resignations of Mr. Myers and Carter Blatchford. At present the mayor has four appointees on the board.

Judge Taylor to Quit Bench at Close of Term in June

Circuit Judge Thomas Taylor yesterday announced he will not be a candidate for reelection. On the completion of 18 years of service on the bench in June and 51 years in the study and practice of law, he said he will retire "to spend his remaining years in peace and rest."

Judge Taylor is considered one of the most able and learned jurists in the history of the Cook county bench. His decision to retire brought expressions of regret from the bench and bar. Charles P. Megan, president of the bar association, said: "I deeply regret the decision. Judge Taylor's service on the bench has been of the highest quality."

Ranks Third in Bar Report.

In the recent report of the association on sitting judges, whose terms expire in June, Judge Taylor ranked third in a percentage rating based upon ability and integrity. He was the highest among judges who have served for a number of years in the county building and Criminal court. He was topped only by two judges in the Appellate court and one who recently returned from that court.

"I am moved in my decision by biblical reasons," Judge Taylor said. "I take my step not without considerable thought. I feel that the old admonition of 'three score and ten years' is one to be heeded. I yield to time.

"My only regret, after more than a half century in law, is that I cannot name my successor. I feel, though no name is in my mind, I could find one to carry on who, perhaps, might be better than one chosen through our elective system."

Graduate of Harvard Law School.

Judge Taylor is 72 years old. He was born in England and came to this country in 1866. He was graduated from Knox college in 1881 and from Harvard law school in 1885. Three years ago in June he received an honorary doctor of laws degree from Knox college. He studied civil law at the Universities of Berlin and Vienna.

The judge came to Chicago in 1887 and opened a law office. In 1893 he became a master in chancery of the Circuit court and served until his election to the court in 1915. A year later he was assigned to the Appellate court, which he left in 1923.

During his years of service Judge Taylor has written many opinions which have brought him wide commendation. Among these was his disciplinary proceedings brought against lawyers on the pay roll of the sanitary district during the "whoopee days."

WALLACE F. KIRK ORDERED TO PAY FEE TO SCHOOL

Wallace F. Kirk, advertising man living at 1100 Lake Shore drive, must pay $800 to a preparatory school to which he agreed to send his stepson, Samuel Albert Culbertson II., in 1929, although the boy was later sent to another school, the Appellate court ruled yesterday.

The plaintiff in the suit is the Asheville School for Training in Christian Leadership, at Asheville, N. C. Mr. Kirk's wife, Mrs. Florence M. Kirk, wrote to the school in 1928 and was informed that tuition was $1,500 a year, of which $800 was payable upon entrance. She testified in the original Municipal court action brought by the school that in July, 1929, she wrote the school, withdrawing the application of her son. The school denied that it received her letter.

Samuel, who is now 18 years old, entered the Choate school at Wallingford, Conn., in September, 1929. Judges Oscar Hebel and Ross C. Hall concurred in the opinion that the Asheville school was entitled to damages for preparations made for care of the boy. Attorney J. B. Martineau of Kirkland, Fleming, Green and Martin, said that Mr. Kirk would take a further appeal.

POSTOFFICE IN BRITAIN MAKES BIGGEST PROFIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The British postoffice, which also governs telephone and telegraph service, made the biggest profit in its history in the fiscal year ending March, 1932. The figure, $13,155,000, shows a surplus for the year of 14.72 per cent of income, compared to 12.71 per cent of the total income the previous year. Nearly $50,000,000 was expended for telephone service expansion.

Joseph B. Platt, Director Delineator Institute of Decoration, in the September issue of Delineator, says:—

"A Hartford Saxony by the Bigelow Weavers. It is a five-color Wilton; a reproduction of an antique Spanish hand-tufted rug in a striking color combination of honey, turquoise, prune, ivory and copper. The color, the design, and the deep pebbly pile are all typical of the distinguished rugs of old Spain. It is eminently suitable not only for Spanish, but Early English, Italian and certain types of Early American settings. We can see it most ideally in a white-walled room, with dark oak beams, simple furnishings and brightly dyed fabrics at the windows."

This rug is illustrated in full color in the Bigelow Weavers' advertisements appearing in the February issue of Good Housekeeping, Woman's Home Companion, McCall's and Delineator. This "Hartford-Saxony" and all other rugs and carpets woven by the Bigelow Weavers are identified by the blue and gold Sign of the Weaver's Knot.

FAITHFUL SLUMP IN TURKEY; WAYS OF WEST BLAMED

Islamic Priests Lament Empty Mosques.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ISTANBUL, Jan. 22.—[By mail.]—The Turkish imams lament the indifference of the faithful. The mosques at Ramazan [holy month] time are notably unfrequented.

This all comes from the introduction of western ways, the imams say, of laicization, of abolishing Islamism as the state religion. Only the most miserable now seek the comforts offered by the prophet. The east and the west in waning religious fervor appear to meet, it would seem.

A visit to the mosques show there is justification in the laments of the imams. St. Sophia, built by Justinian and converted into a mosque by Mohammed II., conqueror of Constantinople, now called Istanbul, was notably empty during the January days when the muezzins' calls to prayer sounded.

Approach to St. Sophia.

The usual approach to St. Sophia is through the August port, lying below the roseate church of St. Irene, which the Turks never turned into a mosque but contrarily and ironically converted into a military museum in which may be seen armor perhaps once worn by a crusader. Beyond that gate on the east side is the pretty Ahmed fountain and above it rise two high-fluted minarets and the grim walls of St. Sophia, yellow with age.

Continuing around the church one comes to the St. Sophia square on the opposite side of which arise the gray domes of the Ahmed mosque.

At the entrance into the church for strangers and unbelievers, guides hang about. There huge slippers are provided to be worn over street shoes, and one shuffles through the church in them. The faithful take their shoes off.

Drone of Voices Heard.

Inside the church beneath the enormous dome and seated around walls are a few dozen men and women. Some sit up close, facing the wall and swaying back and forth. The great edifice is silent except for the drone of praying and chanting voices.

Men come in with shoes in their hands. At the end are two large fountains with basins where several men wash their feet with considerable noise. On one side is the famous perspiring marble column.

Women in black turbans and children sit on little raised platforms here and there. The droning chant swells. Seated forms read the Koran and sway rhythmically in mystic oblivion. Most of the men are bearded and of the poorest classes. The women turn and stare as unbelievers go shuffling by in the borrowed slippers.

More Come at Noon.

Finally noon sounds and there is an inflow of more people. But hardly more than 200 altogether. In a small ledge at the left of the superior nave in which the hand of Mahomet is said to be kept sits a turbaned imam reading from the Koran in a chanting, singing voice to the shoeless worshipers seated about him on the floor.

Going out, one leaves the borrowed slippers. Across the square the lights burn in full daylight from the six minarets of the mosque of Ahmed. Inside the mosque the faithful are scarcely more numerous than in St. Sophia. But there are crowds in a squalid café across the street smoking narghiles [oriental pipes] beneath a framed portrait of President Mustapha Kemal.

The most holy of Stamboul's mosques is that of Eyub, lying at the end of the Golden horn, a sacred place of Islam. In the mosque is said to be the sword of the Prophet and also the tomb of Eyub, the standard bearer of the prophet who was killed in 668 during a siege of Constantinople by the Arabs.

Eyub Mosque Also Empty.

But the mosque of Eyub was fairly empty also. The town of Eyub, peculiarly oriental, is made mournful by many Turkish cemeteries. Some of the tombs are of sumptuous, finely sculptured marble in which repose princes of the imperial family.

The mosque of Eyub, built by Mohammed II., the conqueror of Stamboul, is of white marble and of elegant architectural design. In the courtyard is a gilded grill and a small window through which one looks to see the tomb of Eyub covered with rich carpets on which a lamp perpetually burns.

Ragged boys play about in the courtyard and ask for "baksheesh." A woman in black comes up and prays and reads the Koran before the golden grill. That is a high act of piety.

Outside the mosque one of the established businesses is the sale of Mussulman chaplets or "tesbi," made of 99 amber beads separated into three series. After counting the first 33 the pious Mussulman says, "God be praised"; after the second, "Let thanks be rendered unto God," and after the third, "God is great."

Mosques of Turkey Empty; Blame Western Ways

DOCTORS DRAFT LICENSE PLAN FOR SPECIALISTS

Medical Congress Will Open Monday.

Plans for the licensing of specialists in the different branches of medicine will be discussed at the two day session of the 29th annual congress on medical education and licensure, to be opened Monday morning at the Palmer house. Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur of Washington and Dr. Walter L. Bierring of Des Moines, Ia., secretary of the Federation of State Medical Boards of the United States, are among the medical leaders who will offer proposals for solution of the problem.

Dr. Wilbur, who is secretary of the interior in President Hoover's cabinet, it is understood, will admit in his discussion that abuses current in the uncontrolled medical education of two or three decades ago are now appearing in the specialities. He is assigned to present a plan to stop self-appointed specialists from presenting themselves to the public without adequate training.

Would Control Training.

This plan is said to advocate the control of education and training for the specialties similar to that now exercised over general medical education, through the influence of the council on medical education of the American Medical association.

The details of the plan are said to suggest that the association council could provide minimum standards of training and education for specialists and prepare a list of those whose achievements equal these standards; list schools and hospitals approved for the training of specialists; devise a means of designating those already in practice, and give the list widespread distribution.

Dr. Bierring is said to believe that the state control of specialists should be limited to registration of their qualifications, determined by a professional examining board.

Puts Responsibility on Profession.

His discussion will hold, it is understood, that it is the responsibility of the medical profession to guarantee to the public that those who claim to be specialists are experts in their field. For this reason the qualifications should be on a uniform national basis and should not be determined by separate states.

Dr. Claude W. Munger, director of the Westchester county [New York] department of hospitals, will discuss the oversupply of nurses in the medical profession. He is said to be ready to advocate that hundreds of schools of nursing be abandoned and that thousands more curtail their output, if the nurses' unemployment problem is to be solved.

Long Life Becoming a Curse, U. S. Doctors Told by Leader

MONTREAL, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Long life is becoming a curse instead of a blessing to many old people, the American College of Physicians was told today, because after doctors have prolonged their lives business gives them no chance to earn a living.

The increasing proportion of old people in the population and the decreasing percentage of young people, said Dr. Francis M. Pottenger of Monrovia, Cal., is also working a hardship on physicians. They are called upon to treat more and more old people, who have the greatest amount of illness but are least able to pay for treatment. On the other hand they have a chance to treat a smaller proportion of children, whose medical care usually is paid for by their parents during the most prosperous period of their lives.

Calls for New System.

Dr. Pottenger spoke as the retiring president of the college at its annual convocation, at which 24 new fellows were inducted into office. He urged physicians to join in an effort to revamp what he called an "admittedly unsatisfactory economic system," and take the lead in "this period of reconstruction which is upon us."

Medicine today is making its greatest advance in prevention of disease, he said, and the importance of the patient's mental attitude in helping or hindering recovery is being increasingly recognized. Moreover, "we are learning that heredity plays some part in all diseases and a very important one in many."

An important reason that more people are living to old age, he went on, is that a better, more virile racial stock is developing.

The position of the medical profession in society, Dr. Pottenger said, is tending to become more and more "insecure," because "physicians are attempting to carry out the principles of altruism and following high traditions in a competitive age which is characterized by uncontrolled ambition for profits.

"Were business concerns to adopt the altruistic spirit of physicians and take less profits or no profits at all from those who are unable to pay for their goods it would soon change the ruthless psychology which dominates modern economic life."

Physicians practice this system of ethics, he said, but if business concerns did so they would be regarded as foolish.

Urges Scientific Study.

Unless existing economic conditions are remedied, he continued, some system of state medicine, sick and accident insurance, unemployment insurance or old age pensions will have to be adopted, and these measures will be acceptable to the extent that they provide better medical service.

Dr. Pottenger called for a more scientific study of economics, which he said is "still in the age of plagues and miasmas."

"Inventive genius and the genius to establish large combinations of capital in production and distribution, if uncontrolled, can produce only industrial instability and social unrest; if properly guided, on the other hand, they could be made into forces for a greater civilization," he declared.

"The fact that the number of people above 65 years of age has increased so markedly in recent years requires that our economic system make adequate provisions for workers both during their productive periods and in their declining years; otherwise public health measures become a mockery and work an injury rather than a blessing."

LEAGUE AGREES TO HEAR JAPAN'S NEW PEACE PLAN

GENEVA, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Attempts by Yosuke Matsuoka, Japanese delegate, to revive conciliation received recognition today when the committee of 19 of the league of nations assembly, which is attempting to settle the Sino Japanese conflict, agreed to meet tomorrow to consider his new proposals.

News reports of continuing military activities in the far east, however, were the cause of much concern.

The drafting subcommittee today accomplished about half of its task of preparing a text of recommendations under the league covenant. There was considerable debate regarding what kind of organ should carry on efforts for settlement after the assembly has adopted the report of the drafting subcommittee, but this point has not yet been decided.

COAL · HEAT · COSTS · LESS

COAL HEAT has SAVED $220,060.91 for 21 Chicago home and building owners

● Coal heat costs less! For two years the columns of this newspaper have carried proof of just how much less.

During the past months twenty-one homes and buildings, whose owners face the same heating problem as you do, have been used as examples in this advertising. Their actual heating costs with coal or coke, over a period of five years, have been given and compared with the expenses of heating the same structures with oil and with gas.

The expenses of the two latter fuels have been estimated with a fairness and an accuracy that have been beyond challenge. For the basis of comparison has been the heating efficiency and cost of equipment as stated in Federal surveys and University experiments.

Now it is both profitable and interesting to sum-up these twenty-one structures. Vividly the costs of heating them portray the stupendous difference between coal, oil, and gas heat.

Five Year Costs

Coal, actual cost for heating twenty-one buildings . . . $81,272.93

In other words, by heating with coal the owners of these buildings can estimate that they have saved $60,557.09 over the cost of burning oil, $220,060.91 over the cost of burning gas.

Are you sharing in these important savings? If you are not—if you are burning an extravagant fuel, call any member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association. Without cost or obligation he will have a competent man estimate for you just how much you could save on your fuel bill by changing to coal or coke.

Often prove too much for people with low resistance!

They protect themselves against exposure. They're careful about wet feet and drafts. But they do little about their own physical condition.

To increase vitality, to improve physical stamina, certain factors are particularly needed—Vitamins A and D.

Formerly, to provide people whose resistance was low with enough of these protective factors, physicians recommended good cod-liver oil regularly.

Now Vitamins A and D are much more easily available—in a pleasant-tasting concentrate—Squibb Adex Tablets-10 D!

The Vitamin A which Adex tablets contain helps to increase general resistance. Vitamin D is the essential sunshine vitamin.

Thus, people who take Adex daily will be helped through the damp, rainy season. Their well-being and comfort will be greatly increased.

G. O. P. PROTESTS ECONOMY POWER FOR ROOSEVELT

House Leaders Upset, but Hoover Approves.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Republican fears that a Roosevelt dictatorship is in the making are to be aired in the house in connection with consideration of the senate amendment to the treasury and post-office departments appropriation bill clothing the executive with sweeping powers to reorganize the administrative branch of the government.

Bertrand H. Snell of New York, Republican leader, and numerous other Republican congressmen flew to arms today against the reorganization amendment on the ground that it confers dangerous powers upon the President. They said they would fight it to the last ditch.

Indorsed by Hoover.

On the other hand, President Hoover gave enthusiastic indorsement to the senate amendment. He said he was delighted to note that congress is at last yielding to the President authority to transfer, consolidate, or abolish any federal agency. After 30 years of agitation for such reform something at last is in process of accomplishment, Mr. Hoover said, that will give continual benefit for a generation or two.

"I am willing to grant reasonable authority to the President to consolidate and abolish executive bureaus and commissions," said Mr. Snell. "But this amendment, as I now understand it, goes entirely too far. It comes the closest to the establishment of a dictatorship that we have ever come."

Defenders of the amendment retort that if this be dictatorship, make the most of it. They contend that it offers the only feasible means of procuring an expeditious and radical reduction of the cost of the federal government by lopping off useless bureaus, abolishing paternalistic and other unwarranted activities, and otherwise putting a crimp in the far flung bureaucracy.

Garner for Further Powers.

Vice President Elect John N. Garner said that in his opinion the amendment didn't go far enough. He would have it broadened to give the President power to reduce salaries.

"I favor the general proposition of reducing the cost of government whether it means firing some one or reducing salaries," said the speaker. "I would give the President authority to reduce the compensation of government employés subject, of course, to ratification by congress. There always ought to be power in congress by a majority vote to reverse such action."

Much as he dislikes a surrender of authority by congress, said Mr. Garner, he feels that the delegation of authority in the senate amendment provides the only means for a speedy and substantial reduction of the cost of the feleral government. Congress, he added, has effected some economies but they fall far short of meeting the situation.

Dislike 5 Per Cent Bill.

The Bratton amendment to the appropriation bill directing each department head to economize to the extent of 5 per cent of his allotment for the 1934 fiscal year, is also viewed askance by house Republicans. They say it foreshadows the wholesale discharge of Republican job holders by the Roosevelt administration.

Under the amendment as originally proposed by Senator Sam G. Bratton [Dem., N. M.], the 5 per cent economy could be effected partly or wholly by the reduction of the pay or by the furloughing of government employés without pay. This was forbidden by the amendment adopted at the instance of Senator Edward P. Costigan [Rad. Dem., Col.].

As a result a reduction in pay roll cost can be achieved by the department head only by the discharge of jobholders. The Republicans have misgivings that it will be Republicans who will get the ax under this provision.

Election Changes Viewpoint.

What a difference an election can make in the viewpoint of political leaders toward appropriations, is illustrated by what took place with regard to the 95 millions appropriated for the rural postal service. For years the Democrats had been inveighing against the political "pork" in this service.

It was pointed out that the rural delivery routes were laid out in the horse and buggy days and that with automobiles it is possible for a rural carrier to cover two or three of the old routes. As it is, a rural carrier can cover his route in two or three hours and have the remainder of the day for his private affairs. It was estimated that upwards of 25 millions could be saved by consolidation of the routes.

That was before the November election. Up to that time Postmaster General Brown opposed drastic consolidation of routes. He was for consolidating only to the extent of filling vacancies. He would not consolidate when it meant discharge of a carrier. The Democrats imputed his attitude to solicitude for Republican patronage.

Came the Election.

After the Democratic victory in the election the attitude of the respective parties suffered a change. Mr. Brown then proposed the consolidation of 5,000 routes, involving the discharge of 2,000 carriers. He said there were also 3,000 superfluous postal clerks and 1,000 city carriers. By elimination of overmanning of the service $7,800,000 could be saved.

The Democrats, who had fallen heir to this patronage, were horrified at the proposal. Representative Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.] told the Democratic house that the appropriations committee, of which he is chairman, had decided to reject Mr. Brown's recommendation. The President was to be given the right to furlough superfluous employés, but otherwise the service would be the same as before the election.

The senate today passed the $48,800,000 interior department appropriation bill, the total representing a $150,000 increase over the house bill. The President's budget recommendation was $46,083,929.

Dail Re-elects De Valera; Cries for Union of Ireland

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The desire of Free State republicans for union with northern Ireland in a republic which would take in all the 32 counties was reflected in the opening session of the new dail eireann today, at which Eamon de Valera was reelected president.

The galleries and front benches cheered when Sean Moylan of Cork county, in his speech nominating Mr de Valera, expressed the hope that the next time he was reëlected it would be "as president of an Irish republic of 32 counties."

Wins by Huge Vote.

The dail continued Mr. De Valera as president of the executive council by a vote of 82 to 54, which reflected the new strength of his Fianna Fail party, shown in the recent general election. Frank MacDermott, head of the new Center party, announced that he and his followers could not support Mr. De Valera for the presidency, and they refrained from voting.

The new cabinet, in which there were only three changes, was immediately announced. James Geoghegan was dropped from the department of justice, P. J. Ruttledge, former minister of mines and fisheries, being named to his place. The ministry of mines and fisheries went to Joseph Connolly, former postmaster general. The only new minister is Gerald Boland, who has the portfolio of posts and telegraphs. He was the party secretary to the ministry of finance in the last government.

Crowd Boos Cosgrave.

Former President William T. Cosgrave, leader of the opposition, was hooted by a large crowd when he emerged from the cathedral where he attended mass at which divine guidance for the new parliament was asked. Mr. Cosgrave was accompanied by other members of his party and by the lord mayor of Dublin. Persons in the crowd booed and shouted: "up De Valera."

In the dail tumultuous applause greeted announcement of the tabulation of the vote which resulted in the reëlection of Mr. de Valera.

Before the vote was taken the president, speaking in Gaelic, moved the re-election of Frank Fahy as speaker, praising his fairness to all members. The dail voted Fahy in unanimously.

After the inauguration formalities the session was adjourned until March 1.

Fete Miss Addams

The neighborhood women who helped Hull house weather its early years paid tribute to Miss Jane Addams, founder of the settlement, last night at a complimentary dinner. They were members of the Hull House Woman's club, and the occasion was also the 41st anniversary of the club which, it was said, was the first to gain membership in the National Federation of Woman's Clubs.

Two of the four living charter members, Mrs. Rose Thornton, 77 years old, of 9 North Homan avenue, and Mrs. Mary Heinecamp, 73 years old, of 4911 Cortez street, attended the dinner and recalled the first meeting in the room of Miss Mary E. McDowell, now head resident of the University of Chicago settlement. Miss McDowell was then a kindergarten teacher at Hull house.

Mrs. Jessie Dabe presided at the dinner. There were toasts to Miss Addams, who thanked the club for its friendliness; songs were sung in her honor. A birthday cake with rose and green icing adorned the table.

TWO GROCERS HELD UP.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Two south side grocers reported holdups and the loss of small amounts from their cash registers tonight. They were Sam Levinsky, 1000 West Greenfield avenue, and Jack Eigen, 3300 West Scott street.

SHARE IN MOTHER'S ESTATE IS WAIVED BY ALBERT D. LASKER

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Albert D. Lasker, former chairman of the United States shipping board, has renounced his interest, amounting to between $80,000 and $100,000, in the estate of his mother. He acted in favor of seven nephews and nieces. That was revealed today when a tax appraisal was filed.

The beneficiaries of this act are Edward, William and Janet Rosensohn, children of Etta Lasker Rosensohn, and Louise, Jane, Harry, and Morris E. Lasker, children of the late Harry Lasker. They share equally in the distribution.

Albert Lasker's share was one sixth of the residuary estate, and therefore the exact amount cannot yet be stated; the appraisal sets is as $82,612, but charging values may make a difference in the sum finally distributed.

The value of the estate as of May 19, 1930, when Mrs. Nettie D. Lasker died, was set at $593,361 gross and $558,173 net. Mortgages, notes and accounts of $576,211 were the bulk of it.

FRANCE ACTS TO MAKE HERRIOT ITS WAR DEBT ENVOY

Ex-Premier Elected Head of Important Board.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 8.—A significant step in the evolution of the French policy on the war debt to the United States was taken this afternoon when former Premier Edouard Herriot was elected chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies—the position formerly held by Francois Albert, firm advocate of defaulting.

The chairman of the chamber's foreign affairs committee does not dictate the policy in parliament even of his own committee, but the position is recognized to be one of influence. Since Herriot never has modified his original position in favor of meeting the $19,261,432 payment which was defaulted on Dec. 15 before attempting to negotiate for a revision—in fact, he has gone out of his way since retirement from the premiership to make his position more emphatic—his selection as head of the committee which last December led the fight against unconditional payment is considered highly important.

Expect Return to Power.

The inside dope around the chamber now is that Herriot is going to return to power soon at the head of a coalition government, which will split off a part of his own party [the radical socialist], but will bring the moderate conservative elements of the chamber into his majority. Once the combination is firmly installed, Herriot wants to resume debt negotiations with Washington and reach in agreement on the defaulted payment which will enable him to head a French delegation to Washington personally at the same time as the British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, makes the trip.

Herriot is believed to be strong enough to constitute a so-called concentration government according to the above formula at any time he wishes, but he is biding his time mainly to allow the debt situation to ripen.

See Shift of Opinion.

At the moment it is not believed that Herriot could get any more out of the chamber than he got in December, but with the certainty of fruitful negotiations held out to other powers public opinion is expected slowly to swing around.

Many Frenchmen who are opposed to the debt payments would still support Herriot, as he seems the last hope of saving the country from the chaos into which the succession of impotent governments is threatening to plunge it.

British Cabinet Splits on Whether to Pay Debt to U. S.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The British cabinet for two hours today considered the report of its committee of five, appointed to consider the war debts situation. The report was made after consultations with Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador to Washington, who arrived here last Monday. Later in the day the committee continued its discussion with Sir Ronald at the house of commons.

Sir Ronald's arrival, it is learned, has brought a breath of fresh air into the debt discussions on this side of the Atlantic by placing before the ministers facts which even the most "diehard" cannot ignore.

Cabinet Ministers Split.

It is undeniably true, however incredible it may seem, that several British ministers had made up their minds that they would be able to convince the United States that Britain could not pay and that it would hurt America more than Britain if any attempt were made to make her pay.

Now, this correspondent is informed, the committee and the cabinet have split. One faction, led by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, and Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, are holding out for Chamberlain's thesis that Britain cannot and will not pay another cent and that she can offer no compensation for the cancellation of the debt.

The other faction which is reported to be headed by Prime Minister MacDonald and which has the support of Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, and Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, holds that Britain cannot afford to become an international pauper and must pay something.

This faction is said to envisage capitalizing the debt at its present value and then offering to pay a lump sum in some proportion to this as a final settlement. The money would be raised by a bond issue on the British market. The sum most commonly mentioned is £100,000,000 ($500,000,000 at par). The total British war debt to the United States is about $4,499,520,000.

Envoy to Return Soon.

No date has been set for Sir Ronald's return to America, but he is expected to sail some time next week. It is expected that he will be accompanied by two high treasury officials, who will meet permanent officials in Washington and try to arrive at an agreement on figures so as to prepare the case for the British ministers when the time comes for them to go to America.

If, however, Sir Ronald and the experts should find an agreement impossible, it is likely that the ministers will decide not to go, thus leaving the question unsettled until a better atmosphere prevails. If there is a fair prospect for settlement, it is almost certain that MacDonald will head the delegation, which will also probably include Runciman.

Chamberlain, who is said to feel that his popularity in the United States has not been enhanced recently, is not likely to go. His excuse is that he cannot leave London while the budget is going through parliament.

Meantime, it is reported that this time, as was the case last year, Chamberlain will make no provision in the budget for further semi-annual debt payments.

New Zealand House Acts to Boost Customs Duties

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The house of representatives today approved an increase in customs duties as one of several measures by which the government hopes to reduce the national deficit of £9,500,000 [$47,000,000 at par]. The tax on gasoline, raw and refined sugar, and pipe tobacco will be increased. An export duty will be levied on gold.

FOUND SHOT DEAD, GUN NEAR.

James Visin, 52 years old, 2137 South Lombard avenue, Cicero, an idle painter, was found dead in his room yesterday, shot in the head, a revolver lying nearby.

ANNOUNCE ALL TAX RATES FOR COUNTY

FIGURES ENABLE ANY TAXPAYER TO COMPUTE BILL

Realty Values Available at Assessor's Office.

In the subjoined tables are the 1931 tax rates for every taxing district in Cook county. The rates for the various towns wholly or partly within the city of Chicago are given first, and are followed by the townships outside the city.

Tax rates show the amount of taxes to be levied against each $100 assessed valuation. The taxpayer may figure the amount of his 1931 tax bill for either real estate or personal property, by pointing off two places in his assessed value and multiplying by the tax rate.

Uniform Rates in Six Townships.

In six townships within the city and Oak Park and River Forest in the suburbs all tax rates are uniform within the township, and the table therefore gives a single tax rate. Thus in Hyde Park, the rate is $7.35. A homeowner whose property is assessed at $3,000 valuation would point off two places and multiply. His bill, 30 times $7.35, will be $220.50.

Several city townships have within their borders one or more small park districts. In the townships outside Chicago, boundaries of the various taxing districts correspond even less regularly. The first, or basic, rate given for each country township is a total of rates applying uniformly throughout the township. This includes the state, county and forest preserve rates, which are county wide, sanitary district rates where the whole township is within the sanitary district, and township and road and bridge rates.

Computations for Suburbs.

To obtain his total tax rate, the suburbanite must add to this basic township rate the rates of all the tax districts in which he lives. For example, a resident of the village of Riverside would add to the Riverside township basic rate of $1.13 the following rates: sanitary district of Chicago, 56 cents; Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district, 4 cents; village of Riverside, $1.04; school district, 96, $2, and Riverside-Brookfield high school district, $1.41—a total rate of $6.18.

The same rates apply for realty and personalty.

Assessor Jacobs mailed to all taxpayers in the county, several months ago, notices of their 1931 personal property assessments. Taxpayers may get their 1931 real estate assessments by calling at the assessor's office in the county building. They should take with them their 1930 tax receipts which contain a legal description of their property. The clerical force in the office insufficient to give assessment information over the telephone.

Wins Review in Extradition Case on Old Precedent

The state Supreme court yesterday notified Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court that it would review the case of Charles L. Gansler, a bondsman, who was ordered extradited to Wisconsin by Judge Prystalski last June. Previously the Supreme court had refused to review the case, but based its present decision on an Illinois Supreme court decision more than a hundred years old, which holds that when life and liberty are at stake the court should review the case, despite technical flaws in the record. Gansler was accused of appropriating $4,500, the money of a client to have been used in scheduling a federal bond.

FIGHT SONSTEBY MOVE TO BOOST CITY COURT FEES

Two Judges Say It Would Bar Poor from Tribunal.

The proposed schedule of higher fees in Municipal court litigation sponsored by Chief Justice Sonsteby was attacked yesterday by Municipal Judges Edward B. Casey and Edgar A. Jonas, who have also protested the chief justice's 1933 budget. The schedule of new fees is before the city council for consideration.

"Not only has Chief Justice Sonsteby padded the pay roll in his office with high priced assistants, but he also wants to saddle the public with increased taxes in the form of higher fees for litigation," said the two judges. "The Municipal court was founded to remedy the vicious justice of the peace system which prevailed 25 years ago. It was a poor man's court, but the poor man won't be able to afford necessary litigation if the new high fees are allowed.

Proposes $3 to $12 Minimum.

"The schedule calls for the increase of fees, which now run from $2 to $8, to minimums of $8 to $12. It is also proposed to charge $20 instead of $12 for jury trials."

In the case of a man arrested for some minor violation where the eventual penalty may be only a $1 fine if found guilty, the court costs which must be borne by the man asking a jury trial would be $30, the judges pointed out. The jury would cost him $20, the clerk's costs would be $6 and the bailiff's costs $4.

"The schedule of fees was never discussed by the judges at their regular monthly meetings," the two judges continued. "The schedule was circulated and the necessary majority of judges thus obtained to approve it. The law says such matters must be brought up in open meetings, where they may be discussed properly."

Deny Jobs Are Statutory.

The two judges denied the claim of the chief justice that the jobs in his office are statutory and he has no control over the salaries allowed.

"The statutes say the chief justice may pay salaries not to exceed certain amounts," they pointed out. "There is nothing to prevent him from paying lower salaries, but he always puts in the maximum salary allowed."

WAR DISSENTER IS U. S. CITIZEN TO OHIO JUDGE

Challenges Ruling of Supreme Court.

Lima, O., Feb. 8.—(AP)—A gray haired County judge tonight challenged the United States Supreme court in creating an American citizen by court action.

The jurist was E. E. Everett of the Allen county Common Pleas bench, who granted citizenship to Prof. John P. Klassen of Bluffton college in the face of the latter's refusal to take the oath to bear arms in defense of his country. In so doing the jurist opposed the celebrated Supreme court ruling in the McIntosh and Bland cases.

"This case was a little different," the judge said. "Their decision was five to four, and maybe this case will give them a chance to change their minds."

Oath Unqualified.

In denying citizenship in 1931 to Prof. Douglas McIntosh of Yale and Marie A. Bland, former war nurse, the Supreme court held that an applicant must take an unqualified oath to bear arms for the nation if necessary.

Judge Everett pointed out that Prof Klassen's objections to bearing arms were based on his religious beliefs as a Mennonite. Because of this and the fact that he is 46, past the age for military service, the court granted him citizenship papers over the protest of Edward J. Kennedy, a federal naturalization inspector. Prof. Klassen agreed, however, to serve in any non combatant force.

The judge explained:

"The constitution provides for religious liberty; then we make rules that all citizens must bear arms. In a case like this, the rule is contrary to the constitutions's guarantee of religious freedom.

Heretofore Not Observed.

"In all our past wars we have allowed conscientious objectors to serve in the Red Cross or some other body, which does not carry arms, and probably will do so in the future. So why impose future obligations when we don't intend to enforce them?"

Kennedy said he would report to the bureau of naturalization, and any appeal would then be up to the bureau.

Klassen and his wife come to Bluffton in 1924 by way of Canada after fleeing from Russia with 20,000 other Mennonites ten years ago. Mrs. Klassen was to have applied for citizenship with her husband, but was ill and unable to appear.

"In all probability, unless I am reversed in the meantime, I shall give the same decision in Mrs. Klassen's case," said Judge Everett.

FLAMES SWEEP HOTEL IN OMAHA; 1 DEAD, 9 HURT

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 9 [Thursday].—(AP)—Fire that swept the Millard hotel here last night took the life of one fire captain and injured nine others. The flames virtually destroyed the structure. At an early hour today firemen were fighting to keep the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

Fire Captain "Big Ed" Smith, directing his hose crew in an alley at the north end of the hotel, was killed when he was caught and buried under tons of bricks when a section of the north wall suddenly collapsed.

Several of the nine injured firemen were hurt in the wall collapse. Others were cut by flying glass.

The Millard, historic landmark at 13th and Douglas streets in downtown Omaha, once was the social center of the city and hundreds of gay parties were held there in years gone by. It was a favorite stopping place of stage stars and high figures in the sports world.

BOMB DAMAGES WEST MADISON ST. HOTEL AND CAFE

Twenty men living in the hotel at 1111 Madison street were shaken up this morning by a bomb explosion at the entrance of Julius Stein's soft drink parlor and restaurant on the ground floor. Two porters, Edward Smith and Isaac Walker, the latter a Negro, were in the parlor at the time and were also jarred.

The blast smashed the entrance, broke windows in the upper two floors, which are used as a hotel, and did about $200 damage. Stein owns the building. Police found no liquor or beer in the cafe and could not offer a motive for the bombing. Stein will be questioned.

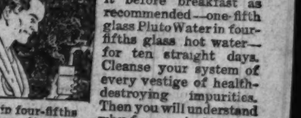
WHAT'S COME OVER JACK?

He looks years younger—doesn't complain or grouch around any more



The crowd always dodged when they saw Jack coming. They couldn't stand his grouchy manner—his constant complaints—his pepless, spoilsport attitude. It got so bad he began to hate himself.

Now suddenly he looks and acts like a new man—has literally grown years younger. The secret—he learned what his ailment was and easily and quickly corrected it.

Millions are in the same lamentable plight today and not one in ten can guess the cause.

It's Asthenia

That's the insidious thing about Asthenia . . . it drags you down, slows your mind, robs you of your joys and pleasures, yet you hardly realize you're slipping.

Would you like for once to brush the cobwebs from your eyes . . be ready and eager for any task . . experience all the glories of this glorious old world? Then rid yourself of Asthenia and stay rid of it.

You think that you're not the least bit clogged—you say that you're "regular" as can be—but physicians will tell you that it is only too easy to deceive yourself in this respect and stay doped with poisons. Thus millions of micro-organisms accumulate in the intestinal tract and produce that dull, achy, pepless feeling known as Asthenia.

Decide right now to turn the tables on Old Man Gloom. Take Pluto Water every morning for ten mornings, and see a new world in ten days!

Gentle, Effective

Don't miss a day. Take it before breakfast as recommended—one-fifth glass Pluto Water in four-fifths glass hot water—for ten straight days. Cleanse your system of every vestige of health-destroying impurities. Then you will understand why for nearly 90 years, from all over the world, people have traveled to French Lick Springs for this ten-day Pluto Water treatment. And why physicians everywhere recommend it as a mild and effective laxative—non-irritating and non-habit-forming.

Two sizes—20c and 45c—at all drug counters. Bottled and sealed at French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick, Indiana.

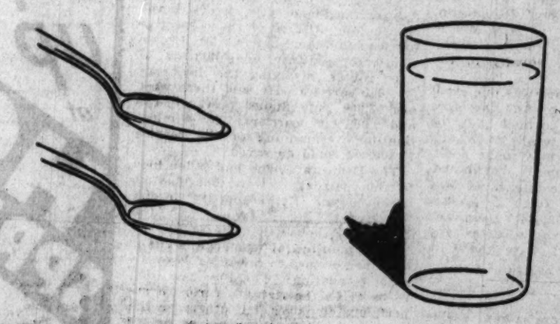
SIMPLE TO GET RID OF ACID STOMACH NOW

Almost Instant Relief This Way



TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

According to many authorities, some 80% of the people of today have acid stomach. This because so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

It usually makes itself felt in headaches, nausea, "gas," "biliousness," and most frequently in stomach pains that come about thirty minutes after eating. So you can easily tell if you have it.

Now Quickly and Easily Corrected

If you do have acid stomach, don't worry about it. You can correct it in a very simple manner. Just do this. It will alkalize your acid soaked stomach almost immediately. You will feel like another person.

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

What This Does

That's all you do. But you do it regularly, EVERY DAY, so long as you have any symptoms of distress.

This acts to neutralize the stomach acids that foster your "upset" stomach, that invite headaches and that feeling of lassitude and lost energy.

Try it. Results will amaze you. Your head will be clear. You'll forget you have a stomach.

BUT—be careful that you get REAL milk of magnesia when you buy; genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. See that the name "Phillips" is stamped clearly on the label.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

DROP DR. YARD AS N. U. RELIGIOUS WORK DIRECTOR

He Believes His Radical Views Are Cause.

The dismissal of Dr. James M. Yard from his position as director of religious activities at Northwestern university, which he has held for the last five years, was revealed yesterday. University officials would not comment on reports that the dismissal was caused by Dr. Yard's activities in behalf of the socialistic movement and his alleged leanings toward atheism.

DR. J. M. YARD. [E. L. Ray Photo.]

Dr. Yard himself expressed a belief that the action, which he said "came out of the blue sky," was taken as a result of his outspoken views on peace and war, race relations, and economic matters. He denied he was an atheist.

It was learned that the Rev. Ernest Tittle, chairman of the committee on religious work of the board of trustees of the university, has asked Dr. Yard to take the pulpit at next Sunday's services in the First Methodist church of Evanston, of which Dr. Tittle is pastor. Dr. Yard pointed to this fact as sufficient answer to the rumors that he was an atheist.

Admits He's a Socialist.

"I admit I'm a Socialist," he said. "But I deny that I'm an atheist. I'm a Methodist minister and I will accept Dr. Tittle's invitation to preach next Sunday in his church."

Both Dr. Tittle and Dr. Yard are members of the American Civil Liberties union, and as such were assailed last summer by Mrs. Albert W. Dilling of Kenilworth, who conducted a campaign on the north shore against communism. She also mentioned them in a booklet she wrote, which was entitled "Red Ravinia."

Dr. Yard was also listed with a number of other prominent liberals in the recent report on "subversive" activities issued by the Americanism commission of the American Legion, department of Illinois.

Notified of Dismissal.

"I wonder if the activities of the American Legion and Mrs. Dilling did not bring about this action," commented Dr. Yard. "I had no warning that this was to happen. I received a letter from President Walter Dill Scott two weeks ago which notified me that my contract would not be renewed after its expiration Sept. 3.

"The reason given for terminating the contract was that I had been brought here five years ago to perform an experiment—that of directing religious activities in the colleges—and that it was felt that the experiment had not been successful.

"The letter did not specify why the experiment was unsuccessful, and I had had no previous intimation that the president and the trustees did not regard it as a success. I have been named in various lists, and while they may have helped to shape the decision to terminate my contract, I believe they were less influential than personal conversations. Various persons who did not agree with what I have said about public questions have spoken to the president objecting to my addresses on these subjects.

"There has been no open break, and the president and trustees have not told me they disapproved of my addresses."

President Scott was absent yesterday on a tour in the southwest. John H. Hardin, chairman of the board of trustees, said the matter had been left wholly in Dr. Scott's hands. Other members of the board refused to comment on the case. Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Chicago Episcopal diocese was the only member of the board who would discuss the situation. He declared that neither Dr. Yard's socialistic sympathies nor his personal opinions had entered into the decision to terminate the contract.

"A survey was presented to the board of trustees showing religious activities on the campus," he said. "It found that there was no focal point for religious activities. There was no chapel, in the first place, and the experiment had failed to capture the imagination of the students. In these times of financial stress, the trustees decided to eliminate the position held by Dr. Yard as an economical measure. Dr. Yard's 'anti' activities had nothing to do with the termination of his contract."

Dr. Yard, a former missionary, lived in China 15 years and was connected with the West China university. He is chairman of the international committee of the Chicago Church Federation and a member of the Chicago civil liberties committee.

Hunt for Clews in Skeele Kidnaping

Two Questioned

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Police under Capt. Frank Thomason, this evening arrested a woman and man for questioning in connection with the kidnaping last Sunday night of Mrs. Mary B. Skeele, and the attempted abduction last Jan. 27, of Miss Isobel M. Smith, Pasadena school teacher.

The couple were arrested, while occupying a house on Montecito drive near the "pay off" spot where Mrs. Skeele's captors had directed her husband, Dean Walter F. Skeele of U. of S. California school of Music, to deposit $10,000 ransom.

The woman, according to Capt. Thomason, was found to have in her purse a slip of paper on which had been written the names of Mrs. Skeele, Miss Smith, Dr. Skeele and his son, Franklin Skeele. She declared she merely had jotted the names down after reading a story of Mrs. Skeele's kidnaping, but Capt. Thomason said that Miss Smith's adventure had not become publicly known at the time the woman suspect said she jotted down the names.

Police officials said the woman described herself as 35 years of age and a graduate of the University of Southern California college of music.

SCIENCE AWAITS AN UPTURN—BUT IT'S IN SUN SPOTS

Astronomers Find They Are at Lowest Ebb.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Subzero weather and depression mean little to astronomers. If one mentions depression they think he is talking about the tremendous vortices in the sun called "sun spots." A group of them braved the cold last night and met at the Adler Planetarium to talk about these spots and to learn of the latest observations on the connection between such solar disturbances and radio transmission.

Dr. H. T. Stetson, director of the Perkins observatory of Ohio Wesleyan observatory, was the lecturer, and the members of the Chicago Astronomical society were told that there is a distinct relation between the rise and fall of the number of sun spots and the increase and decrease in radio intensity.

Not a Seasonal Fluctuation.

Observations on this unique solar and terrestrial relationship began at Harvard university in 1923 and were removed in 1928 to Ohio, after a radio engineer in Boston had called the attention of the astronomers to the possibility of this relationship. The research disclosed that when sun spots increase there is a notable decline in radio intensity. When the sun spots subside the radio reception picks up. It is not a seasonal fluctuation. For 1930-'31 the sun spots and radio follow the same curves. In 1932, the last year of complete record, the proof is further made, the same curves and bumps showing.

Radio thus becomes a new tool for solar research, Dr. Stetson said. Radio may tell us in the future when to expect the phenomena of large sun spots. It becomes an index of solar activity.

A Solar Hurricane.

Sun spots, the professor explained, are vortices of terrific intensity and size. Some astronomers think that the effect on the earth's atmosphere, such as magnetic storms, is caused by a bombardment of particles set up by the solar hurricane.

Sun spots, like depressions, occur in cycles. Their periodicity is about eleven years. Their rise and fall have been observed since 1760, so that appears fairly well established even from a scientific standpoint. The present cycle reached its height in 1928-'29, is now at lowest ebb with the astronomers all over the world watching out for the first indications of the next cycle. If this has any connection with business, as it certainly has with radio transmission, we are in for an upturn at any time.

U. S. INVESTIGATES TERRORIST ACTS AGAINST DAIRY

A federal inquiry into acts of terrorism directed against the Crescent Dairy Products company, 515 North Crawford avenue, was begun yesterday by agents of the United States bureau of investigation under the direction of Agent Melvin Purvis. The company has been operating under a receivership in Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's court.

The investigation was ordered by Judge Wilkerson at the behest of Edwin D Buell, receiver, who told of acts of terrorism which have been interfering with the operation of the business. Sunday night a bomb was exploded at the company's main plant.

United States deputy marshals have been riding the company's trucks since vandals, several weeks ago, overpowered a truck driver and dumped a load of milk into a ditch.

AMERICAN PLANT SETTLES STRIKE OF JAP WORKERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Feb. 9 [Thursday].—The Singer Sewing Machine company's dispute with workers over wage cuts and dismissals, which resulted in rioting and the wrecking of the Yokohama plant of the company on Jan. 18, was settled last night after a conference of strikers with the company's lawyers at Kanagawa prefecture police station. Chief of Police K. Aikawa of Yokohama acted as mediator.

The settlement was reached after a compromise had been offered by the workers, who presented modified demands.

The workers' proposition was that the company contribute "solace money," the amount of which would be left up to the company, and that the company should reemploy all discharged workers excepting those with criminal records.

'NATIONALIZE BIG BANKS,' BAVARIA URGES GERMANY

Nazi Motion Is Passed with Socialist Aid.

(Pictures on back page.)

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—The Bavarian diet today passed a National Socialist motion requesting the federal government to nationalize the big banks. This has long been a salient point in the Nazi program.

Since nationalization amounts to socialization such as is demanded by the Socialists, the latter voted for the motion and thus assured its victory.

It was argued that such nationalization would enable interest rates to be cut and would safeguard subsidies extended to the banks.

Hitler Works Out Program.

Banking authorities declare that nationalization of the banks conflicts with so many legal provisions that its enforcement will prove impossible. They believe the action was staged as election propaganda to enable the National Socialists to tell the more radical of their followers that they are taking steps against the "grasping capitalists," which they have denounced in many meetings.

Chancellor Hitler presided at a cabinet meeting today to work out a program for the federal government. To soothe clamors of youth organizations who have relied on their "youthful leader to do everything for them" the cabinet agreed to increase the subsidy for meals for youths banded together under President Paul von Hindenburg's Christmas relief organization from an average of 5 cents to almost 6 cents for each meal.

May Cut Higher Salaries.

Hitler will outline his political program Friday, while Alfred Hugenberg, Nationalist minister of economics and agriculture, will expound his economic program on Saturday.

The cabinet discussed a law proposed by the Hitlerites for cutting all big salaries, especially those of high officials, to $3,000, but so far no agreement has been reached.

The ousted government of Prussia filed a second suit with the Supreme court at Leipzig today to establish the illegality of the dissolution of the Prussian diet by Vice Chancellor Von Papen.

QUAKE SHAKING GERMAN CITY LASTS 2 MINUTES

KARLSRUHE, Germany, Feb. 8.—(AP)—An earthquake beginning at 8:06 a. m. today [2:06 a. m. central standard time] and lasting for two minutes shook houses, threw objects to the floor, and caused many living on upper floors to leave their homes.

The quake was felt throughout Baden, especially at Rastatt, where chimneys were shaken down and show windows demolished.

Call Stock Distributors.

Those summoned to appear with young Insull are Philip J. McEnroe, former vice president of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and of the Corporation Securities company; John F. O'Keefe, former secretary of the same two concerns; Clarence T. MacNeille, vice president of Halsey, Stuart & Co., which shared control of Corporation Securities with Samuel Insull Sr., and Fred H. Scheel, former president of the Utility Securities company, distributors of Insull securities.

Earlier in the day Federal Judge George A. Carpenter issued subpœnas for Samuel Insull Jr., six bankers and an attorney to appear before him next Tuesday when he opens his hearing to determine the merit of charges brought by Samuel Ettelson, former corporation counsel, that Samuel Insull Sr., and the banks "framed" the receiverships of the Insull companies. Mr. Ettelson is specifically attacking the nomination of Calvin Fentress as trustee of Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

Bank Executives Called.

Others summoned before Judge Carpenter are John E. Wing, attorney of the firm of Isham, Lincoln and Beale; James R. Leavell, president of the Continental-Illinois National bank; Abner J. Stilwell, vice president of the Continental bank; Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board of the Harris Trust and Savings bank; Howard Fenton, president of the Harris bank; Edward E. Brown, vice president of the First National bank, and Solomon Smith, president of the Northern Trust company. The subpœnas were issued at the request of Mr. Ettelson.

Inasmuch as young Insull will find it difficult to appear before Judge Carpenter on the 14th and be before the senate committee in Washington the following day, it was expected he will ask to have one or the other subpœnas deferred. It is understood that a number of prominent bankers will be subpœnaed to appear before the senate committee later.

TRAIN HITS TRUCK; 2 INJURED.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Max Pemberton, 24, and Fred Loesch, 44, both of Evansville, were seriously injured today when a truck in which they were riding skidded on the ice at a railroad crossing in Haubstadt, and was struck by a passenger train.

Middle West Milk Strike Talked by Group in Wisconsin

Appleton, Wis., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—A general strike of milk producers throughout the middle west was agitated here today by the cooperative milk pool, a group composed of several thousand farmers in central and southern Wisconsin. The object of the strike, if it is called, will be to obtain a flat price of $1.40 per 100 pounds of 3.5 per cent butter fat test milk.

Walter L. Singler, president of the pool, a Shiocton farmer, led the discussion of the proposed strike at a meeting of 18 directors of the pool here. He favors Feb. 15 as the date to start the strike, but no definite date has been set pending conferences with other agricultural organizations. The other directors agreed with Singler on the advisability of calling a strike, but left the decision for such action with the president.

Plans to Meet Others.

Singler will confer with other farm group leaders here tomorrow, but would not predict whether he would decide on setting a date for the strike then or later. "One thing is certain," he said, "our decision to take the initiative in agitating a strike definitely marks the end of efforts to combine forces with the Farm Holiday association." Mr. Singler said he considered the leadership of that organization to be "wishy-washy."

The price of $1.40 per 100 pounds, which the pool farmers will demand, was explained by Mr. Singler as a "flat price for milk no matter what the milk is used for."

Sell Directly.

The farmers demand a price equivalent to 40 cents per pound of butter fat, he said. Singler also suggested that if strike pickets are posted on highways leading to cities, they will permit farmers to sell milk to citizens for 4 cents a quart. "We will not try to starve the cities," he said. "We have the milk and it is for sale, but for once it is for sale at our price."

Accused of Hitting Wife, Hides for Week on Jury

Salt Lake City, Feb. 8.—(AP)—For a week the police were seeking Thomas A. Figgins to arrest him on a charge of striking his wife. Then City Prosecutor Gerald Irvine went into district court to prosecute a case and there in the box, among the other gentlemen of the jury, sat Figgins. He was lodged in the city jail.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE RIGHT WAY TO DO THE WRONG THING.

Former Gov. Smith wants the money appropriated by the government for public building to be spent as promptly as possible. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been made available by the treasury and the Reconstruction Finance corporation for various projects, but delays in approving plans and contracts have prevented the money from doing the work expected of it. What is needed, says Mr. Smith, is a federal director of works with full power to approve plans and let contracts and a mandate to get going.

If the money has to be spent it would certainly be better to spend it, as Gov. Smith suggests, in a fashion to provide the maximum impetus to the nation's industries. That means the concentration of the expenditure in as few months as possible. It would be still better, however, to put an immediate end to the whole scheme of seeking to restore prosperity by government spending. The plan won't work. The gap is too great for the government to fill.

Only a few days ago one of the largest brick manufacturing companies in the Chicago region reported that its 1932 operations were at 2 per cent of capacity. Perhaps the affairs of that company are not quite typical of the entire construction industry, but there is no reason to believe that, by and large, the industry is in a much better position. That means that if the government building program is to restore prosperity it must provide projects which will create work for that vast majority of building mechanics who are now idle. The government must buy enough bricks and other building materials to restore prosperity to the material companies now operating at less than 10 per cent of capacity. It can't be done, whether the expenditures are scattered over a long period or concentrated as Gov. Smith recommends. All that can be said of Gov. Smith's plan is that its failure will be less dismal.

The primary object for which the R. F. C. was created was the rescuing of beleaguered banks whose collapse would have precipitated a panic. That objective was achieved. It is as certain as anything can be that the promiscuous lending of hundreds of millions of other people's money for various building projects will breed such a crop of scandals as this nation has never known. The appropriations already made for the Boulder dam power line and aqueduct show how the taxpayers' money is being squandered at a time when every effort should be concentrated on restoring the solvency of the federal treasury.

There is only one remedy for this ruinous policy and that is the closing down of the R. F. C.

MORE REGULATION?

The record of testimony before the bureau of the budget with respect to the appropriation for the interstate commerce commission revealed the fact that Commissioner Eastman had an engagement with President Elect Roosevelt at New York on Jan. 11. Reports from Warm Springs, Ga., are to the effect that President Elect Roosevelt has under favorable consideration a proposal for reorganizing the commission so that it would regulate railroads, motor carriers, pipe lines, air carriers, and coastwise and inland water carriers. It is to be hoped they are not true.

It will be remembered that Commissioner Eastman is the commission's stanchest advocate of inflexible mileage scales and also a proponent of government ownership of transportation companies.

Every scheme of water and rail rates yet proposed by the commission has been based on the competitive rail haul. In some instances the rates are arbitrarily related, but in most instances the commission has adopted a figure of 20 per cent to represent the economy of water transportation. We have no reason to believe that the interstate commerce commission would change this policy if given the opportunity to regulate the rates of forms of transportation other than railway.

Railway rates were originally established on a basis of "what the traffic will bear." In some cases the governing factor was competition, but in most instances the railways exacted as much as they could and still permit the traffic to move. No railway rate is in any way related to the cost of transportation, as is evidenced by the fact that the carload rate for valuable articles or articles of the luxury class is four and five times as high as the carload charges between the same points and on the same weight of a staple article.

But boat rates are made on an entirely different basis. The owner knows the approximate cost of operating his vessel for a season, which he divides by the number of days of navigation to produce a per diem operating cost, to which his stated profit is added. He arrives at his rate by multiplying such per diem cost by the number of days required for a trip and dividing the result by the number of tons of the commodity involved. Thus the shipper gets the benefit of an actual cost plus profit basis.

The method of computing truck rates is very similar to that employed by the boat companies, although they frequently quote rates on a per mile basis.

It will be seen that boat rates will naturally vary with the type of vessel, navigation characteristics, and low operating costs. The trend must be towards an economical operating unit because it is well within the power of a competitor to underquote and still make more money.

The public is entitled to the cost of service transportation that would result from the natural development of transportation on waterways, highways, or through the air, but it is certainly not going to get it from any regulatory system that produces rates by the use of arbitrary percentages taken out of the air, such as are being daily ground out for railroad use by the interstate commerce commission.

THE TAX STRIKE AS A RACKET.

The real estate tax strike, begun with plausible motives and a good deal of both moral and material excuse, has long since become a mere racket. Such justification as it fairly could claim as a dramatic means of forcing official and public attention to the inequity of the burden placed upon real estate has disappeared or been overshadowed by the practical consequences in existing circumstances which have become more and more serious. Its value as a protest of legitimate real estate interests has been destroyed, moreover, by the growing consciousness of the public that it has been made the resort of racketeers and of individuals seeking special immunities from a burden every one is staggering under.

It is time for those who have supported this form of protest in good faith to disassociate themselves from it and join loyally in the common effort for tax reform and relief. They will serve their own interests better by so doing.

REPRESENTING THE PEOPLE.

The vivid picture of the senate in action offered TRIBUNE readers yesterday by John Herrick will make an impression, we believe. It will go nicely with other views of our statesmanly procedure, like the equally animated two hours debate over who is responsible for the ineffectuality and mischief of the lame duck session. No doubt the expulsion of Barry was an expression of righteous indignation rather than a successful effort to make way for some deserving Democrat, but if its object was to assert at once the conscious virtue and the dignity of an august body we doubt that it was much of a success. As for the debate over who is responsible for the contributions of the present session to the public weal, we are confident it has only reminded the citizenry of the dying Mercutio's "A plague on both your houses."

But these are memorable pictures for the citizen's album, views of the greatest deliberative body in the world taken in a crisis of the nation's affairs. And on the opposite page we would paste Mr. Henning's equally moving view of the house of representatives in deliberation upon the agricultural appropriations bill. There are 41 doing the representing and deliberating out of a membership of 435. Item after item comes up. Here is one for foreign seed and plant introductions. Representative Allgood of Alabama proposes its reduction, on the ground that "under the conditions we have now, with farm prices at a low ebb and with great debts weighing heavily on our people, we need to study more about raising commodity prices than getting new plants into the country." The proposal is voted down 19 to 22. Mr. Allgood is all wet. Next is an appropriation for genetics and biophysics. Mr. Taber of New York proposes its reduction. His proposal follows Mr. Allgood's into the discard. There are now as many as 76 members of the 435 present. An effort is made to cut the spending on forest service. Mr. La Guardia of New York is shocked at the suggestion. He points out that "if our forests are destroyed we will have flood problems." The amendment goes the way of Mr. Allgood's and Mr. Taber's. Here is $420,000 for investigating hog cholera. Mr. Ketcham unfeelingly remarks that "here is a perfect illustration of how once a bureau is established it continues through all the years." Mr. Buchanan admits that "when we start a research investigation it seems that it never ends." This one won't end. The reduction is voted down. The hogs have it. Mr. Chindblom wants the barberry appropriation eliminated. He exposes the quaint theory that it is a matter for state and local enterprise. He wants to make at least a modest start toward eliminating nonfederal activities and expenditures. His heresy is rebuked with a prompt negative for his reduction. And so the spenders move industriously on. No item of expenditure is too modest for their protection and many a mickle makes a muckle for the united causes of bureaucracy and practical politics.

A picture for the men and women back home to study and ponder over, a picture lacking the brilliant colors of the senatorial drama, but not less illuminating as to the process of what we ingenuously call self-government. We the people can take up another hole in our belt and turn to the next page.

Editorial of the Day

WHO WANTS TO COLONIZE?

[Danville Commercial-News.]

Commander George M. Dyott, famous South American explorer, has just returned from a survey of the forest country of Ecuador made with the possibilities of colonization in mind. He reports the country extremely fertile in most places. He regards it as an excellent place to form communities taken from the world's overpopulated centers. The opening up of new territory, he believes, should not only provide rich farming lands for immigrants now, but should result in a few years in new commerce with the United States or other nations interested in extending their foreign markets.

And now, who will do the colonizing? The thousands of high school and college graduates who can't get jobs in this country? The unemployed heads of families in England or the United States? Europeans? Japanese? It is hard to tell. That kind of pioneering and colonizing is not so popular as it used to be. There are many other sparsely inhabited places on the earth today to which the unemployed might be expected to turn. Are we wise, or lazy?

NEEDED THE MOST.

Rastus—Sambo, if de good Lawd had to take away either the sunshine or the moonlight, which would you prefer?

Sambo—Why, de sunlight, of co'se. De sun shines in the daytime when it's light, anyway; but the ol' moon she light up things when it's dark.—Hartford Courant.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

SHOULD THE SENATE have fired Mr. Barry, the sergeant at arms? Anyhow, they did. There are those who say the senators were mad at their sergeant at arms for telling the truth in his article in the Outlook. But suppose the sergeant at arms hadn't been given the bum's rush. Wouldn't these same people have shaken their heads and said: "They didn't dare discharge him. He knew too much and they were afraid if they threw him out he would tell more"? But, anyhow, it mustn't be overlooked that Mr. Barry's regular job was working for the senate, not the Outlook. It was a very nice job and paid good money. It does look as though his first duty was to the senate. He worked for 'm. Which reminds one of something that Elbert Hubbard (Fra Elbertus) wrote a good many years ago:

"If you work for a man, in heaven's name work for him. ¶ If he pays wages that supply you your bread and butter, work for him, speak well of him, think well of him, stand by him, and stand by the institution he represents. I think if I worked for a man I would work for him. I would not work for him a part of his time, but all of his time. I would give an undivided service or none. ¶ If put to the pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. ¶ If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage, why, resign your position, and when you are outside, damn to your heart's content. But, I pray you, so long as you are a part of an institution, do not condemn it. Not that you will injure the institution—not that—but when you disparage the concern of which you are a part you disparage yourself."

It's a little late for the former sergeant at arms, but he really ought to cut out that paragraph of Fra Elbertus' and paste it in his hat and read it three times a day. And the fact is, it won't hurt any of us to read it over.

FRAGMENT.

The dull green-bronze face
Of a Hindu god with folded hands
Stands complacently upon a mirrored shelf.
A lotus lily made of brass
Erect and unbending in a bowl of jade
Casts its shadow on the Sanskrit phrase
"Lay of the Higher Law."

A lighted candle drops wax buds
Upon the striped Italian scarf
Beneath the crystal stick:
The clock's untiring pendulum
Swings north and south, unceasingly;
A low-burning log
Cracks in final struggle for survival.

I drop "Collected Fruits of Chinese Prose"
Upon the worn Bokhara rug at my feet,
As I rise to answer the door
Where a boy stands—
Selling verbena, and laughing.

RACHEL MACK WILSON.

A POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL in New York is just simply right up against it. She is only seven years old and has been struggling along on $45,600 a year, which her mother insisted was little enough, but the court ruled that hereafter she would have to live on $36,000 a year. How truly horrible! Can it be possible that the child will be able to exist on a miserable $36,000 a year? How is she going to buy lollipops and orchids, to say nothing of twenty-four cylinder cars and jumping jacks? Heavens! is there no justice nor compassion in this cruel, heartless world?

AREN'T THE BRITISH the killjoys, though! Now they're deporting a man who has been collecting money from people all over the United States who loved to believe they were heirs to the estate of Sir Francis Drake, and Francis, having been quite a busy little privateer in the latter half of the sixteenth century, is supposed to have amassed a large stock of doubloons, pieces of eight, and gold and silver bars before he quit this busy life. It has been announced times without number that Sir Francis has no estate in England or that there isn't as much as a sixpence lying around loose for his heirs, even if they succeeded in establishing their relationship. A little thing like that, however, has never had the slightest effect in restraining people from paying money over to those who claimed to be able to give them their inheritance in Sir Francis' supposed property. The removal from England of one of the Sir Francis Drake racketeers will be disappointing to the Drake heirs, but let them cheer up. He will soon establish another base of operations and accept their money as cheerfully as he did in his London office. And they will contribute just as gladly. As the late Mr. Barnum is said to have remarked, "the American people love to be humbugged." Love it! They adore it.

IS MAN superior to woman? Let us consider the question carefully. In a divorce trial yesterday in Chicago it was proved the husband threw two soft boiled eggs at his wife. And missed each time. But when a wife turns loose a gat on the partner of her joys and sorrows does she ever miss? No, never! Which settles the debate in favor of the negative.

HOT AIR HEAT.

THIS department receives letters from many who ask what is the best method of heating. To this question there can be no answer that fits all cases. The method that is best for one man or one house may not be proper for another. The one that suits one climate is not quite right for another.

Heating by means of hot air has advantages and disadvantages. As compared with other methods of central heating the cost of installation is low. A furnace in the basement, with air pipes in the walls and registers in the room, can be installed for much less than can steam or hot water heat. As a rule, it is more expensive to operate, being much more of a coal eater, in addition to the unburned coal and gases that go up the stack much heat is lost by leakage of air.

However tight are the windows and doors, considerable hot air is lost to the outside. When the difference between temperatures is great it is impossible to prevent losses of hot gases.

The common method of operation minimizes this as much as possible. The air is carried to the basement, where it reaches the furnace and is recirculated. Not much fresh air is drawn in, only enough to compensate for the losses, and in so far as possible that is preheated.

Heat distribution within the room is generally better in hot air heating than in steam heating. Cold floors are not so troublesome. Among the disadvantages of hot air heating are the following:

The air is generally too dry. Efforts to humidify the heated air are fairly successful when the job is properly done in the first place, and the humidifying apparatus is properly attended to. The rule is that hot air heating is done without humidifying, and the air is too dry for the good of the furniture and of the people who occupy the space.

Another shortcoming of air heating is that it does not lend itself to ventilation. If there is any window ventilation the heating plant is thrown out of balance. It lends itself only fairly well to changes in weather.

If the outside temperature warms up it takes time to adjust the furnace. It is the same if the temperature drops sharply. Brief excursions of the outside temperature are not easily taken care of by the heating plant. Changes in direction and force of wind throw the plant out of balance.

It is not easy to carry the heat far through horizontal ducts. On the other hand, in a residence several stories high the upper floors are apt to be too warm, the lower ones not warm enough.

TRAINING EYES.

Mrs. M. S. writes: When my oldest daughter was about a year old I noticed that her left eye was crossed, as is mine. When lying awake in her crib, buggy, or high chair she seemed to favor looking at articles to her right, which naturally would cause the left eye to focus in and thereby cause it to cross. Immediately on discovering this I applied a little common sense, together with what I had been told by eye specialists, and did the following:

Turned her crib around, making things on her right hand unattractive and to her left exceptionally attractive, placing bright objects and toys on a table, bright pictures on the wall, bright colored drapes on the window all to the light, and nothing but the dull blank wall to the right. I changed the position of her chair so that it would always be in the least interesting corner of the room and she would have to look at the left to see me, the window, and the children in the street. I also bandaged the right eye for an hour in the morning and afternoon with a small wad of cotton and some adhesive tape.

I am very happy to say that the desired results were accomplished and required only about eight months' training. She is now 13 years old and her eyes are perfectly straight.

I might add that in some cases an open bed rather than the closely barred crib, where there is a tendency to mixed fusion, is more desirable.

BLURRY SPELLS.

J. F. S. writes: T. F. W. wrote you of blurry spells. I used to take physics almost every day, thinking that would help me. The more I took the worse they got. Sometimes I would have two such spells in a day, lasting about fifteen or twenty minutes. I have not had a spell for several years now, as I have not taken any physics in that time. I use a syringe of about two quarts of lukewarm water once a week instead.

KNOTS ON JOINTS.

E. H. writes: What is the cause of little knots coming on the joints of the fingers? I have just started typing and doing quite a bit of it. Can this be the cause?

REPLY.

I judge you refer to the knots that come on the fingers as a result of arthritis. Gout is another cause.

BANKRUPTCY.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Mr. G. plans bankruptcy and made a transaction to save property by giving quitclaim deed of property to a friend on Sept. 19, 1932, same being recorded Sept. 20, 1932. The friend in turn gave Mr. G. a quitclaim deed for the same property as of above date, which is not recorded. 1. If this is not lawful [2] who should be notified and how shall I go about preventing it?

C. V. T.

1. It is not lawful.
2. The United States district attorney and the trustee in bankruptcy.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FORECLOSURE.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a first mortgage on a farm in Illinois. A bank made out my papers, calling for 5 per cent interest. The bank got 2 per cent for its services. Interest is due in March. During 1930 and 1931 I didn't get any interest and the bank was closed about that time and a receiver appointed. I started to foreclose on the farm. The receiver said the bank paid me $878 interest to keep things quiet. I thought the farmer paid me. 1. The farmer paid the bank and they paid me. Now the receiver is trying to make me pay this $878 back to the bank. 2. Will I have to pay it? There was $19,000 first mortgage on this farm, of which I hold $10,000. When I started to foreclose I bought off six of the other parties for 40 cents on the dollar. The other six I paid off after I got the deed and abstract. Can those last six claim part of the crop? Will they have to pay part of the court charges and part of the taxes and attorney's fee? Will I have to pay them 7 per cent interest on their mortgage held for 15 months? F. R.

1. If the farmer paid the money to the bank for you and the bank properly paid it over to you we see absolutely no basis for the receiver's claim.

2. If you mean that the farmer did not pay to the bank, then questions as to a possible preference might be raised, depending upon the lapse of time, etc., and we are inclined to advise you to employ an attorney.

3. If you are foreclosing you have no doubt employed an attorney and if so he is in a better position to answer your questions than we are.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LIEUTENANT OF POLICE.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—Please tell me when the next examination is to be held for lieutenant of police. When was the last one taken? J. Z.

I wish to inform you that the last examination for lieutenant of police was held June 15, 1928, and July 14, 1928, and the eligible list was posted April 10, 1929, which is still in force. I am unable to state at this time when the next examination will be held. I wish to call your attention to the fact that this examination is for promotion only—open only to persons employed as sergeant of police.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 9, 1917.

BERLIN.—Until the German government is satisfied that the British government will give a safe conduct to Count von Bernstorff, its former ambassador at Washington, and that it will hold good, it seems not worth while to speculate regarding the date of Mr. Gerard's departure. Anything that can be possibly and consistently done at the American end to settle these doubts will relieve the minds of many Americans here. The future of the 2,000 American citizens still in Germany appears to depend largely on the reaffirmation of the treaty of 1799 and on the Germans becoming convinced that America is keeping its terms in good faith and will continue to do so. Mr. Gerard has not received his passports, no date has been fixed for the departure of the Spain bound special, nor has there as yet been any intimation as to what Americans, if any, in addition to his staff, may accompany him.

WASHINGTON.—The disclosure that Ambassador Gerard and other American officials are being held practically as hostages by Germany has upset the administration. The President expressed his amazement at the action of the Berlin government when he was informed of confirmation of the reports of the detention of the American officials. The action of the German government is pronounced by the administration to be wholly uncalled for. Furthermore, it is broadly hinted that if Berlin does not speedily permit the unhampered departure of Ambassador Gerard and his suite the incident may become a fresh grievance against Germany which will bring the two nations a step closer toward war.

LONDON.—George Washington, an American negro fireman, was killed and Calvin Bay, an American citizen of Fillmore, Utah, was rescued in the sinking, reported today, of the British steamer Turino by a submarine. Ten ships were added to the list of U-boat victims yesterday.

WASHINGTON.—Germany's U-boat record established since the Feb. 1 deadline was drawn across the northern Atlantic ocean and the Mediterranean sea, if maintained uninterruptedly to the end, would require nearly three years to wipe out the entire present merchant tonnage of the British empire. It would, if directed against all nations, take about eight years to send to the bottom of the seas a large percentage of the present merchant tonnage of the world if it ventured forth. Official eyes of all nations were focused today on the figures and estimates prepared by high maritime authorities. It is disclosed that the maximum destruction of belligerent shipping aimed at by the kaiser's undersea fleet since the expiration of the four days of grace allowed boats then on the ocean has been far from reached. Berlin naval authorities estimated that it would be necessary to destroy British merchant ships at the rate of 1,000,000 tons gross a month—33,000 a day—in order to force Britain to her knees by starvation route. Since Feb. 1 142,000 tons were sunk, the daily average running below 20,000.

ROME.—The pope has warned the kaiser and the emperor of Austria-Hungary that the decision to resort to submarine frightfulness is certain to alienate the sympathy of neutrals, including himself. He added that it would justify reprisals by the allies and a demand for the disintegration of Germany and Austria after the war.

WAR SUMMARY.—London reports the capture of an important enemy position on the highest point of Sailly-Saillisel on the Somme front. Paris reports the capture of German patrols on the Verdun front in the region of Hill 304. The French also brought in prisoners after a surprise attack in the Argonne. Petrograd reports Russian successes in attacks on German lines near Kirilbaba on the eastern front. Details of the capture of a trench after a thrilling dash through gaps in barbed wire entanglements are set forth. Paris reports the resumption of fighting on the Macedonian front.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Franz Bopp, former German consul, and Lieut. Baron Wilhelm von Brincken furnished $25,000 bail at the last moment of grace allowed by United States Judge Hunt, who presided over the trial at which they were convicted of violating American neutrality. Mrs. Margaret Cornell, another defendant in the same case, was unable to furnish bail and went to jail after she had hotly denounced Judge Hunt in open court.

THE ROLE OF RELIGION.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Your editorial of Sunday on church and state was much to the point. Little good can come of the church misreading its mission in the world and attempting a program which history shows can only lead to trouble.

For at least a generation the Protestant church gradually has been losing sight of one most important fact. That is that religion is a personal matter. The church should influence society, but its influence should be felt through the individual and no attempt should be made to force righteousness en masse by law. Enlightened laws should come from individuals enlightened by the teachings of the church and not from the dictations of church leaders. Make one individual rightminded and the troubles of society will be lessened to just that extent.

At least one of our great denominations, the fourth largest in the country, has consistently, almost stubbornly, we might say, held to the policy of working with the individual. This is the Lutheran church. Its chief concern for the past 400 years has been the saving of individual souls. To save a soul, faith and rightmindedness must be developed in the individual. This produces a type of citizen who needs no restraining laws. For this reason the sermon in a Lutheran church is scriptural because it is by the word of God that the minister seeks to wield his influence on the individual hearer. It is largely this attitude which has kept the Lutheran church out of politics.

This policy of regarding religion as a matter for the individual rather than as an instrument of statecraft is evidently appreciated by the American people because the Lutheran church has been the one large denomination in the country to consistently gain in membership since the war. Each year has seen gains of 5 to 7 per cent while the more political minded churches have been losing members.

Your editorial strikes at the root of the matter. Had all the Protestant churches stuck to the program of individual soul saving instead of trying to reform society en masse the country would be in a better social condition than it is today. Let us hope the Federal Council of Churches will confine its activities to a program of education and evangelism and avoid any attempt to directly influence legislation.

A LAYMAN.

ANOTHER TRANSPORT LOST.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—In your paper of Feb. 3 you have an article about former soldiers having a memorial service for the soldiers drowned when the Tuscania was sunk by a German submarine during the world war. In this article it says that the Tuscania was the only vessel sunk that was in service of transporting troops to France.

This is not correct. The auxiliary cruiser Moldavia, also British, was sunk. This boat at this particular time carried only two companies, the A and B companies of the 58th regiment, 4th division. I was a member of company B. We left New York May 6, 1918. On May 23 about 2 a. m., while in the English channel, we were struck by a torpedo. In one hour after it was struck the ship had disappeared under the water, taking with it one man of A company and fifty-six of B company. I. F. S.

ECONOMIES FOR CONGRESSMEN.

Ames, Ia., Feb. 2.—I have read with much satisfaction the list of possible economies published in THE TRIBUNE today. Of some items I do not approve, but most of them are so good that I would take the whole list if I could get it. I have clipped this list and am mailing it to Congressman Dowell from this district urging that he give it his immediate approval. I believe it would be worth while for THE TRIBUNE to reprint this list with the suggestion that readers clip it out and send it with strong advice to their representatives in Washington. A drastic but prudent cutting of federal expenses will start something that will make us forget this depression within six months.

J. V. MCKELVEY.

NOT BLONDE AND OVER 30.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Well, so far I haven't been in on the crab salad, so here goes. I am a victim of the depression, out of work for thirteen years [well, anyway, it seems like thirteen years]. I'm just beginning to get mad. I'm a forgotten woman. If you're past thirty these days, wrong size and coloring, you're down and out and down. You're the forgotten woman, even with brains and personality, you're forgot.

I can't get a job because I am not a nineteen year old blonde, with orchid eyes, weighing ninety-eight pounds. That's what they demand these days and they're very frank about it. [Ask any employment agency.] Of course, the nineteen year blondes are not the maids with responsibilities, but they get the breaks—and we get the brakes, we aged damsels. Ask any girl near or past thirty if she isn't having the same experience. This is only one way that the employers are taking advantage of the times. The other is demanding a combination of stenographer, copywriter, dictaphonologist, switchboard operator, bookkeeper, etc., for $8.50 per [with overtime at no extra charge].

In 1973 A. D. [after depression] when there is a shortage of feminine help, when these bossy boys can't demand youth and beauty, I'm going around to them and make the worst face I know how and expostulate, "Why you bald headed, bowlegged, pie eyed, wrinkled up, decrepit, mean old skallywag, I wouldn't be seen on your old pay roll." Then I'll flounce out, leaving them weeping.

O, would that Ziegfeld had lived to glorify the thirty-plus girl!

PREMATURELY OLD.

FORWARD TO THE LAND.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—I was born and raised on an Iowa farm and am fairly familiar with the farmer's problems. Many people in Chicago came from farms in the middle west and could easily adapt themselves to farm work again, even though they have spent years in the city.

It is a fact that most farmers who have 160 acres or more need one or more men to help run the farm, but they haven't the money to hire the help; the wheat farmers in Kansas, Nebraska, and the Dakotas must have help to operate their farms, but the money to pay for the help is not available.

Why not transplant the city's unemployed and be instrumental in rebuilding their spirit and health, regardless of the depression—the farm life will do it. The farmer today has no money to hire help, but he has work that should be done—he has plenty of good, wholesome food, and can always exchange produce for clothing. A program properly planned and sponsored would be the means of transferring thousands of families dependent upon charity to the farms, which would be a godsend to the wife, a relief to the husband, and a revelation to the children, but, greatest of all, the rebuilding of broken spirit and health. L. E. WELLS.

THE NEW HATS.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—Why don't women realize how ridiculous and foolish they look in the new style of hats? The little hats remind me of the grind organ man's companion. A man meets a beautiful and charming girl he would be proud to walk down the street with, and as soon as she dons her monkey hat he loses all interest. I'm willing to bet you a good box of cigars that most of the men agree with me.

CHARGES HEIRESS TRIED TO KILL CHILD AND SELF

Saemann Files New Plea in Fight for Baby.

The charge that Mrs. Myrtle Saemann, heiress to some of the patent medicine millions of the later Peter Fahrney, her grandfather, tried to take her own life and that of her young daughter and namesake, was made yesterday in an amended petition presented to Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude in the legal fight for custody of the child.

The petition was presented by Attorney Frank E. Cantwell, representing Franklin I. Saemann, father of the child. Saemann is seeking the custody of his daughter, awarded to his ex-wife under the terms of a divorce which he obtained on grounds of desertion on Dec. 31, 1931. The child, Myrtle Fahrney Saemann, is now with her mother and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Fahrney, at the Fahrney home at 400 North Euclid avenue, Oak Park.

Argue the Demurrer Today.

Attorney John G. Campbell, representing Mrs. Saemann, immediately entered a demurrer to the amended petition on which arguments will be heard today. The amended petition was filed in answer to Attorney Campbell's contention that testimony of events prior to the divorce should be excluded in determining the custody of the child.

"Saemann was fraudulently induced to believe that the mother was a fit person to give the care required by the child," says the amended petition. "The child had been in Detroit and he was unable to investigate conditions there. His wife was inaccessible to him whenever he visited her apartment, and all his visits to the child were carefully supervised.

"Since the decree, new evidence has come to his attention and he can show credible proof that the mother and child were in Oak Park at the time the divorce proceedings were held, and that they could have been in court, contrary to allegations at that time. He has further proof that this defendant was and now is wholly unfit to care for her child.

Tells "Upset Mental Condition."

"Until shortly before the beginning of the divorce hearings Mrs. Saemann was under the daily observation and care of a psychiatrist and was constantly attended by a professional nurse. For two years prior to the divorce the plaintiff believes that the defendant was in a completely upset mental condition. He charges that the child was grossly abused by the mother and that the mother repeatedly made threats against the child's life, and on occasions attempted to take her own life and that of the child.

"He charges that the attempts would have been carried out but for the prevention of others."

The child, the petition states, will celebrate her fourth birthday in April

BRITISH OFFICER HELD IN TOWER OF LONDON AS 'SPY'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The war office announced today that an army officer is facing grave charges concerning official secrets.

"An officer of the Seaforth Highlanders is under arrest in the tower of London on the charge that he committed an alleged offense under the official secrets act," the announcement said.

It is reported the officer has been in the tower for three weeks. He is permitted to walk around the grounds, but is always accompanied by another officer. Previous to his arrest he was stationed at Aldershot. The Seaforth Highlanders is one of the most famous regiments in England. Most of its officers hold high social rank.

The tower of London has been used infrequently in modern times as a prison. It has always been known as a prison for offenders of high rank. It was made famous by the imprisonment there of enemies of kings and the state.

The present case follows closely the conclusion of similar charges against Compton MacKenzie, English novelist, whose "Greek Memories," which was withdrawn immediately following publication, contained information alluding to Premier Venizelos of Greece which was drawn from MacKenzie's experiences in the near eastern intelligence service during the war. MacKenzie on Jan. 12 was fined £100 (about $335) and £100 costs.

KINDRED OF TWO PRESIDENTS ARE WED; BOTH IN '70S

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Miss Caroline Sutherland, who is 74 years old, and John Quincy Adams Johnson, who will be 75 next week, were married today at a simple ceremony in the Church of the Transfiguration—the Little Church Around the Corner.

The wedding service, performed by the Rev. Randolph Ray, was the culmination of a romance that began more than 50 years ago when the couple were growing up together in Washington, D. C., and in Newburyport, Mass.

Mr. Johnson is the great-grandson of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, and Miss Sutherland is a descendant of several old New York families, among them the Barclays, Roosevelts, Baches, and Lispenards.

2 AUTO VICTIMS DIE OF INJURIES; YEAR'S TOLL 96

Two automobile fatalities in Cook county yesterday increased the 1933 toll to 96. The victims:

William Roelle, 44 years old, 5741 South Talman avenue. Died at St. Luke's hospital. He was struck in front of 1520 South Michigan avenue while unloading his ice truck.

Julius Derengowski, 35 years old, 1632 Keenon avenue. Died at the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital from injuries incurred on Aug. 7 in an accident near Palatine.

HINT OF MURDER MADE AT TRIAL OF KIDNAP CASE

2 Policemen Accused as Abductors.

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—A story of adventure on the high seas with a hint of murder and a melodramatic kidnaping plot, was unfolded by a New Jersey rum runner today in the trial of two suspended Brooklyn policemen charged with kidnaping Ernest Schoening.

The policemen, John Nevins and Arthur Graef, and three alleged accomplices, Frank Miller, an ex-convict, and Max Geller and Leonard Gawelzyck, went on trial before County Judge Algernon I. Nova in Brooklyn today. Nevins and Graef are accused of kidnaping Schoening, the payoff man for a Jersey rum ring, from in front of the federal building in Brooklyn on Dec. 27.

The other three defendants are said to have helped the patrolmen keep Schoening a prisoner for twelve days while they vainly attempted to collect ransom.

Ransom Plot Charged.

District Attorney F. X. Geoghan attempted to show that Schoening was kidnaped for ransom and that he appeared to be a good victim because of his liquor business activities. The defense theory is quite different. Leo Healy, counsel for the patrolmen charged that Schoening paid for the privilege of being "kidnaped" to escape being "bumped off."

The hint at murder came when Healy asked Schoening if his brother had been drowned near rum row last March and then shouted, "I'll prove that he drowned his own brother!"

"Didn't you drown your own brother?" Healy asked. "Didn't you swim a mile and a half to shore? Weren't there three other men, and weren't you the only one saved? Didn't you run rum with John Nevins? Didn't you arrange your own kidnaping?" Healy flung the questions at the witness in rapid succession, barely waiting for Schoening's angry denials.

"Didn't you arrange the kidnaping so you could escape being bumped off?" he asked. Schoening denied it

Denies Buying Kidnaping.

"Isn't it a fact that two or three days before Dec. 27 last you gave Nevins $1,000 to arrange for your being kidnaped?"

"I never saw Nevins in my life until Dec. 27," Schoening retorted.

His bootlegging activities were revealed smilingly under examination by the district attorney.

"I'm in the liquor business," he said when asked his occupation.

"Are you a bootlegger?"

"I am."

"How long have you been engaged in this business?"

Five Burned to Death, Five Hurt, as Fire Razes Hotel

TISDALE, Sask., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Four women and a man were burned to death and at least five other persons were seriously injured today when fire destroyed the Imperial hotel here.

Event on Feb. 21

Leaders of the twenty-ninth annual Washington prom for University of Chicago students, to be held on Feb. 21 in the Congress hotel, were picked yesterday by the committee on student affairs at the university. The right wing of the march will be led by Rebecca Hayward of La Grange and Rube S. Frodin Jr., 7359 Clyde avenue, and the left wing by Ruth Willard, 6242 South California avenue, and James Porter, Topeka, Kas. The leaders were picked on a basis of scholarship and activity in student affairs.

SEEKS TO GUARD NEGRO PORTERS' JOBS ON TRAINS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—(AP)—The Negro Pullman porter was presented to the senate today by Senator Dill [Dem., Wash.] as beset by foreign competition and greatly in need of federal assistance.

To provide it Dill introduced a bill to require that all employés of Pullman, club, and observation cars on all railroads engaged in interstate commerce be Americans.

The competition, he said, is coming by the Negroes "being supplanted by Japanese and Filipinos, particularly here in the east."

"For long years," Dill continued, "Negroes have been most satisfactory porters. This is work they can properly do and to which they look. We should, by law, protect them."

Filipinos and Japanese, he said, "will work for such low prices that it is impossible for the Negro to live on such a wage."

"I am told," he concluded, "that the railroads have attempted to use two Filipinos or Japanese on Pullmans to do the work of one porter and get them for less than the porter is paid. It takes two because they are not physically strong."

PARK RIDGE FIRE CHIEF SAVED BY OWN INHALATOR

Fire Chief H. A. Miller, 35 years old, of Park Ridge, was saved from possible death by his own men last night. Because of the cold, he ran the motor of his car in the garage in back of his home for a few minutes with the garage doors closed. The carbon monoxide fumes evidently affected him, for when he returned to the house, at 457 North Park avenue, he collapsed. The Park Ridge inhalator squad was called and revived their chief.

Police Admit This Girl Has Justifiable Complaint

Police conceded last night that Miss Doris Newquist, 854 Roscoe street, had a justifiable complaint. She is cashier at the Buckingham theater, 3319 North Clark street. On Monday night a bandit robbed her of $20. Last night two other bandits robbed her of $20. What Miss Newquist is angry about is that only eighteen holdups were committed between Monday night and last night, and out of that total she was the victim twice.

INTERNATIONAL AIR RACES SET FOR JULY 1 TO 4

Session Assures Chicago of Four Day Show.

Chicago was assured of four days of international air racing this summer by the board of directors of the Chicago Air Race corporation, which met yesterday to elect new officers, and decided definitely upon the dates July 1, 2, 3, and 4, which were suggested by John Hertz, vice president. The air races will be sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, and the proceeds will be devoted to charity.

The officers elected by the directors were M. M. Corpening, president; John Hertz vice president; Maj. R. W. Schroeder, secretary, and Charles F. Glore, treasurer. The directors also revised the charter of the corporation, which was obtained to conduct the National Air races held here in 1930.

Revised List of Directors.

The revised list of the directors includes:

W. B. Abbott	Edward N. Hurley
Sewell L. Avery	Allan Jackson
Vincent Bendix	Reed G. Landis
Frank Bering	A. D. Lasker
Aldis Browne	Lucius B. Manning
Britton I. Budd	Harold F. McCormick
Arthur G. Cable	Robert R. McCormick, Chairman
E. L. Cord
M. M. Corpening	C. A. McCulloch
Edward N. D'Ancona	John A. Ritchie
Charles G. Dawes	James Simpson
Clarence R. Falk	John R. Thompson
Leonard Florsheim	Warren Wright
Charles F. Glore	Philip K. Wrigley
Homer Guck	C. R. Walgreen
John Hertz	R. W. Schroeder

Offices will be opened by the air race corporation in Hotel Sherman today, Mr. Corpening announced after the meeting. Details of the four day international meet will be worked out rapidly, in order to allow foreign participants to make their plans well in advance of the July dates.

Entry Blanks Go Out at Once.

Entry blanks are to be mailed to the famous pilots of the United States and all European nations immediately in order to produce in the Chicago charity air races the most extensive international competition that has been held since the Schneider trophy, Gordon Bennet cup and other international air races.

"We expect the Chicago charity air races to contribute greatly to the success of A Century of Progress exposition," Mr. Corpening declared. "We have been assured by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area, of the most extensive military coöperation any air races ever held in the United States have had. Further, it is the intention of the air race corporation to make this four day international meet an annual event for Chicago, with the outstanding seaplane and land plane races of the year on its program."

Leading racing pilots of the country were told of plans for the Chicago charity air meet several weeks ago, and among those who have expressed their approval of the project are Ben O. Howard, Maj. James H. Doolittle, James Haizlip, Mae Haizlip, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, Bill Ong, Roy Liggett, E. M. [Matty] Laird, John Livingston, Betty Lund, Herman Hamer, Roger don Rae, Duke Mueller and J. C. McDonnell.

GETS 3 MONTHS FOR HELPING BROTHER ESCAPE FROM JAIL

STANLEY MONTAGUE.

Stanley Montague, 29 years old, who helped his brother, Neil, to escape from the county jail on Jan. 31, 1932, was sentenced to 90 days in jail yesterday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in the Criminal court. A jury found Montague guilty of aiding and abetting the escape of a prisoner.

Neil Montague was held as the leader of a band of kidnapers who held for ransom Dr. Max Gecht and his wife. The state charged that Stanley Montague, while visiting his brother a year ago, made possible the escape by giving Neil his clothing and taking the prisoner's place in the cell.

Stanley offered the defense that he was intoxicated and did not know what had happened until jail authorities told him of the escape. The indictment contained two counts. The first provided that he could be given the same punishment fixed for Neil in case the latter had been recaptured and found guilty on the kidnaping charge. The second count, on which he was convicted, provided for a minimum sentence of 90 days and a maximum punishment of five years in the penitentiary.

"Is there a motion for a new trial?" Judge Sullivan asked after the verdict had been read.

"I should say not," Defense Attorney Harold Levy answered. "Sentence him immediately."

WOMAN SHOOTS HERSELF.

Mrs. Pauline Roesch, 55 years old, 1006 North Waller avenue, shot herself in the right temple yesterday with a revolver, inflicting a critical wound. Police took her to the West Suburban hospital.

HUDSON STRIKERS ARE ASKED TO RETURN TO JOBS

Action Follows Parley with Auto Officials.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 8.—In a general call issued late today by the Hudson Motor company all employés of record at the time the strike began were asked to return to work tomorrow.

The invitation to the strikers to return to work was extended by Max F. Wollering, vice president in charge of manufacturing, at a conference of company officers with a striker committee of fifteen men and six women. The men, through the committee, were told to return to work and the strike would be straightened out to their satisfaction.

No Pickets at Briggs Plant.

After a conference with Mr. Wolling, Robert M. Pilkington, commissioner of conciliation of the United States department of labor, announced his belief that the Hudson company had been fair and had done everything possible to bring about a meeting with their employés and that the men should take advantage of it at once.

There were no pickets at the Highland Park plant of the Briggs Manufacturing company today, where the strike went into the 19th day. Six hundred men were hired at the Briggs plant today, plant officers said.

The Briggs strike committee in a statement released today announced the severing of all connections with communists and allied organizations.

Bar Radical Element.

"The allegation that we, employés of the Briggs Manufacturing company on strike, are influenced by communists or any other radical organization," the statement says, "can no longer be offered by officials of the company as an excuse for refusing to enter into negotiations with us looking forward to settlement of the strike.

"We have definitely eliminated the communists and their allied organizations in general, and Phil Raymond, secretary of the Auto Workers' union, in particular, from among us. We say this, mindful that company officials for obvious reasons will probably purport to doubt our sincerity, but we can only say that by our acts you shall judge us.

"We believe that if the officials of the company will meet with representatives of the men and discuss the differences with fair and open mind the strike can be settled within a few hours."

WAR UPON HARD TIRES IS OPENED BY STATE POLICE await Test Case on Long Truck Law.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—[Special]—ting Chief Lawrence Taylor of the te highway police, after acting on vise by Attorney General Otto rner, has ordered arrests for violaons of the new law prohibiting the e of hard tires on any vehicle driven ster than ten miles an hour on the proved roads of Illinois.

The constitutionality of the statute, sed by the 1931 general assembly d effective on Jan. 1, has been chalged by truck operators even before has been enforced. They contend ir hard tires are being confiscated thout compensation.

"We are now prepared to defend s section of the motor vehicle code ore the Supreme court. If it is necary to do so," said the new head of e highway police.

Destructive to Pavements.

Hard tires, uneconomical to the ck operators themselves, are dying natural death, but there are still appreciable number of old freighters with solid rubber on their wheels. ngineers for the U. S. bureau of pubroads and for various state highay departments have established the structive effect of hard tires and, cording to the Chicago Motor club, hicago pavements have been and are ill being destroyed by these inadeately cushioned trucks.

The prohibitory law implies to city reets as well as to rural highways, cording to Mr. Taylor. Chicago poe, influenced perhaps either by local olitics or by a desire to let the state rosecute a test case, have not enrced the statute.

Truce on Long Trucks.

While initiating a war against hard res, the state has declared a truce its campaign against excessively ng trucks. On Jan. 1, a new law betme effective reducing the maximum gal length of any truck and trailer mbination from 65 to 40 feet.

"Operators arrested near East St. ouis have obtained a temporary inunction against our enforcing this gulation against them pending a ecision in their attack against the onstitutionality of the statute," said hief Highway Engineer Ernst Liebman, who has jurisdiction over the tate police.

"The attorney general's office has dvised us," he continued, "not to ake additional arrests against other iolaters until these St. Clair suits ave been adjudicated as test cases. dditional arrests would merely inrease the cost of obtaining a supreme ourt decision on the constitutionality f the statute."

"MOIST THROAT' STOPPED MY COUGHING SPELLS!"

"I'm certainly glad I learned about 'moist throat!'" writes Miss A. S., of New York City.

Your throat and bronchial tubes are lined with millions of pores like tiny "bottles" continually supplying moisture to the delicate tissues . . . until you "catch cold."

To cure your cough you must increase the flow of your throat's natural moisture, loosening the phlegm so it can be expelled. Many cough "remedies" contain numbing drugs which merely "deaden" the nerves . . . but don't get at the root of the trouble!

PERTUSSIN, a scientific remedy, is the extract of a famous herb which opens the tiny glands, stimulates the flow of throat moisture and brings quick relief naturally.

If your throat's raw or dry, take a few spoons of PERTUSSIN now. It's safe, even for children. At drug stores, 60¢.

SON ON WAY TO PRISON, MAN, 72, ADMITS THEFTS

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Seventy-two-year-old Vittorio Grillo today confessed a series of mail thefts for which his son, Angelo, 32, has been tried, convicted and sentenced to two and a half years in Atlanta penitentiary.

The aged man was brought before Federal Judge Grover M. Moskowitz in Brooklyn by Joseph Schiraldi, the attorney who defended the younger Grillo at his trial. In an affidavit, Mr. Schiraldi said Vittorio Grillo had come to him, declared he was stricken with remorse, and made a confession.

Decision was postponed on a motion for a new trial for the younger Grillo.

Good Morning!

"Lucky Devils" was the name of their club. And were they lucky? Not always.

"They," the "stunt men" of Hollywood.

How often do we give a thought to the chaps who, for as little as $50 a stunt, risk their lives to provide movie audiences with a thrill? Not often. We behold the beautiful heroine [ostensibly] being carried down the burning ladder by, ostensibly, the hero, and we say, from the depths of our wisdom, "Of course, doubles are working there."

That's all we say, and, as a rule, that's all we think. It never occurs to us that folks in the homes of those doubles are pacing the floor waiting for that scene to be over; praying for—and dreading—the sound of the telephone bell.

Well, "Lucky Devils" is a yarn woven about "stunt men" at work, at home, at play—at the end of the trail. You learn of their philosophy and their superstitions. Re the latter—a broken bottle means that one of their number will cash in that day. A wife on the lot is bad luck. . . . Bottles break and wives refuse to stay at home in this movie—and the club is minus members when the film ends.

The most exciting episodes are that in which a man goes over the falls in a small boat and the one where a chap slated to rescue another from the roof of a burning house hesitates a moment too long. Bill Boyd and William Gargan are excellent in these scenes as in numerous others.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

THE CLEW.

At 5:40 George Tracy, returning from Oakland, entered the small office shared by himself and Baldwin and discovered his partner dead from an instantly fatal head wound. Realizing the importance of possible fingerprints he had been careful to use a handkerchief in removing the French phone from its cradle on Baldwin's desk and had called headquarters, reporting the matter. Afterward he phoned Mrs. Baldwin, informing her that Baldwin had met with an accident. She had interrupted him with, "My God! Is he dead?"

Mrs. Baldwin stated that her husband left their San Francisco home that morning at 8:45 for his office eight blocks distant, apparently in good spirits. At 5:25 he phoned, telling her that an important financial deal had fallen through; that while SHE was well provided for HE was ruined and then calmly said he was going to kill himself. She stated that in the midst of her pleading with him he shouted "Good-by, Jean"—then she heard a shot.

She sat stunned for a few moments then fainted and remembered nothing until Tracy's phone call, at 6:05, aroused her.

The police found a .38 caliber automatic, with one shot fired, on the floor by Baldwin's chair. His head lay slumped over the desk, his left hand in his pocket. In some manner the ejected shell had lodged in the cuff of his right trouser leg.

"I wonder," mused Fordney, "if the police realize the importance of the clew they have?"

WHAT WAS IT?

[See solution on page 23.]

Notre Dame Instructor Quits to Head Congress

Notre Dame, Ind., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The Rev. Sidney A. Raemers, M. A., Ph. D. of the department of philosophy of the University of Notre Dame resigned today to assume his duties as chairman and general secretary of an International Catholic congress to be held in the far west next summer. He declined to make known the nature of the congress, saying that an announcement is pending approbation of Pope Pius. Father Raemers will be succeeded by the Rev. John A. McMahon, M. S. Ph. D., who arrived here tonight from the Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.

Hindu Dancers Display Great Art of Orient

Shan-Kar and Group Make First Appearance.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Uday Shan-Kar and his company of Hindu dancers and musicians gave their first performance at Orchestra hall last night and simultaneously announced that they would give two more on Saturday afternoon and evening of this week. This deserves to classify as good news, for Shan-Kar and his associates are giving by far the most entertaining dance program of the season so far.

It is a wise and canny combination of the exotic, the little known dance art of the east, and good showmanship, following a defined line, increasing in interest and developing a climax. Here is dancing that shows how much further the art has gone in the orient than the western nations have ever dreamed of, both technically and in its pictorial aspects.

This is no mere dance of the legs and feet, but dance of the arms, of the shoulders, of the wrists, fingers, neck, torso as well. There were times last night when one was convinced that some of these artists had learned how to get along without bones in their arms. They seemed all curves and no angles, more like seaweed swept in the current than human appendages.

Incidentally one need have no fear that either the dance or the music is difficult to understand. There are some conventions of pose, it is true, that would be the better for previous explanation, but generally the pantomime is perfectly plain, and certainly the design, the lines into which the patterns fell were not only obvious but lovely.

Sometimes it was a dance of love, a flirtation in pictorial poses, sometimes a religious dance full of ritualistic gestures, sometimes a folk dance close to the earth, sometimes something merely decorative, and at the end there was a religious dance drama, Shiva aroused from his meditation to destroy the elephant demon who was ravaging the earth. At times the costumes were of brilliant colors and jewels, at others plain, flowing white, again long robes alternated with pajamas.

Shan-Kar and the two women, Simkie and Kanak Lata, are the principal dancers. There is an orchestra of eight players and at least eight dozen instruments, and sometimes some of the players leave their group on the stage and become dancers also. For example, Shan-Kar and his young brother, Robindra, do a devil dance of a combat between the chief of the demons and the king of the monkeys wherein both dancers and players don devil-masks of a fearsome kind.

Of the instruments, some are of the guitar order, there are a few flutes, or rather flageolets, a horn or two, and many instruments of percussion, gongs, cymbals, and drums of all sizes and conditions, single headed, double headed, some tuned to a scale, some beaten with sticks. The melodies, played in unison without harmonization, are generally plaintive and frequently attractive in their simplicity, the rhythmic figures, oftentimes complex, get into your pulse and blood.

In other words, this is a show worth attending.

Consolidate Seabury Divinity School and Western Seminary

The Very Rev. Frederick C. Grant, president of the Western Theological seminary, Evanston, yesterday announced that Seabury Divinity school, Faribault, Minn., and Western seminary will be consolidated during the present year. He made this announcement before the ninety-sixth convention of the Episcopal diocese in session at St. Luke's procathedral, Evanston. The convention closed yesterday afternoon.

Dean Grant said the consolidation will create an institution with resources increased by added endowment of $500,000. The combined seminaries, Dean Grant said, will probably be known as Seabury-Western seminary.

Schipa Finds Voice O. K. After Throat Operations

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Tito Schipa went through his first vocal warming up exercises since his operations for removal of tonsils and correction of a condition of the throat today when he warbled a few notes before a small gathering of music critics in the offices of Dr. Edward Kellogg, his specialist. The notes were declared to be just as dulcet as the Metropolitan tenor's previous best. The singer declared that the operation has removed a slight cough—"tickling in the throat"—with sometimes forced him to cut his notes short.

School Benefit

A benefit dance for St. Juliana's parochial school of Edison Park will be held Saturday night by the alumni. The affair will be held at the Pickwick club in Park Ridge. Sister Camille is the superior of the school. Miss Virginia Oelrich, president of the alumni association, is in charge of the benefit, the funds of which are to be used to help tide the school over the depression period. William Mountain, secretary, John Scanlon, treasurer, and Miss Mary Wright, compose the committee in charge of the affair.

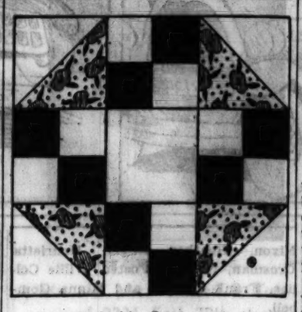
Illinois Regarded as Birthplace of 'Prairie Queen'



Prairie Queen.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The "Prairie Queen" is one of the simple nine patch patterns that every one interested in quilts should know. And particularly so the quilt makers of Illinois, for Illinois women claim this pattern as a product of their own state.

Early quilts were nearly always pieced in the yellow and brown shades of gingham and calico, symbolic of the harvest. The field of golden grain doubtless inspired the design.

For a pattern of the "Prairie Queen" design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street.

Urges Training of Child for Social Control

Dr. Harrison Elliott Talks to Education Group.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Dr. Harrison Elliott of the Union Theological seminary in New York yesterday warned parents and educators that the children of this generation must be prepared to grow up in a world radically different from the one their parents knew. If not, he said, these children will be compelled to suffer maladjustments to a new social control.

Dr. Elliott spoke before a meeting of the Chicago Association for Child Study and Parent Education in the Palmer house. Dr. Elliott is director of the department of religious education and psychology in the seminary.

"We have been living in a world which after all is at the end of a period of unexploited and unlimited opportunity," Dr. Elliott declared. "We were working on the 'success psychology' that every one would succeed, where there wasn't enough of everything to go around. In 1920 the production capacity was reached and now the world is in a traffic jam. We have now to learn how to adjust ourselves to others. From now on if we try to get to success by ourselves we will mess up the whole situation."

Children in the past were prepared for a free for all life, taught that they must look out for themselves and fight their own battles or else the hope of success could not be held out to them, Dr. Elliott added.

"If you want to get children ready to live in this new world, help in all things that have to do with social control right down into the family," the speaker continued. "There will have to be some sort of social control or this civilization will be wrecked."

Dr. Elliott discussed the emotional and spiritual aspects of the present relief situation, warning against developing an unwholesome attitude among children, a feeling of insecurity and fear of the future.

Universal Studio Sends Out Notice of Shutdown

Hollywood, Feb. 8.—Notification of a complete shutdown of the Universal Movie studio effective next Saturday was received today by employés. It was unofficially reported the shutdown will last at least six or eight weeks. Closing of the gigantic plant will affect between 300 and 400 persons. The announcement said the studio is so far ahead on production that the shutdown became imperative. Production is virtually at a standstill at the United Artists lot.

Universal is now producing a motion picture in Europe, "The Rebel," starring Luis Trenker, who starred in "The Doomed Battalion," and Vilma Banky, marking Vilma's return to the screen after four years.

New Flowers for Hats Cure Winter Woes

Predict Perfect Season for Lovers of Blue.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

To take your mind off snow and wind and erratic weather, you might be interested in some very new pieces of headgear . . . the still, small hats that flutter into high altitudes atop the fashionable coiffures. Being the perverse sex, we do delight in wearing be-flowered hats when flowers and what they come from are buried under tons of snow. But despite that fact, these new flowered creations are as charming as they are surprising. Hat makers must have remembered English gardens or old fashioned country flower spots, for the newest hats are covered with engaging clusters of cornflowers, moss rose, or a daisy or two, and small tender green leaves.

Shoppers who find it hard to resist blue are going to be severely tempted this spring, as a lot of the hats are made with garlands of blue cornflower buds and blossoms, with clever accents of rosy pink buds scattered through the blue.

Daisies are returning, white ones with yellow centers, lovely golden flowers with deep brown centers and the realistic affairs with shaggy petals and pale yellowish-green middles. You will gasp with pleasure over the violets that are going to cover some fetching new bonnets . . . deep parma purple violets, and some unusual white violets.

Lots of these flowered creations are on their way to be displayed in a few weeks, but some daring first arrivals can be found if you shop sharply.

The very shiny sleek black hats you are seeing around the town are made of a straw called picot . . . some ingenious new affairs slant well down over the old right eye, the brims are never any wider than a scant inch, the crowns so shallow that they merely cover the outmost and smallest arctic circle of the head. Funny little ornaments of feathers, very casually fastened to the back sectors of these glittering looking chapeaux, do grand things towards keeping the spectators amused . . . not even the gals who pay for these absurdly small hats can help but smile when they try them on.

If you like to listen to pre-dated millinery or costume accessory information, you will be interested to know that shopping scouts have reported the news of organdy hats this season, and if they are just half as alluring as they sound we are going to have an interesting summer.

The scouts say we will wear leis of linen or organdy flowers hanging deep around the necklines of summer cotton frocks. Imagine the sparkling contrast of cool white linen or organdy hyacinths, or leis of fringed daisies or full blown tea roses, and the inevitable white gardenias against cool navy blue linen or crisp sooty black dresses.

You can match the flowers of the hat with the lei necklaces. Black and high colored evening gowns of cotton or organdy can easily attain an enviable distinction with leis of cotton flowers, swung low at the back or front waistlines.

Don't forget the lovely cross barred organdy flowers and ruchings that you can find . . . demurely decorative stuff to be used effectively for both cotton and wool . . . some double fluted edgings of cross barred material are especially attractive with fringed edges for the simple, casual black and navy blue wool daytime frocks that need a new contrast.

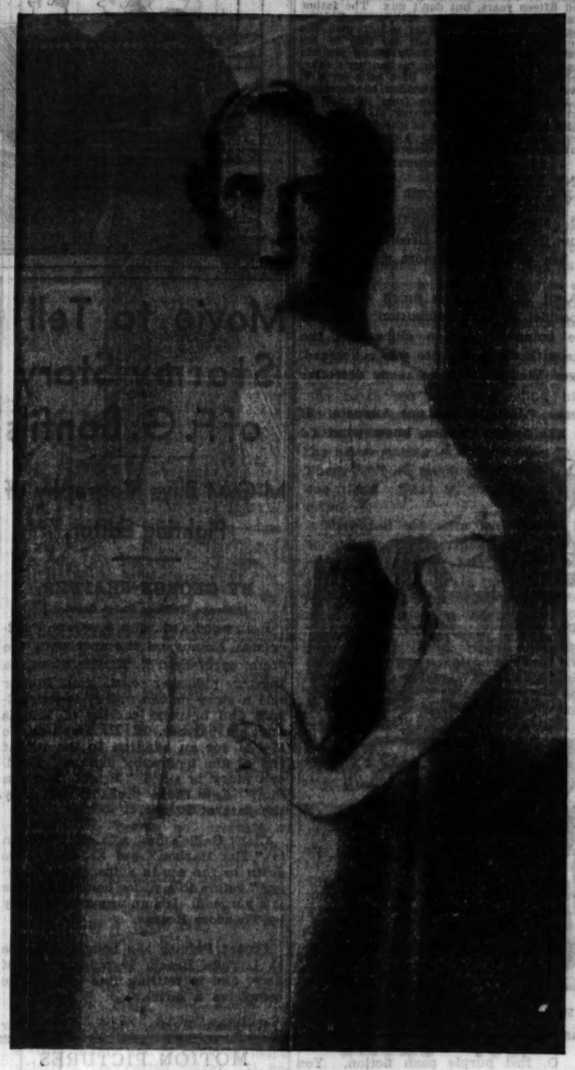
Sorority Convention.

Phi Delta Zeta sorority will hold its fourteenth biennial convention tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday at the Medinah Athletic club. There will be a formal supper dance Saturday evening at the Drake hotel. Mrs. Ann De Lay of 3223 West 64th street is chairman of the convention committee.

Engagement



MISS DOROTHY SCHLEICHER

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Schleicher of Oak Park have announced the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Law Gibson Weiner of Rochester, N. Y., son of Mrs. Leonard M. Weiner of Rochester. Miss Schleicher is a graduate of the Loofbourrows school in Oak Park and attended Stoneleigh-Prospect Hill and Lindenwood college. Mr. Weiner is a graduate of Hobart college and attended the University of Rochester and the Eastman School of Music. No date for the wedding has been set. [J. D. Toloff Photo.]

Three Interesting Exhibits of Art Open; Show Etchings by Sloan

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Three new exhibitions in three galleries within a stone's throw of each other are sufficient attraction to get one out even in such cold as that of yesterday.

A comprehensive array of recent etchings by John Sloan is hung in the O'Brien gallery, 673 North Michigan avenue. John Sloan is a New York painter and etcher. He is a modernist and his code is the sublimation of the commonplace. The etchings are frank recitals of simple events in the lives of such people as pass one by thousands on the street. They are cleverly organized and expressed, but leave the spectator unthrilled.

A few steps away in the Allerton gallery an exhibit of paintings by Claude Buck has just opened. It is a curious and interesting show. Mr. Buck possesses an imagination which plays on the outskirts of the unseen. His visions border upon the morbid. One almost sees him in the rôle of a Sherlock Holmes of art, peering this way and that to extract from everything its possibility of glamour.

The two still life compositions, "Chinese Horse" and "Chinese Porcelain," are decorative. The "Girl Reading," the Logan prize winning picture last year at the Art institute, still holds its own.

The International Creative Artists and Craftsmen's guild, a new gallery at 660 North Michigan avenue, offers the novel attraction of the discovery of a Chicago artist whose work is really remarkable. He is George Trimmer and his water colors and sketches of animals are stunning. Charles Turzak is another exhibitor who has a clear message in his woodcuts of Lincoln.

Leave Today to Be Guests of K. L. Smiths

Three Winnetka Couples Go to Palm Beach.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THREE Winnetka couples who are the envy of all their less fortunate friends are the Roy E. Bards, the George Shumans, and the Joseph Magnuses, for they are leaving today for Palm Beach to visit the Kenneth L. Smiths, also of Winnetka, at their Palm Beach villa. To be a member of one of the Smiths' winter house parties would seem to be the last word in vacations for in addition to having a spacious and attractive villa the Smiths have a gorgeous yacht, the Kencora II., anchored in Palm Beach and part of their entertaining is done aboard that.

This particular house party will be in Palm Beach until about the first of March and then it will be transferred, bag and baggage, to the yacht to cruise to Panama and Central America. The Smiths are just back at Palm Beach from a cruise among the Keys on which they were accompanied by Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Clement of Chicago, who are wintering at Miami Beach.

Harold F. McCormick will be in Palm Beach around March 1 for he plans to go down to the southern resort at that time to visit his son-in-law and daughter, the Elisha Dyer Hubbards.

Mrs. Cudahy Stays in City.

From Palm Beach came the tidings that society there eagerly was awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, who would occupy the Cudahys' Grace Trail villa for the first time in several years, but a telephone call to Mrs. Cudahy here brought forth the information that she is not well and has no immediate plans for going anywhere.

Mrs. William Waller Jr. and her sister, Mrs. Robert C. Wheeler, are planning to go to Palm Beach to occupy the Wallers' villa, Casa Manana, in mid-March. They will be joined there for the spring vacations by their sons, William Waller III. and Robert T. Wheeler, who are at the Choate school, and Francis Waller, who is in school at East Aurora, N. Y.

Miss Betty Alexander, who is spending the winter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Alexander of Lake Forest, in Palm Beach, has Miss Charlotte Kay of Chicago visiting her now. The Alexanders have a villa in Via la Selva and entertain extensively.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden B. Harris are leaving today for Miami Beach, where they don't intend to do much but enjoy the sunshine; in fact, they haven't decided yet even where they are going to stay.

Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever, who will meet them at the train, will help them decide this, as she has been down for a few weeks. Mr. Harris will be back before his wife, as Mrs. Harris intends to go to Washington and New York before she arrives home in two months' time.

Plan Vacations in Southwest.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward W. Willits and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Andrews of Highland Park are planning to leave the end of this week for Tucson, Ariz., where they hope to have plenty of sunshine and golf to make their vacation a successful one. The Samuel Miles Hastingses had hoped to go at this time, too, but business prevents their leaving now, although they may get away later in the season.

Mrs. Howard Linn is leaving Saturday for Virginia, to spend two or three weeks hunting in Warrenton and Middleburg, and from there she will go to Florida to visit in Palm Beach and Miami. Mr. Linn will join her in Florida.

The Linns are planning to give up their Cedar street house at the end of this season when they move out to their country place at Shore Acres north of Lake Forest, for they spend more and more time in the country each year.

They plan to make a hotel or a small flat their "pied a terre" in town and not be bothered with a whole house for twelve months when they really only occupy it for about three months out of the twelve. Last night the Linns entertained at dinner—among their guests was Harold Nicolson—later taking the party to see Shan-Kar dance.

Mrs. Nicolson [The Hon. Victoria Sackville-West] returns this evening from St. Louis and she and her husband will be entertained tonight by the Walter S. Brewsters. Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum will introduce Mr. Nicolson at his Town Hall lecture Saturday morning and the Nicolsons will go to Lake Forest that afternoon to spend the week-end with the John P. Kelloggs, whose house guests they were last Saturday and Sunday, also.

Mrs. Hill Here to Dismantle House.

The mission that has brought Mrs. Patrick C. Hill [Genevieve Carpenter] to Chicago is a sad one but her relatives and friends here will do all they can to fill in her leisure time with pleasure and gayety for she is so popular and dearly loved by all who know her.

She is here to superintend the dismantling of the house at 700 Rush street where she and her parents, John Alden Carpenter and the late Rue Winterbotham Carpenter, lived, and it could not be other than a difficult task.

Mrs. Hill, who left little Rue Diana at home in Fort Worth with her father and nurse, is staying with her aunt, Mrs. John H. Winterbotham of 1301 Astor street.

FOLLY ISLAND

By Wallace Irwin

SYNOPSIS.

Bart Burgess is marooned in a catboat on Peconic bay, fifty miles from his Long Island home in Wyattville. His companion, Ingalls Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new made fortune, known as "Nosey Ingy," rows to town and sends Bart help and taxies home. A girl in a canoe invites Bart over to her family's island. Bart learns that she is one of the Bayleys, who have lived on the island fifteen years, but don't mix. The father travels. He invites the girl, Alice, to visit him in Wyattville. Less than a week later Trevor Burgess, Bart's father, dies suddenly from a heart attack. Bart is left with the care of his invalid mother. The family lawyer gives Bart a letter left for him by his father, in which he confesses to being a bigamist. The Bayleys of Folly Island are his second family. They know him as Matthew Bayley. He asks Bart, for his mother's sake, to guard the secret, and leaves a fortune to provide for the Bayleys. Bart calls on Mrs. Bayley, posing as a lawyer, and finds her a lovely woman, not the harridan he expected. He returns two weeks later with the legacy. Bart is happy to learn from her mother that Alice isn't Matthew Bayley's daughter. But to keep her from visiting his home and seeing his father's pictures is now a problem. He spends a week-end at the island. Bart realizes he loves Alice, but couldn't marry her. He resolves to stay away from Folly Island. He sees a lot of Lora Sackett, a distant relative and recent divorcée.

INSTALLMENT XXII.

YOUNG FRIVOLITY.

"Aunt Augusta enjoys being terrified," stated Bart, feeling that something must be said to unlink his aunt's eyes from them. "Im all tired out fetching her detective stories. If she can't buy 'em at the drug store she bootlegs 'em from town."

"Nobody takes them seriously." Aunt Augusta was quick to defend herself. "But they are a valuable soporific. I need relaxation from my work." Broadly gesturing toward the botanical garden clubs and the vegetarian international peace movements with which her life was concerned. "Why do you suppose Mr. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes reads detective stories?"

"For mental relaxation," decided Lora. "But listen, Aunt Augusta. If I was an awfully retired old gentleman like Judge Holmes, know what I'd read to loosen me up? Love stories. O, just purple pash fiction. You know. The kind that gives you a pain in the heart."

Severely Miss Forrester changed the subject. "Lora, what do you hear from our relatives in Philadelphia?"

"The General Farnhams? They're following me around. Next week they'll be visiting the Trevor Wyatts."

"They represent the Philadelphia branch of your mother's family. The Farnhams are solid people."

"Solid? I'll say so. When you bump them they leave bruises."

"They have had their share of troubles. Especially your Aunt Constance. Her daughters have married well, but her heart was set on Arthur. He was more like the old Quaker stock." Smacking her lips as she did over the long botanical flower.

"Wasn't he killed by a policeman or something?" asked Lora, working hard to concentrate.

"By no means. An automobile collision years ago. Possibly it was a merciful act of providence, for he proved a great trial to his mother."

"Cause and effect," said Lora. "Speakeasy, morgue."

It took Aunt Augusta some time to digest this opinion, then she explained, "He was very intemperate." Then lowering her voice to a maidenly whisper, "and careless about women."

"You have to be careless about 'em nowadays," said Lora.

"Yes," ventured Bart, "that's the only way you can keep your reason." The flash he caught from Lora's eye sank deep into him, surprised him with its warmth. But he hurried to apologize for their young frivolity. "I've never set eyes on the Farnhams," he said. "From what I hear, it's hard to think of them having a real tragedy in the family."

"They buried it," Aunt Augusta sighed mysteriously

"Well, what's the dirt about this Arthur?" Lora sat up very straight, alert in the hope of hearing what she called a bedtime story. "Did he cut off his grandmother's ears and pawn them for absinthe?"

"Older? Good Lord, I've been married," protested Lora.

"I think Aunt Augusta's a perfect meanie. She gives you the first chapter—Philadelphia aristocrat found dead by wrecked car—dirty work at the crossroads—Insector Billings, wire Scotland Yard at once! Then she stops and asks you to wait till you're forty for the next installment."

"You should not be impatient." Then over her large face flitted the cunning look of the detective story addict. "It was the woman Arthur Farnham married," she whispered.

"You mean she bumped him off?" Lora was enchanted.

But Aunt Augusta, having finished her lemonade, rose glacially on her flat heeled shoes. Something hurt Hero. He howled like a flute in pain. "O, Antonio!" Gesturing handsomely at an Italian crossing the garden with a wheelbarrow load of dark powder. "It's the sheep manure," she explained pleasantly and billowed away along the flagged path.

"Just like a moving tent," said Lora, gazing after her. "When she walks she picks up her tent like the Arabs. Think of it, Bart. That's what you and I came from, all around the stump."

"Yes. And look at us now."

"I'd a darn sight rather look at us than at her." She made her eyes like a gazelle's and took him in.

"She's pompous, she's an old maid, but she represents something. She's our recorder. She keeps the family album, the family escutcheon, the genealogy. She has an important place and I think you talk to her like a snip."

"Bart Burgess, you're a dangerous man. You're appealing to my better nature. Aren't you ever going to get fond of me?" She was prettier than usual just then.

"I am fond of you."

Then suddenly, "Who is she?"

"She?" He felt himself coloring.

"You don't have to keep any secrets from me, old dear."

"Look here, if you're on the police force why don't you show your badge?" Lightly, but he was worried.

"I'm just an intelligent woman, that's all. And devoted to your best good. In other words, I'm a nosey little weasel. Good-by darling. I've got a cocktail date with the Sadlers, to get the taste of that lemonade out of my mouth."

He helped her into the inexpensive blue car which raced her here and there on her restless way.

"It would be perfectly poisonous to get fond of you," she said, and the noise of stripping gears cut through his nerves like a saw.

According to the social idiom the Burgesses were going nowhere this year; literally this meant that Mrs. Burgess held quiet, unofficial meetings of the Garden club at her home and took visiting relatives for afternoon drives in one of her cars. It meant that her son took her dutifully to church or to the family plot on stated days. Bart, mercifully numbed by the routine, felt himself gently slipping into his father's groove. Home, office, office, home.

To this he stuck willfully, refusing the solace his father had accepted on Folly Island. If sometimes the face of a laughing, ardent girl would mock him out of his dullness almost fiercely he would wrap himself again in that state of mind, like a sheet of lead.

Movie to Tell Stormy Story of F. G. Bonfils

M-G-M Buys Biography of Fighting Editor.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 8.—Gene Fowler was Johnny on the spot with the life story of Fred G. Bonfils when the Denver publisher died, and Fowler sold a story on the turbulent journalistic and business careers of Bonfils and his partner, H. H. Tammen, to M-G-M for an addition to the recent run of film biography pictures. Fowler's story is titled "Bright Western Sun." Lew Stone probably will play the part of Bonfils.

Clark Gable's first solo starring film is "The Harbor," but he doesn't go down to the sea in ships. The "harbor" refers to a police hospital. Gable is a surgeon. It's an unpublished play by Theodore Reeves.

Stuart Palmer has bought a house at Laguna Beach, 60 miles south of here, and is retiring into it until he completes a novel.

Kathleen Burke, Chicago "panther girl," gets her next part with Sylvia Sidney and George Raft in Paramount's "Pick Up." She's the third panther girl finalist in this film, the other two being Lona Andre of Nashville and Gail Patrick of Birmingham.

Repossessed elephants are the latest movie newcomers. I. S. Horn, animal importer, who supplied animals for "Zoo in Budapest" at Fox's, says:

"I had to foreclose on a couple of zoos last week, one in Canada and one in Texas." They got animals on down payments, with easy terms to cover the balance, but the cost of feeding ate up funds faster than they came in. That's how the elephants come to be eating movie peanuts.

Here's the "low down" on Lilian Harvey: Weight, 94 pounds; height, five feet one inch; waistline, 22 inches.

After years off the screen, except for an occasional minor part, Betty Blythe is joining the cast of "Pilgrimage" at Fox. She joins a whole list of names in the story—Marian Nixon, Heather Angel, Henrietta Crosman, Norman Foster, Willie Collier, Frank Craven, and Minna Gombell.

Benita Hume, English actress in "Clear All Wires" at M-G-M, says the astonishing thing to her in this country is the way mothers or guardians of 13, 14 and 15 year old girls permit the children to make up lips, cheeks, eyebrows, eyelashes and do things to their hair. "I couldn't believe it at first," she said, "but everywhere I go I see it."

It has gotten to the stage of "we did" and "they didn't" in court here where Constance Cummings is suing to have her former contract with Columbia declared void. Harry Cohn, president of the film corporation, testified that Miss Cummings was in such a hurry to get to New York she did not wait to have written notice served on her that the studio was renewing its option on her services. Cohn says oral notice was served. Constance says no notice was given. She wants Superior Judge Charles Bogue to make an official ruling that the contract is dead.

The funniest situation possible, in his own opinion, according to Slim Summerville, the comedian, is to watch grapefruit squirt in a fat man's eye. Slim and Zasu Pitts have just completed "Niagara Falls" at Universal, and next will play together in "Chicken Rancho" at the same studio.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The President today received the retiring Egyptian minister, Sesostris Sedarouss Pasha, who called to say farewell before going to New York to sail next week for home.

Mrs. Hoover attended the luncheon today of the Travelers' Aid society. Among others in the company were Mrs. Mitchell, wife of the attorney general; Mrs. Doak, wife of the secretary of labor; Mrs. Harlan F. Stone, wife of the associate justice of the Supreme court; Mrs. Owen Roberts, wife of the associate justice, and Mrs. Arthur A. Ballantine.

Representative elect and Mrs. James W. Wadsworth of New York have arrived in Washington and will be at the Mayflower until they take possession of their Washington home, which is leased to Col. M. Robert Guggenheim of New York until March. Mrs. Wadsworth is the former Miss Alice Hay, daughter of the late secretary of state and Mrs. John Hay.

friends who have heard of Mrs. Richardson's recent accident the good news that nothing more serious than a dislocated joint was the result of the fall she had while hunting when her horse turned quickly and she slid off onto a rock. A trip to Baltimore resulted in the dislocated joint being replaced and Mrs. Richardson is O K again.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ward Thorne are leaving next week for Mexico and Yucatan. They are going to spend a month just seeing the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Champ Carry and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Thorne are in New York on a short "business and pleasure" trip.

Tell Marriage of Margaret Delmar.

"Mr. Eugene C. Delmar of 325 Greenwood boulevard, Evanston, announces the marriage of his daughter, Margaret, to Philipp Scribner Wernher of Omaha, Neb.," was the formal announcement that reached this desk yesterday and it was not until we had talked to the bride on the telephone that we discovered that the marriage had taken place in Waukegan last Saturday.

The young couple, whose engagement was announced last March by Miss Delmar's mother, Mrs. Austin Cole of Evanston, drove up to Waukegan Saturday, accompanied by the David W. Nortons Jr., who were married on Dec. 10, and there they were married.

Mrs. Norton is the former Virginia Vilas and she and her husband are living in the Vilas homestead in Golf, adjoining the Glenview club. Mr. and Mrs. Wernher are at home with Mr. Delmar in Evanston. Mrs. Wernher is a Smith college graduate and Mr. Wernher an Andover one.

Not much is written about the boys and girls of subdeb age except during the Christmas holidays, but their good times go on all through the winter. The Fortnightly dances, held every other Friday night, are the most popular of their social activities. Before the next one, which is to be on Feb. 17, three very young men are giving a dinner at the Fortnightly. They are John Cushing, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal B. Cushing, Edmund J. Doering III., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering Jr., and Gardiner Thomasson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson L. Thomasson Jr.

Another dinner being given the same night is one that Miss Edith Ann Corbin is giving for twelve young friends. Miss Corbin is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Clifford L. Corbin.

Judy School Committee.

Mrs. Walter F. McLallen Jr., chairman of the Judy school committee of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, will preside at a meeting of the committee this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf of 209 Lake Shore drive. Miss Faye Corner, superintendent of the school, will talk.

Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, who is chairman of the radio division of the speakers' bureau of the Friends of Music, will report on the work her division has done—splendid work, too, the chairman of the bureau, Mrs. Francis Johnson, says—tomorrow afternoon at a meeting to be held at 4:15 o'clock in Mrs. Johnson's apartment at the Ambassador East.

They may need sleighs in which to get there, but probably most of those who had planned to attend one or more of the several interesting lectures on today's calendars will be able to reach their destinations. This morning at 11 at the Woman's Athletic club Dr. Harry A. Overstreet, the eminent psychologist, will talk on "A Plan for Happiness," and, as is usual following the Thursday morning lectures, a special luncheon will follow.

Members of the Fortnightly will hear Prof. William E. Dodd, the Andrew MacLeish distinguished scholarship professor at the University of Chicago, tell of "The Greatest Blunder in Modern History" at 2 o'clock this afternoon. This club will have a special luncheon before the lecture at 1:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Charles G. King is treasurer of the committee in charge, so she probably will be at the door of the room in the Casino this afternoon, where Miss Lucy Martin is to talk for the benefit of the Harris schools' charity fund, to collect the tickets or the money. The lecture, to start at 3:30 o'clock, is entitled "The New Hot Spots of Europe." Tea will be served after the lecture.

Third Causerie to Be Today.

The third causerie of the Alliance Française will be held this afternoon in the library of the society's rooms in the Fine Arts building with Mrs. William N. Pelouze, Mrs. Arlene Peck Warwick, Mrs. Walter Bracken, and Mrs. George A. Cragg as hostesses. The members will sew for the Red Cross and converse in French from 2 to 4 o'clock, after which tea will be served, and then, if there is time, sewing will be resumed until 5 o'clock, when au revoir will be said and the meeting adjourned until next week. The French conversation will be interrupted long enough for Mme. Rachel Descoubes to read the first act of "Le Chemineau," by Richepin.

About 100 women will play bridge this afternoon at the Flamingo hotel for the benefit of the Friends of Music. Mrs. Tom Pet Cross is chairman of the committee in charge and among those who have assisted her are Mrs. Arthur Compton and Mrs. Paul S. Russell, co-chairmen of the south side group of the Friends of Music, Mrs. Ellsworth Faris, Mrs. Rari Bricken, Mrs. Harold White, and Mrs. Kenath Sponsel.

Some of the juniors of the Alliance Française are going to have luncheon in Lake Forest Saturday with Miss Francise Clow to talk over plans for a tea they will give next month for M. Pierre de Lanux, the league of nations secretary in Paris, who will come here early in March for a visit.

At a luncheon meeting of the board of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters yesterday at the Arts club it was decided to have an open luncheon meeting of the league on Monday, Feb. 20, at 12:30 o'clock in the Lantern room of the Drake hotel. Following luncheon the members will assemble in the French room to hear Dr. Rachel Yarros talk on "Women Delinquents and the Women's Court," and Miss Grace E. Benjamin talk on "Juvenile Delinquents and the Women's Court." Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter is president of the league.

Mrs. Harry L. Swarts, formerly of Chicago and Glencoe, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bella R. D'Ancona of 5424 Cornell avenue. Mrs. Swarts has spent the last ten years in Vienna, and when she leaves Chicago she will live in Cincinnati.

Pattern Features Smart Neckline, Raglan Shoulders

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

The interesting neckline and the raglan shoulders mark this as an up to the minute dress. The original dress was made of a soft red rabbit's hair woolen, trimmed with black buttons. A crinkly silk crêpe would make up prettily in black, with the scarf of white crêpe.

The pattern, No. 3359, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Parents Use Indirect Ways to Correct Evil

Find They're Best Methods, Too.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"Sometimes a mother is shocked to find her growing boy is helping himself to money from her purse. She is ashamed to admit it even to herself, at first. If she is inexperienced she may think he is unnaturally bad.

"Usually when a child steals it is because he feels the need of money to spend and can't get it in any other way, or it is because he has not learned to respect property rights.

"The wife of a poor country minister was terribly depressed because her boy of 12 persisted in taking small sums from her pocketbook. She had reasoned with him and he had promised never to steal again, but when apportunity offered he would repeat the offense. Finally she consulted with the country school teacher, who was a recent graduate from an up to date normal school. He had had training in the new psychology and gave her good advice.

"'Help the boy to get some regular work to do that is not too hard for him, and let him have the money he earns to use for himself,' was his advice. 'Show him that you respect his property and he will learn to respect yours.'

"The mother followed this advice and it worked like a charm.

"It is not only in poor families that children steal. A certain wealthy and very pious and respectable citizen in a suburban town found his 10 year old son had been stealing from his mother's purse. The mother had not told the father at first. The boy's small thefts had become a habit and gradually increased to quite substantial sums. His mother had tried reproaching him, arguing with him, and finally hiding her purse.

"He paid no attention to her reproaches and usually managed to find her purse wherever she hid it. Finally a ten dollar bill was taken. That night she told the father. He was shocked, because he thought the boy had no need to steal. He had everything he needed, apparently, to make him happy. He asked expert advice and was told to put the boy on a moderate allowance, letting him buy his own clothing and leaving a little for spending money.

"The boy had been without any idea of responsibility toward money. He had never had any to spend. When he stole he simply spent the money in the most foolish extravagant treats for his school chums."

Indirect methods of dealing with such propensities are almost always the only successful ones. The moral note need rarely be sounded.

THE STAGE

"The Cat and the Fiddle," the brilliant operetta by Jerome Kern now at the Apollo theater, will end its Chicago run a week from next Saturday night. The company will continue on tour, visiting Kansas City during the week of Feb. 19, St. Louis during the week of Feb. 26, and Milwaukee during the week of March 5. Its season is scheduled to end in Boston Easter week.

This entertainment's reduction in ticket prices to the $2 scale in the midst of its prosperous Chicago run has established a precedent that will probably be followed until boom times come again. It was the first elaborate musical hit from Broadway, bringing its original company, to adjust its prices to the levels of thirty years ago.

"The Desert Song," handsomely revived by the Chicago Operetta company last Monday night, will continue in performance at the Civic Opera house until Saturday, Feb. 18. For the Saturday matinees a reduction in ticket prices to the $1 scale is announced.

The fourth production of the Theater Guild's season in New York will be Maxwell Anderson's drama, "Both Your Houses," which is now in rehearsal. It deals with characteristic behavior of members of the United States congress. Leading rôles will be played by Walter C. Wells, Jane Seymour, Morris Carnovsky, and William Foran.

Francis Lederer, who has won recognition at a matinee idol in New York by his performances in "Autumn Crocus," has accepted an invitation to select a play that will be staged next summer in connection with the Czechoslovakian exhibit at the Century of Progress. He is a Bohemian, transplanted to the English speaking stage after successes in continental Europe.

Finds Other Gal's Picture in His Wallet

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"The other day while at his home, he asked me to get a paper for him from his wallet. While searching for it, I discovered several pictures of a charming lady I know he kept company with for three years. Of course, he carries my picture in his wallet, too—but I am a jealous one by nature and that other girl's pictures made me sick. I did not speak of the discovery for fear of showing my jealousy. Would you have asked an explanation? GLAD."

Smarter not to demand an explanation, "Glad"! Smart never to mention having seen them in the wallet at all! After all, the individual has a right to his own fond memories. Best to let time and association with you blot the memories out.

One cannot have gone around for three years with a girl and not have certain tender associations. The desirability of the girl may be gone, but a sentimental human likes to cling to tender memories. He won't be any the worse as a husband for having this sentimental streak in him. So,

How many women cling to old-love keepsakes such as letters, dance cards, or favors, without affecting in any way their affection for the man they marry! True, we wouldn't advocate these being flounted in the new love's face, but it's an old indulgence, sentimental and harmless so long as no issue is raised over them.

It's good practice for a nature given to jealousy to enforce silence on an incident such as you disclose, "Glad." A jealous nature in itself is not the well known trouble maker. Its expression in suspicions, accusations, or demanding explanations is. Where the person we love is concerned there is humanly bound to be some jealousy. But so long as the tongue can be kept stilled the road is safe.

Wallet contents and pocket contents and private pigeon holes in desks were better recognized as individual rights so long as the secrets locked therein are not deliberately flaunted.

BY MARY MEADE.

Just what happens when the little pig goes to market?

Most of the pork we get on the market comes from young animals, under a year in age. Usually about three-fourths of the animal comes to the market as fresh or cured meat, and the rest turns up as sausage or lard.

FEET—All four feet of the pork animal are used, though they are not always pickled as some folk think. They can boast very little meat, being mostly skin, bone, and fat; but the small amount present is deliciously flavored. Pigs' feet are cooked water till tender and then may be pickled, broiled or fried in deep fat.

HAM—This cut is really the back leg of the porker with the foot removed. It corresponds to the leg of lamb or veal and the round of beef. One may buy fresh ham, but the greatest proportion of it is cured. It is sometimes sold in slices or as whole or half hams. Recently some progressive butchers are even cutting it into smaller roasting sections more convenient for the small family. Fresh ham likes best to be roasted or braised, while cured ham has a weakness for pan broiling, broiling, or baking. There's so much solid meat and so little bone that hams make good buys for pork lovers.

FAT BACK—Along the back of a hog, above the loin or rib section, lies the fat back, an even layer of fat which when cured is known as salt pork. This is often used to give richness and seasoning to boiled or sautéd vegetables, or is used in the larding of lean meats.

CLEAR BELLIES—In other words, bacon. This cut corresponds to the flank and plate of beef and lies on the under side of the animal. It is used mainly for broiling or pan broiling or for lending fat and flavor to drier meats.

LOINS—These are prime cuts of pork and extend along each side of the porker from the ham up to the shoulder sections, above the belly and below the fat back. In the loin you will find the ribs, the back bone, and the tenderloin. From it we may request roasts or chops. Or the meat may be boned for us and the two loins rolled together for roasting. It's this loin strip, boned, which is sometimes cured and known as "Canadian back bacon."

SHOULDER—This large section lies right above the front foot and on up to the back bone. Different markets cut it differently, according to demand, but we most frequently find it divided into a squarish piece known as the Boston butt, cut from the top of the shoulder, and the picnic shoulder and shank cut from the bottom half. The Boston butt may be had fresh to be used for steaks and roasts, or cured boned, rolled, and sold as a "cottage roll."

We also can have various things done to the picnic shoulder. It can come to us fresh for roasting or braising. It may be cured with the bone in or cured, boned, and rolled. This last is known as "cured boneless picnic." Usually one finds the shanks of pork left on the picnic shoulder, but sometimes they are whacked off and sold either fresh or cured for cooking with vegetables.

SPARE RIBS—This cut lies in a rather triangular space above the belly, below the loin, and back of the picnic shoulder. There is considerable fat and bone with a small amount of lean. Spare ribs may be roasted or stewed.

TENDERLOIN — Frequently this piece is sold as part of the loin, but for a special treat it may be purchased separately. It is excellent in flavor and is tender, lean, and boneless—a delicious piece for roasting, frying, or braising. Served stuffed or with sweet potatoes it makes a first class Sunday dinner.

JOWL—We most often hear of this cut under the name "bacon squares." It is cured as bacon or salt pork and used for broiling or cooking with vegetables.

Paris Launches Shorter Coats for Spring Wear

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—One French fashion that is going to be useful to the woman with little to spend on spring clothes is that of the shorter coat, which makes no pretense of matching the frocks it is worn with.

These new shorter coats are swagger and sporty looking, for they are invariably loose from the shoulders, and they are made of cloth that is as rough as a relief map, and they have small collars. Schiaparelli makes such coats in red-brown, Mainbocher makes them in dark blue, and Goupy makes them in black. They are worn over bright plain wool frocks, or checked or striped woolen dresses.

The one shown in our sketch today is from Goupy and is made of black, lusterless, corrugated velvet. It has loose, raglan sleeves, is flared from the shoulders, and fastened only at the neck with ties of velvet and white piqué. The turnover collar is of white piqué, and there is a satin pocket on the left hip which is edged with piqué.

The dress is made of black and white checked woolen, is a straight one piece type and has a belt of the checked material worked on the bias with a silver buckle. A bias band is placed diagonally around the hips, passing under a bias band set on the center front of the skirt. Checked ties are placed at the high neckline.

Women Eat to Forget Worries, but They May Regret It Later

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Women are eating more to forget their troubles!"

The appetite disclosure was made after a study of the "stylish stout" dress customers. The statistics gathered indicate that the large sizes are in heavier demand than ever. The explanation is that a nice big, fat helping of fat storing food helps a lady to forget her troubles.

Well, she may forget them for a while, but those hips are going to raise another trouble for her to worry over later. I have a hunch that the real explantion is that since men have suffered financially they're not so exacting of their wives' appearance. And women are indulging an appetite they were long afraid to foster.

However, Eve's daughter is not so entirely without vanity herself that she can't see those spreading hips without a pang. If not now—later.

But there's probably something to the heavy eating as a depression fact. There isn't so much going about, for one thing. That is, to dress up affairs.

The good old wife who sticks by her man in his financial situation isn't in danger of losing him to some slim young rival. A certain feeling of comfortable security in her mate's affection now lets her eat with heartier abandon. Too, when there isn't so much doing in a social or business way and women spend more time around the house, they do eat more. Many of those who are doing their own cooking now are tasting of foods more frequently than when served by a maid. The food is in sight and it is tempting—and thus pounds are added before one knows it.

Heaven only knows we don't begrudge a woman any panacea for her worries! If we were'nt convinced that she'll be worrying more when she adds ten, twenty, thirty pounds, we wouldn't say a word. But we know the gals! They'll be wanting to get off in a week what they're putting on now—and it won't come off so easily.

We protest more, however, because our longevity records prove that it's the lean horse for the long race, and a fat—free body for current fitness.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mrs. Housewife

need not scrub her toilet!

THERE is a neater, nicer way to keep toilets spotless and pure. No scouring with strong disinfectants. No work at all! Just sprinkle Sani-Flush.

A little Sani-Flush in the toilet bowl does the work for you. (Follow directions on can.) When you flush the toilet the porcelain glistens. Stains go. Odors vanish. The hidden trap that a brush can't reach is purified and safe. And Sani-Flush won't harm the plumbing.

At grocery, drug and hardware stores, 25c. (Another use for Sani-Flush—cleaning automobile radiators. See directions on can.)

STOPS SCRUBBING CLOTHES AND SAVES $100.00

HOUSEWIVES everywhere are discovering that it's a big waste of money to scrub clothes. For scrubbing ruins clothes faster than actual wear.

One woman who had always used a washboard suddenly realized that she was scrubbing the life out of her nice cottons and linens—rubbing them threadbare in no time. Her hands, too, were always so red and rough from scrubbing that she was ashamed of them.

So she changed to Rinso—the soap that the home-making experts of 316 leading newspapers recommend. She threw away her washboard, for Rinso soaks out dirt. Her first wash delighted her, for she saw that it was 4 to 5 shades whiter. She has been using Rinso ever since, and she says she must have saved at least $100.00 on clothes. For clothes washed the safe, "scrubless" Rinso way last 2 to 3 times longer. And her hands are never red and rough-looking any more, either.

Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. It's the biggest-selling package soap in America—for tub, washer and dishpan.

Try Rinso Free

If you never have tried Rinso, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. T78, Cambridge, Mass. A full-sized package will be sent you without cost.

heightens the capacity to feel . . .

IT has long been known to the sophisticated races of the Orient that tea has an alluring potency. It awakens the senses . . . vitalizes the nerves . . . quickens the emotional response . . . giving life new richness and color. It lifts you up—and does not let you down.

To get all the benefits of tea, it is important that you drink a tea rich in theol.

This fragrant oil is the flavor-bearer—the essence. Chase & Sanborn's Tender Leaf Tea contains more theol than any but the extravagantly expensive blends . . .

Because Chase & Sanborn's Tender Leaf Tea is composed only of the tender, young leaves picked during the favorable dry season— when the leaves are at the peak of their flavor and potency! Your grocer has Chase & Sanborn's Tender Leaf Tea in quarter-pound and half-pound screw-top canisters.

RENEW DEMANDS ON CONGRESS FOR TAX REDUCTION

"Give Trade a Chance" Is Economy Slogan.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Demands upon congress to reduce the cost of government and give business a chance to recover; to boot out organized minorities at Washington, and roll the federal pork barrel into the Potomac, were redoubled last night by leaders in the campaign to trim the national budget and lessen the load on taxpayers.

A memorial setting forth that the business and industrial machinery of America is collapsing under the increasing weight of taxes was addressed to congress by the Federation of American Business. It repeated the warning the federation presented to the senate through Senator James E. Watson of Indiana a year ago, that the paramount issue confronting the people is reduction of governmental expenditures.

No Excuses to Be Accepted.

"The very existence of the nation is at stake," said the memorial, "and your constitutents, alive to your every action in this crisis, will accept no excuses and no extenuations."

Likewise from the National Organization to Reduce Public Expenditures, which is organized in all 48 states to demand a reduction of at least 750 million dollars in the federal budget, came a bulletin. In it, George W. Rossetter, general chairman, reports that he has been getting word from senators and representatives indicating growing sentiment for curtailment.

Leaders in both groups spoke of Arthur Sears Henning's current dispatches in THE TRIBUNE narrating in detail the feats of the pork barrelers in the house as giving the most illuminating picture thus far presented of how economy is being blocked by small minority votes. They said the Henning stories inform the voters just how the pork barrel and bureaucrat rackets are worked.

Levies on Incomes Increased.

By the time the taxpayers get the bad news next month in the form of federal income taxes trebled and quadrupled over last year the economy leaders declared that members of congress, unless they live up to their promises to slash the budget, are likely to hear from the folks back home in blistering terms.

Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, Democratic leader in the house, took another wallop at the budget raiding of the organized minorities in a statement to the N. O. R. P. E. quoted in its bulletin as follows:

"It is not easy to effect economies. Large demands are made upon the treasury and nobody opposes them until they amount to a tremendous total, and then everybody is against the accumulated total. We cannot drift along as we are going."

Mr. Rainey recently declared that the budget can be balanced without adding more taxes, except a tax on beer; that the people can stand for no higher taxation, and that for congress to vote new taxes would be "to invite revolution."

Promised Congress Support.

The N. O. R. P. E. bulletin says that among the assurances of support it has received this week from leaders in congress are several from members of the appropriations committee.

Among the senators it reports as promising to give the N. O. R. P. E. recommendations their earnest attention are James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, Royal S. Copeland of New York, member of the appropriations committee; Frederick Hale of Maine, chairman of the senate committee on appropriations, and Reed Smoot of Utah, chairman of the senate committee on finances.

A warning that the budget cannot be balanced by raising taxes is conveyed in the statement from the Federation of American Business.

"Taxes must come down if agriculture, industry and commerce are to recover," it says. "Today, combined American governments are spending one-quarter or more of our national income. No nation can stand that drain and continue to function.

"Today, the country stands in disgust while the old congress jigsaws its powers away, and the incoming legislators terrorize the nation with wild proposals of radical legislation and colossal squandering of public funds."

Ind.], William H. Stafford [Rep., Wis.], and Robert F. Rich [Rep., Pa.]. Representative Cox dissented from the recommendations regarding the farm board and the federal barge lines.

Some Further Proposals.

Among the specific recommendations of the committee, in addition to those already listed, were the following:

Employment of local architects and engineers in designing government buildings outside of the District of Columbia, with the supervising architect's office acting in a purely supervisory capacity.

Award of munitions and ship building work to private concerns wherever not incompatible with national defense, instead of government activity along that line in arsenals and navy yards.

Discontinuance and sale of the government uniform plants at Philadelphia and Brooklyn, award of contracts for army and navy clothing, etc., to private concerns.

Award to private contractors wherever possible work now being done by army engineers, the reclamation service and like agencies.

Award to private contractors where possible the work now being done by government personnel on dredging, harbor work for the flood control, levee developments, etc.

Self-sustaining Parcel Post.

Discontinuance by the postoffice department of advertising for parcel post business; placing of parcel post rates on a basis that will provide sufficient revenue to cover the entire cost of the service rendered.

Establishment of prison industries on a basis that will keep prisoners busy and not with a view to mass production; development of prison industries not competitive with private industries.

HUNGRY PUPILS' FUND IS AIDED BY OLD FRIENDS

The Hungry School Children's fund's best friends are the consistent contributors, who slip another check in the mail when daily receipts lag.

There were two such friends—the Bookhouse for Children, which sent $6, and the ladies of the Bon Villa Card club, which sent $2 yesterday. Their gifts helped boost the day's total to $57.60, a little above the preceding day's gifts. The grand total now stands at $20,587.03, most of which already has been spent to feed 8,000 needy pupils in 100 public schools.

A great deal more money is needed to continue their feeding and to extend the lunch service to other schools where there are hungry pupils. Yesterday's gifts are acknowledged as follows:

$6.00—The Bookhouse for Children.
$3.50—Mrs. F. L. Hardcastle.
$2.00—Ladies of the Bon Villa card party.
$1.00—Mrs. Charles H. Heimsatt, Joseph Godow & Co., Catharine Collins, Anonymous, from a friend, H. M.
10c—F. W. Virden.

Total	$ 57.60
Previously acknowledged	20,529.43
Grand total	20,587.03

MRS. BRUCER'S ACCUSER GETS MATE ARRESTED

Mrs. Arthur J. Lynch, 1664 Farwell avenue, who on Dec. 29 in an informal hearing before Municipal Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Woman's court accused Mrs. Robert H. Brucer, 2426 North Hamlin avenue, at that time president of the Cook county W. C. T. U., of being over-friendly with her husband, appeared in the Town Hall court yesterday.

Mrs. Lynch charged her husband, a publicity agent and former field worker of the Business Men's Prohibition foundation, with disorderly conduct, accusing him of chasing her out of their apartment at midnight clad only in a nightgown and slippers. Municipal Judge Leon Edelman continued the case until today to hear testimony of other witnesses. Lynch, unable to post bond, remained in police custody.

Lives Off "Relief" Fund; Found to Have $7,000 Cash

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—When deputies from Sheriff E. J. Welter's office today searched the home of Charles Srsnick, who has been living since June by funds furnished from the county relief organization, they found $6,834 hidden in the basement. The relief workers learned that Srsnick drew $7,000 from a bank thirteen months ago.

CHURCH WILL TRY PASTOR INDICTED ON GIRL'S STORY

Jury of Ministers to Sit at Muncie.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Suspension by church officials of the Rev. G. Lemuel Conway as pastor of the Madison Street M. E. church at Muncie was announced today following appearance of the Muncie pastor at a meeting of the committee of ministers of the North Indiana M. E. conference to organize an ecclesiastical jury to try Conway. Bishop Edgar Blake, Detroit, head of the Detroit-Indianapolis area of the church, presided.

Conway has been indicted by a Delaware county grand jury for assault and battery with intent to rape on charges by Helen Huffman, 18 year old Muncie girl, and for assault and battery on William Aurand, choir leader.

Although today he was suspended from active pastorate of his church, he remains titular head of the congregation. However, he is deprived of all ministerial powers and privileges until he is tried by the church jury.

Bishop Blake announced the church trial of Conway will be held March 15 and 16 at Muncie instead of at Huntington at the North Indiana conference composed of all Methodist ministers of the district, as had been originally planned.

Michigan Pastor Gives Bond.

Marshall, Mich., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Friends of the Rev. George Lyons, 31, resigned pastor of the Tekonsha First Baptist church, arrested at his home yesterday on complaint of Ruth Thomas, 17 year old high school girl, who alleges he is the father of her unborn child, furnished bonds today for the minister's release pending Circuit court trial during the March term.

Lyons waived examination in lower court here Tuesday and bonds in the amount of $1,000 were set. Today a group of Tekonsha citizens interceded in the minister's behalf to have the bond reduced.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 40; recovered, 57; stripped, 8 [from police records for the twenty-four hours ending at midnight Tuesday].

Court cases: Ray Bartkowski, James Noonan, and Steve Debowski, held to the grand jury for automobile larceny by Judge Samuel Trude.

3,000 Scouts Attend 23d Anniversary Rally

The 23d anniversary week of the Boy Scouts in America opened last night with a rally of 3,000 scouts of the northwest district, at a scout circus in the Chicago Riding club, McClurg court and Ontario street. This was one of twelve divisional rallies to be held during the week. The climax of the event was the presentation to 25 troops in the district of the President Hoover awards based on scout work during the last year. The blue silk streamers were awarded by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker of the Sixth corps area. Barrett Wendell, chairman of the district, was in charge of the rally.

THREE STINSON EXPERTS KILLED TESTING PLANE

Tri-Motor Ship Falls Near Detroit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—When a new Stinson airplane crashed near the Wayne county airport this afternoon, three airmen were killed. The dead are:

A stability test was being made of a new tri-motored plane which the company was considering introducing on several air lines with which it is affiliated. Wayne Fox, manager at the airport, who witnessed the accident, said the plane went into a tailspin when about 800 feet in the air. The plane was demolished.

Russell A. Cone of the Stinson company said Pinaire was making routine tests of a new experimental type, being accompanied by Saxon and Benson who were to observe the stability and other features.

Officials of the aeronautics branch, department of commerce, went immediately to the scene to investigate the accident. So did officials of the Stinson company. The Stinson factory is about a mile from the place where the crash occurred. All three of the airmen were married and lived in Wayne county.

GIRL DIES OF BURNS.

Doris McAndrews, 5 years old, 7650 South Morgan street, died yesterday in the Albert Merritt Billings hospital of burns which she suffered a week ago when she fell in to a tub of water in her home.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

Saves $2. So Easy! No Cooking!

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives more prompt, positive relief. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, clears the air passages, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in severe coughs.

PINEX for Coughs

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

You'll do it better on Dated coffee

Science says coffee sweeps the cobwebs from your brain, removes fatigue and actually makes your muscles respond more quickly. But, look out for stale coffee!

FOR FOUR CENTURIES men of letters and men of action have used coffee as a stimulant. As they sipped the tempting, aromatic beverage, it gave them sure, quick exhilaration.

But there were unpleasant whispers, too. To some people coffee brought depression, nerves, indigestion.

Now science has stepped in and cleared it all up. Science has found that the people who were having trouble were probably drinking stale coffee!

Stale coffee develops a rancid oil. About half a cup of it to a pound. Stale coffee often does cause indigestion, nerves, sleeplessness.

That is why Chase & Sanborn instituted Dated Coffee. Insured for everyone the wonderful, healthful exhilaration that only fresh coffee can give.

You know Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee is fresh because an expiration date is clearly printed on every pound. No can is allowed to stay on your grocer's shelf after its date has expired.

Keep away from stale coffee! Ask for Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee tomorrow. Science says, whether you're cleaning house or climbing snow-clad mountains, you'll do it better on Dated Coffee!

Silver Skates championships were decided last night at La Follette park. The title in the men's senior division, the most highly prized of the seven, went to Don Wittkamp of the Denemark Skating club, in one of the most surprising upsets, which was marked by misfortune to two other leading contenders and which, in particular, prevented establishment of an all time record by Eddie Stundl. Had Stundl won he would have taken his fourth victory in the 17 year old event.

Hundreds lined the course to see THE TRIBUNE'S annual Derbies at La Follette park despite sub-zero weather. Many more crowded every vantage point in the upper stories of the fieldhouse. The program was finished in less than three hours despite the total of fifty preliminaries and semi-finals.

Course Well Lighted.

Moonlight and the flood lights installed by TRIBUNE electricians made the course almost as brilliant as day. Between high banks of snow the forty foot path of ice reflected the rays of both moon and electricity. No fault could be found with the track, and the skaters, none of whom was required to stay outdoors more than fifteen minutes, did not complain. Neither did the officials of the meet, who withstood the brunt of the cold. From time to time the men changed shifts and the success of the races was due to their devotion to their tasks.

The Denemark Skating club, coached by Pete Miller, overwhelmed the other clubs in the battle for the Walter Eckersall Memorial trophy. Denemark skaters captured four championships and enough places in the other Derbies to compile a record total of 400 points. Denemark won the boys' junior, boys' intermediate, men's senior and girls' senior titles.

Stundl Misses Fourth Title.

Now consider the plight of Eddie Stundl. In 1927 Stundl won the boys' juvenile championship. Two years later he took the first place honors in the junior division. In 1931, in the fifteenth renewal of the Derbies, the last time they were held, Stundl won the boys' intermediate division and the pair of Silver Skates. No other ever had won more than three Derbies since their establishment in 1917.

Last night Stundl set out for his fourth conquest, which would have given him a sweep of the events, since the midget class for boys under 12 years of age was not included in the program until two years ago. Stundl led by 25 yards with a lap and a half to go in the two mile final. Behind him skated Wallace Fee Jr., champion in the juvenile division in

Extend Thanks to Officials for Silver Skates Aid

THE TRIBUNE wishes to thank the officials of the west parks, La Follette park, where the Silver Skates races were held, and the members of The Tribune Athletic association, who made possible the successful conclusion of the sixteenth annual derbies last night.

With the coöperation of the fire department, the course at La Follette park was flooded and preliminary races were held Monday night. Crews of workmen cleared the park yesterday and last night, due to their efforts and those of the officials the championships were run off.

West Side Sets Record Entry in Golden Gloves; 618 to Box

Entries for the west section of the Golden Gloves tournament have smashed all records. Six hundred and eighteen boys, twice the number which competed in the first Golden Gloves tournament in 1928, are eligible to compete next Monday night at Guyon's Paradise, Crawford and West End avenues.

Not only is this number larger than that which started in Golden Gloves five years ago, but it is more than twice the number of boys which competed in the west side trials last year. In 1932 there were 269 entries in the west section.

Novice Class Registers 487.

Most of this tremendous interest in Chicago's sixth Golden Gloves tournament is due to the establishment of the novice division. Four hundred and eighty-seven boys are registered in the novice class. All, however, are not novices in the usual sense of the word. The requirements for participation in the novice class are:

A novice is any amateur boxer who has not won more than one fight in any Golden Gloves tournament, any Catholic Youth tournament or any Central A. A. U. tournament.

Many of the contestants have had more than a year's experience. Some have had twice that. They have not participated in the above mentioned tournaments and consequently are classified as novices.

NOVICE.		OPEN.
39	112 pounds	7
57	118 pounds	9
80	126 pounds	15
114	135 pounds	28
97	147 pounds	23
82	160 pounds	19
27	175 pounds	6
11	heavyweights	4
487	*Totals	111

Two rings will be used on Monday and Tuesday nights at Guyon's. The qualifiers in the Open division (two in each weight division) will be eligible for the Tournament of Champions which opens Feb. 27 at the Stadium. It is the plan also to qualify two Novice boxers in each weight for the final Novice tournament, which also will be held at the Stadium in conjunction with the Tournament of Champions.

The west section meet also has the largest entry of any tournament ever held in the central states. When the lists are completed for the far south, north, and south sections the total entry in Chicago may double that of last year.

Letters were mailed last night to all boys registered for the west side bouts. These letters contained tournament instructions and referee's instructions. In some cases the letters were sent to the team coach or captain.

All Novice and Open division boxers entered in the west section of the Chicago Golden Gloves trials will report between 4 p. m. and 6 p. m. at Guyon's Paradise Monday. Each boxer will be given a complete physical examination and weighed. One pound over the limit in each weight class will be permitted. All matches will be made by lot. Drawings will take place not later than a half hour before the first bout of the evening.

Novices to Get Cards from Clerks.

Novice boxers will apply to the A. A. U. clerks when they report to receive registration cards. These cards are good for Golden Gloves only. Boxers in the Open division should already be registered, but if they are not they may register on reporting.

Eight ounce boxing gloves will be used in all bouts. Each round will be two minutes. All bouts are three rounds. Soft gauze bandage (two inch), which the boxer must supply, may be wrapped around the hands. Use of black tape is banned. White adhesive tape may be used only to hold the bandages securely around the wrists.

Last Chance Today

ENTRIES for the far south sectional Golden Gloves tournament close today. This is the last opportunity to compete in the Open and Novice classes at the State theater, 110th place and Michigan avenue.

Get Seats Now for Golden Gloves

The finest amateur boxers of seven states—Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan, Iowa, Ohio, and Tennessee—will battle in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions at Chicago Stadium Feb. 27, Feb. 28, and March 1. Mail orders for tickets to this greatest boxing show are now being accepted.

The prices are 40 cents, 75 cents, and $1.10 (tax included).

For the championship round to be fought at Chicago Stadium on March 8 ticket prices are 75 cents, $1.50, and $2.20 (tax included).

STUPPLE WINS ST. PETERSBURG OPEN WITH 144

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Chicago has sent a number of the leading money winners of the winter golf season in Horton Smith, Harry Cooper, Eddie Loos, Frank Walsh, and Abe Espinosa, but today it turned up with a comparative stranger in young Bob Stupple, Skokie Country club professional. By matching par for 36 holes Stupple won the annual St. Petersburg open title with a card of 144.

Stupple's victory came as a surprise, for the field included a number of the campaigners who fared well on the Pacific coast and are now invading Florida and the Carolinas for a succession of money tournaments. Stupple carried away the major portion of the $1,000 purse, $275, while Denny Shute of Hudson, O., and Al Watrous, Detroit veteran, were forced to share second and third money of $350 by virtue of finishing in a tie, one stroke back of the victor. Tied for fourth with 146s were Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot expert from Philadelphia, and Johnny Golden of Noroton, Conn.

No Contract, No Exhibition Games! Babe

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—It may be another full month before Babe Ruth gets down to the serious business of reaching a compromise on his 1933 salary with the Yankees, but while in the midst of finishing preparations for going south with his family the slugger made it clear he will not play any exhibition games before signing a new contract.

The Babe made up his mind on this important point two years ago, when he did not put his name on the dotted line until the day before the spring exhibition began. He has not changed it, for the reason he believes the risk would be entirely too great.

"Suppose I should bust an ankle in an exhibition game and had not yet signed my contract?" he asked. "How much do you think they would offer me then?"

This year the Yankees start their competition against the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg March 14, so that there remains plenty of time for the boys to speculate on just how much of that $25,000 cut the Babe will be able to duck. The consensus still is that he will convince Col. Jacob Ruppert he is worth $62,500 for the coming campaign, his twentieth in the big leagues.

The Ruths leave tomorrow by train for Jacksonville, whence they will motor to St. Petersburg Friday.

French Star Claims Two New Swimming Records

PARIS, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Two world's breast stroke swimming records were claimed today for Jacques Cartonnet, French Olympic swimmer. Making an individual attempt at record breaking in a 25 meter pool Cartonnet was clocked at 100 meters in one minute and 13 seconds and at 200 meters in 2:42 3-5.

DODGERS TRADE VANCE TO CARDS FOR CARROLL

Send Slade Along for Jake Flowers.

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Adding another chapter to a record series of player transactions this winter, Brooklyn tonight traded Dazzy Vance, famous speedball pitcher, to the St. Louis Cardinals in a deal involving three other players.

Along with Vance, the Dodgers gave up Gordon Slade, utility infielder, for Owen Carroll, right handed pitcher, and Jake Flowers, also a utility infielder, who returns to Brooklyn for the second time.

With this deal, the Dodgers removed one more landmark of the regime of Wilbert Robinson. It was during Uncle Robbie's reign that Vance rose to his greatest heights, leading the National league on several occasions and becoming the highest paid pitcher in baseball.

It was in 1922 that Vance, who will be 40 years old March 4, reported to Robinson. He was a gangling, broad shouldered fellow who, even then, was no stranger in the major leagues. Vance had been bumping around the minor leagues since 1912 and had come up for trials with the New York Yankees in 1915 and 1917.

In 1924, Vance barely missed capturing a pennant for Brooklyn, almost singled handed, winning 28 games while losing only six. He struck out 262 that season. The Dodgers lost the pennant to the Giants by a game and a half. Vance was voted the National league's most valuable player that year.

Success Breeds Temperament.

With his ascendancy, Vance proved himself a hard and shrewd business man and repeatedly became one of baseball's most stubborn holdouts. In addition he demanded concessions which he deemed befitting the National league's foremost fire ball pitcher and strike out king.

To all his whims, Robinson obliged without a murmur on the theory that so long as Vance delivered nothing was too good for him.

After his remarkable season in 1924, Vance refused to sign a contract for two weeks after the training season had opened. Then, one day, he drove up to the clubhouse in an antiquated automobile with the late Charles Ebbets, owner of the club, and using the steering wheel as a desk, signed a three year contract calling for a total sum of $60,000.

In 1928 he led the league with an earned run average of 2.09 in addition to reaching an even 200 strikeouts. That earned him another substantial raise when in 1930 he once again led the National league in effectiveness it won for him, after a stubborn struggle, a salary of $25,000 for 1931, the highest ever paid a pitcher.

Dazzy Starts Down.

That, however, also marked the apex of his career, for in 1931 his pitching arm began to weaken. He won only 11 games and lost 13 and his salary was reduced to $15,000. Last season he won 12 and lost 11, but pitched only 9 complete games, and the contract for 1933 which the Dodgers sent him and which he turned back was understood to have involved a still greater cut.

Compared to Vance, the other players in tonight's deal are of decidedly lesser caliber. Slade came to the Dodgers in 1930 from the Mission club of the Pacific Coast league along with Mickey Finn. Brooklyn paid $50,000 for the pair. But Slade never fulfilled expectations.

Flowers first sprang into prominence with the Cardinals in 1926, when, during the time Rogers Hornsby was driving the St. Louis club to a pennant, Jake stepped in to relieve Hornsby while the latter was nursing a lame back. Flowers subsequently was traded to Brooklyn and then back to the Cardinals, but he never rose above a utility role.

Carroll, former Holy Cross star, has seen service with the Tigers and Yankees, and last season he was with the Reds. There he gained the doubtful distinction of losing more games than any pitcher in the National league.

METCALF NAMES OLD MINNESOTA STAR AS COACH

Comes from Loyola in New Orleans.

Clark Shaughnessy, now coach at Loyola of New Orleans, is the choice of T. N. Metcalf, incoming athletic director at the University of Chicago, to succeed A. A. Stagg as football coach on the Midway. Only the formal action of the University's Board of Trustees, who will meet this afternoon, is required to verify Shaughnessy's appointment. Verification is regarded as a certainty.

CLARK SHAUGHNESSY.

This disclosure, ending a long suspense on the Midway, came unexpectedly last night. A group of former Chicago athletes, meeting at the Atlantic hotel, telephoned Metcalf long distance at Ames, Ia., to inquire about the present status of the coaching situation. Metcalf replied that he had made his decision and that he had notified the university administration. University officials, queried at 11 p. m., disclosed that Shaughnessy has been recommended.

Former Tulane Coach.

The prospective Maroon coach will come to the Midway with an impressive record made in southern competition. After a strenuous athletic career at the University of Minnesota, where he did his undergraduate work, Shaughnessy served as athletic director at Tulane university, New Orleans, for 12 years, from 1915 to 1926, inclusive.

His Tulane teams piled up a total of 58 victories while losing 27 games and tieing 6. One of his Tulane teams defeated Northwestern in 1925 at Stagg field, 13 to 7, the year that the Purple team beat Michigan, 3 to 2, at Soldiers' field to win a tie for the Big Ten title.

At Loyola of New Orleans, where he has worked since 1927, Shaughnessy's teams have won 38 games, tied 5 and lost 16. He has held only these two positions. Having in general a light group of candidates with which to work at Loyola, Shaughnessy has developed an open style of play which is said to be spectacular.

Comes from St. Paul.

He received the bachelor of arts degree at the University of Minnesota in 1917, returning to earn the degree two years after he had taken up his duties at Tulane. At Minnesota he competed with the Gopher football team in '11, '12, and '13, as end, tackle, and full back. He also played on the Minnesota basketball team in '12 and '13 and was on the track squad in '12. His preparatory work was done at North High school, St. Paul, where he was graduated in 1908.

Born March 6, 1892, Shaughnessy is 41 years old. He is married and has three children, two daughters and a son.

Among those who recommended Shaughnessy to Metcalf were Dan McGugin, coach at Vanderbilt; Dana Bible, coach at Nebraska, and Bernie Bierman, Minnesota coach, according to W. V. Morgenstern, Maroon publicity director, who discussed the probable appointment last night.

Recommended Highly.

The recommendation of Dr. Rufus C. Harris, dean at Tulane, read in part as follows: "Everyone at Tulane thinks very highly of Coach Shaughnessy. He has a flair and a genius for building up strong and enduring loyalities. His nature is very sincere and intense. He is particularly equipped to deal with a smart and intelligent team rather than with the 'beef' type. He is highly regarded as a successful coach."

Bierman wrote that "Shaughnessy is one of the best coaches in the country and he rates equally high as a man."

Shaughnessy's recommendation calls for his appointment as assistant professor of physical education, which gives him faculty status on the Midway. It is expected that he will arrive on the Midway in April to undertake spring practice.

Meanwhile a banquet which had been planned for the incoming coach and athletic director by Harold Swift, president of the university's board of trustees, will be held soon with Shaughnessy as the expected guest of honor.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The Supremus colt Cathop, bearing the colors of the estate of R. M. Eastman, was a surprise winner of the Wildwood purse, mile feature at Hialeah park today. Under 106 pounds he sped the distance in 1:36 4-5, the fastest time of the meeting and only two-fifths of a second behind the track record, and won by a length at $14.60 for $2.00.

The track was at its fastest and Johnny Gilbert, who scored the most winners in 1932, had the leg up on the winner to gain the second half of a double. Energetic Boy, victor in the third, was his first winner.

Cathop Wins by Length.

Cathop had a length to spare over Dyak which led Mountain Elk by four lengths in the feature. After that the order of finish was Semaphore, Brown Wisdom and Broad Meadows. Cathop's impost was the lightest in the race but he had no more than a four pound pull over the top weights of the field.

The result gave Cathop his second purse in five starts at this course and was earned by a fine performance.

Village Vamp Scores Easily.

Another thoroughbred by Supremus won the race following the feature when Village Vamp, a four year old filly, got home first by three lengths. H. Elston was the winning rider, but his mount was slow when compared to the winner of the main event. Village Vamp was clocked in 1:39, more than three seconds slower than the son of Supremus.

YACHT MARGO PURCHASED BY LEON MANDEL

The 165 foot twin screw Diesel yacht Margo, formerly owned by Burt A. Massee of Chicago, has been sold to Leon Mandel, Chicago merchant, it was announced yesterday. The vessel, now tied up in New York, will be fitted out immediately and will sail for Chicago as soon as the St. Lawrence waterway is open for navigation.

The Margo was built in 1929 at Neponsett, Mass., from designs by Henry J. Gielow, Inc., at a cost of more than half a million dollars. It is powered with a pair of 425 h. p. Diesel engines and develops a speed of 17 miles an hour.

Accommodations for the owner and his guests are situated aft on the berth deck and are finished in French walnut, teak and enamel. On the main deck there is a dining room, pantry, smoking room and large living room. The vessel has quarters for 13 men in the crew. It is equipped with an automatic pilot, gyroscopic compass, gyroscopic pilot, a stabilizer to prevent rolling and a complete refrigeration unit.

LOYOLA MEETS ST. AMBROSE FIVE TONIGHT

With ten victories in 14 starts, Loyola University's basketball team left Chicago last night to play two games on successive nights. It meets St. Ambrose college at Davenport, Ia. tonight and Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington, Ill. Friday night.

Loyola won a 16 to 15 victory from St. Ambrose in Chicago with two baskets in the closing minutes. The University of Iowa is the only other team to defeat St. Ambrose this year. The Davenport team is leading the Iowa conference with five victories and no defeats.

The Illinois Wesleyan-Loyola game will be the first between the two schools. Wesleyan is coached by Wallie Roettgex, Cincinnati outfielder, and is one of the Little Nineteen leaders.

RICHTHOFF TO MEET CLINKSTOCK ON ARMORY CARD

John Richthoff will make his second start in Chicago when he meets Jim Clinkstock, giant Indian, Monday night at the 202d Coast Artillery armory, Broadway and Thorndale, on the Pat O'Shocker-Joe Savoldi wrestling card.

Richthoff, competing for Sweden won his third Olympic championship last summer in Los Angeles.

Richthoff defeated Stan Lurik in his other bout here. In Clinkstock, he will be confronted with a body scissors second only to that of Joe Stecher.

DETROIT BATTLES BLACKHAWKS AT STADIUM TONIGHT

Goodfellow Hurt

EBBIE GOODFELLOW, star center of the Detroit Red Wings, was not with the team when it arrived in Chicago late last night. Goodfellow was forced to remain in Detroit because of an injured knee. Herbie Lewis probably will take his place against the Chicago Blackhawks tonight at the Stadium.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Why have the Detroit Red Wings been flying so high through the National Hockey league these last weeks?

That is a question which has been troubling many a hockey fan, and which would appear to be one to be answered only by a Detroit citizen, but yesterday it received a more than adequate reply from no less than a Chicagoan. He is James Norris Sr., Chicago grain man and sportsman who this year took over the operation of the Red Wings. The Wings, the sensation of the circuit, are now tied for first place in the American division of the league, and tonight they will battle the Blackhawks at the Chicago Stadium.

It has been a good two months since the Red Wings made their last appearance in Chicago, and their performance then did not presage any such startling developments as have since transpired. The Blackhawks defeated them on that occasion with little or no difficulty by a score of 3 to 1, with such ease, in fact, that it might well have been 6 to 1 with a bit more marksmanship on the part of the Chicagoans.

Start Season Slowly.

Since then the Red Wings have built up one of the most amazing records in the history of the league. They have been defeated but once since Christmas night, and that on Jan. 28, when the Montreal Maroons rose up and set them down. In their last 17 games they have won eleven, lost one, and tied five, and ties in hockey are almost equivalent to victories, counting one point in the league standings.

The Red Wings' season did not open handsomely. Mr. Norris said yesterday. In fact, it appeared that Detroit had taken out a lease on the league cellar. The team was composed of a mixture of veterans and players new to the National league. The old timers included Ebbie Goodfellow, Laurie Aurie, Happy Emms, Frank Carson, Herb Lewis, and Doug Young. Two other experts were added with the acquisition of John Ross Roach, former Ranger goalie, and George Hay, one time Blackhawk.

Of the big league rookies, Eddie Wiseman, Walter Buswell and Ronnie Moffitt were obtained from the American league, Stew-Evans, Johnny Sorrell, and Herb Voss from the International league, and Johnny Gallagher, who had been employed by the Montreal Maroons, but not to any great length.

One of the principal reasons for the Detroit team's success, according to Mr. Norris, has been the adoption of the style of play used by the Maroons, the Rangers, the Canadiens, and the Maple Leafs—open and fast rather than defensive—with a view to encouraging general interest in the game.

Detroit Not Satisfied.

"The defensive game in hockey would work out the same," Mr. Norris said yesterday, "as though Bill Tilden in tennis, instead of driving and hitting the ball, were to rely on lobbing, waiting to profit by his opponent's mistakes. Such a plan would kill interest in tennis."

Detroit is by no means content with its present position, Mr. Norris pointed out, despite the fact that the Rangers' defeat at Boston Tuesday night and a victory for the Red Wings over the Hawks tonight would give them undisputed possession of first place. He stressed the fact that the race among the four American division teams—Red Wings, Rangers, Bruins, and Blackhawks—has been so keen thus far that the fourth place team in the American section has enough points already for it to take an easy second place in the international division.

As the Red Wings look at the remainder of the season, he said, any letdown by an American division team now might relegate it to last place overnight, and Detroit will consider itself fortunate to win a place in the Stanley cup playoffs

POTPOURRI.

LAST week we boldly figured the Big Ten basketball final result and timidly announced a three way tie between Ohio State, Michigan, and Northwestern was possible with 10 victories and two defeats for each.

Since then four games have been played and the results were according to form, yet the scores were such as to justify the doubts we expressed concerning our own deductions. Those doubts consisted of the possibility, even probability, that Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa were underestimated. Ohio State's narrow one point margins over Gophers and Badgers were less than previous dope indicated, while Iowa's superiority over Chicago was much more marked than in the first tilt. Those pupils of Rollie Williams may upset anybody's hopes.

Wisconsin, of course, now has two away from home games off its slate with two more victories, leaving seven to play. Two defeats, at least, were considered necessary for any other team to tie the Buckeyes. Champaign and Lafayette were named as the places for throwing the Ohio machine out of gear. Meantime Illinois has lost Red Owen. Iowa, however, looms as a possible barrier.

This blizzard suggests the winter when Friend Don, or perhaps it was Friend Frank, sports editor before Friend Don, sent us to Florida to report a boxing contest. On the way back we stopped for our vacation at Melbourne Beach, about half way between Jacksonville and Miami. It was cold, very cold, for Florida. We purchased heavier clothing, wore sweaters, and still were half frozen.

We arrived home just after a blizzard when the streets still were piled high with snow and traffic was suspended in many parts of the city. Actually we felt warm by comparison, so despite the cold we walked about with our light overcoat unbuttoned as Chicagoans looked at us as at some demented person.

Faith Is He.

Do you believe and realize
That there is more in our lives
Than man's machine made world of steel?
Have you ceased to feel the fineness
Of simple things or sharing kindness,
Or has the hunger of your soul, for the grip of gold,
Sold you into blindness,
Where you pell-mell follow
In this hell-shot lotto?
Have you ever found the making near
Of a leaf or flower delicately sheer?
Do you know what makes reflection?
Can you challenge nature's perfection?
Do you really think and thank
As you stretch your arm out free
That the fruit is yours, grasp it, from the tree?
Who asks or dates the pages
Of the years that mark the ages?
Who sprinkles star-dust in your hair,
Where the golden threads were braided there?
Yet with each dawn you greet the morn,
Can you walk alone and face the sun,
Believe and say "I've truly won"?
And even though the sun begins days anew and gives you power,
Faith is He, the Master, who has given us these sons and sun of ours.

Eve Jurgens.

Yep, It Was Evanston.

Help, Help: University club of Evanston issued call to its members to meet "Mr. Y. Muto, the Japanese council in Chicago." So this is Evanston! And it's the University club! Something MUST be done about this.

Don Wittkamp Wins Boys' Senior Silver Skates Title

1928. Coming into the stretch of his 19th lap, Stundl fell. Recovering, he set out to regain the lead. On the final lap Fee also fall. Stundl kept on, but Wittkamp led him to the finish line in the time of 7 minutes 40 seconds for the two miles.

Mabel Swanson Wins Skates.

Bernie Cannata, national champion in the races held recently at Oconomowoc, Wis., won the half mile boys' junior race in 1 minute 45 2-10 seconds. Cannata had no difficulty outdistancing his eleven rivals. He raced for the Denemark Skating club.

Leo Freisinger defeated a former titleholder, Victor Ronchetti, of the Northwest Skating club, and ten other finalists in the boys' intermediate division. Ronchetti won the boys' junior title in 1931. Freisinger's time for the mile was 3 minutes 42 4-10 seconds.

Ruth Mars Is Junior Winner.

Ruth Mars, the only unattached contestant to win a pair of championship skates, took the girls' junior title over a half mile course in 2 minutes 2 4-10 seconds. Miss Christensen of Denemark was second.

Boys from Chicago playgrounds won the midget and juvenile championships. The preliminaries of these age divisions and the boys' junior were held Monday night. Fred Bartolli of Orr playground skated the one-tenth mile final in 25 4-10 seconds. Frank Vrtis of McCormick playground was the winner in the juvenile class. His time for the three-tenths of a mile was 1 minute 7 2-10 seconds.

Walter Schneider, director of the building at La Follette park, presented the prizes to the contestants at the conclusion of the races. Skates were given to the first three in each of the seven Derbies, while silver and bronze medals were the fourth and fifth place awards.

Reiff Must Get 80 More Points to Break Record

Joe Reiff, Northwestern university forward, who is the Big Ten individual scoring ace, may establish a new record. Reiff must score 80 points in the remaining six Northwestern games to break the mark of 154 points made by Johnny Wooden of Purdue in the 1931-'32 season.

Reiff, who led Crane Technical High school to two city championships before matriculating at Northwestern, has scored 75 points in the first half of the Wildcats' schedule.

Although checked by a strong Indiana defense, Reiff scored four points last Monday at Bloomington to boost his total to 75. Reiff's closest rival is Hosket of Ohio State, who scored five baskets and three free throws Monday against Wisconsin and is in second place with 52 points.

On Hosket's heels is Johnson, Northwestern center, who has 49 points.

New Ring Club Plans Shows in Loyola Gym

The Century Athletic club, a recently incorporated organization, has leased Loyola gymnasium, Sheridan road and Loyola avenue, for a professional boxing show on March 20. A group of Chicago business men, headed by Maurice T. Weinshenk, an attorney, has appointed Bryan Downey, former Cleveland middleweight boxer, as matchmaker. The Century club has filed its bond and application for a promoter's license with the Illinois athletic commission.

Bill Bostelmann, manager of Johnny Phagan and Ray Tramblie, yesterday signed for Phagan to meet Solly Dukelsky at the Washington Boulevard arena Monday and Tramblie to face Young Stuhley at the Cicero stadium on Feb. 17. The Dukelsky-Phagan match has been set at eight rounds. It will be the semifinal to the 10 rounder between Johnny Pena and Jackie Sharkey.

Oak Till, Buffalo, N. Y., middleweight, and Frankie O'Brien of Hartford, Conn., last night agreed to meet in a 10 round match at White City next Thursday. Till started workouts yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium. The contest will be O'Brien's first since he boxed 10 rounds with Sammy [Kid] Slaughter of Terre Haute, Ind., at Milwaukee, Wis., two months ago.

Nick Scialaba, 1931 international Golden Gloves bantamweight champion, has signed to face Johnny Ladao at New York on Monday. The contest is slated for six rounds. . . . Harry Dublinsky has accepted a return bout with Tony Falco of Philadelphia at Pittsburgh on Feb. 20. . . . The Loop Boxing club's show, scheduled for Tuesday, has been postponed to tomorrow. . . . Jerry Heffernan, Loyola university boxing instructor, is recovering from an attack of laryngitis. . . . Eddie Shea, south side featherweight, is scheduled to fight Snooks Campbell at Miami, Fla., on Monday.

Two amateur cards will be offered tonight, one at the 202d Coast Artillery armory, Broadway and Thorndale avenue, and the other at St. Philip's gymnasium, Jackson boulevard and Kedzie avenue. National Guard and Naval Reserve boxers will compete at the armory. An interscholastic boxing meet between amateurs representing St. Philip High school and a team from Waukegan Township High is slated at St. Philip's gym.

Recall Sullivan Bout as Corbett Fights for Life

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The condition of James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, who has been ill with heart disease at his home in Bayside, Queens, for some time, remained "unchanged" today.

Corbett, who has been confined to his home for a year, has suffered several relapses since he first became ill, but he has not lost consciousness. Yesterday his physician said his patient's chances for recovery were "remote."

And as Gentleman Jim fought for his life the sporting world was busy recalling the fistic feats that made him famous.

Admirers pointed out that the 21st round of his fight with John L. Sullivan at New Orleans on Sept. 7, 1892, —the last session of an important and historic contest—perhaps was the most vital one in all the annals of pugilism. For that round broke down Sullivan and all that he stood for, and elevated Corbett to the American heavyweight championship.

Here is the story of that vital twenty-first round, the most important round in the history of the prize ring:

"Twenty-first round—They came to the center of the ring. Sullivan was very tired; Corbett was fresh and eager. Jim went after his man, and they came to close quarters.

"Corbett feinted with his left, apparently trying to get to the Boston man's stomach. Down went John L.'s guard. As quick as a flash, up came Corbett's right. It was the first punch that carried Jim's full strength. It sent Sullivan groggy.

"Again Sullivan rushed his man and acted like a demon. He was dazed. John L.'s hands fell to his sides. Corbett darted in and again staggered the strong boy that was. Jim sent a shower of lefts and rights. Sullivan turned, staggered, then fell. He dropped to the dirt floor of the ring on his face, and Referee Duffy counted him out. A new champion had been crowned."

AL GREENE KEEPS CENTRAL A. A. U. HIGH BOARD TITLE

Claudia Eckert Victor in Women's Free Style.

Five Central A. A. U. swimming and diving championships were decided last night at the Medinah Athletic club. The events included the 220 yard breast stroke for junior men, compulsory and optional high board diving for senior men, 50 yard free style open for women, 100 yard free style for senior men, and 150 yard back stroke for junior men.

Al Greene successfully defended his diving title against four competitors by scoring 142.70 points. Jim Wilkey and Kenneth Williard of Northwestern university finished second and third, respectively. Wilkey scored 125.70 points, and Williard 115.80. Claudia Eckert, winner of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S 100 yard free style swim for women three successive years, won the 50 yard free style event. Her time was 29:04.

Gordon Cornelius of the Lake Shore Athletic club won the 220 yard breast stroke in 3:03.4. F. Lennox was second and and John Domarad of Lewis Institute of Technology was third. Summaries:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 8.—Broad strength in railroad issues was in contrast to weakness in United States government securities in today's bond market. Federal obligations suffered losses amounting in some cases to one-quarter of a point.

Encouragement lent by granting of the Chicago and North Western loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, more liberal treatment to the road than had been expected in some quarters, was the principal cause for fresh buying of carrier liens.

Interest was awakened in some others of the early maturing carrier liens, including St. Louis and Iron Mountain 4s, which advanced about 2 points.

Selling in U. S. Liens.

An early flurry of selling in United States government securities was traced by dealers to signs of moderate stiffening in money conditions, owing to the withdrawal of funds from New York by interior banks, both long term and short term issues being sold.

The treasury market today was without the support which buying for federal reserve account has lent to prices during recent sessions. Recent reserve bank statements have shown a decline in bill holdings, with a corresponding increase in portfolios of notes.

German bonds enjoyed the most sizable recovery since the selling movement got under way more than a week ago. Prices advanced from one to three points in government, municipal, and corporation issues. Other foreigns were stimulated by the move.

Rail Demand Better.

Continued demand for prime rail obligations reflected the increasing regard of investors for such issues. Dealers in the over-the-counter market report an excellent demand for mortgage obligations where interest has been covered by a safe margin.

Gains in speculative carrier issues included Baltimore and Ohio 4½s, Allegheny corporation 5s, Chicago and North Western convertible 4¾s, Southern Pacific 4½s, and others.

Sharpest gains in German bonds were in issues of City of Berlin, Prussia Free State, Rhine Westphalia, German General Electric, and the agricultural banks.

Other foreign bonds to feel the stimulus of improvement in Germans were Brazilians, Norwegians, and miscellaneous South American issues.

DFFER CARBONDALE, PA., BONDS.

E. H. Rollins & Sons, Inc., R. M. Snyder & Co., and Singer, Deane & Scribner, Inc., are offering a new issue of $200,000 City of Carbondale, Pa., 5 per cent bonds. They are dated Jan. 1, 1933, and are due $10,000 each year from 1934 to 1953, inclusive.

Int'l Match Will Regain Bonds Pledged by Kreuger

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—The International Match corporation will regain possession of German bonds with a face value of $21,000,000 under an agreement approved today at a special meeting of creditors. Federal Referee Oscar W. Ehrhorn authorized the trustee in bankruptcy to conclude a settlement with five Swedish banks whereby the bonds will be returned.

DECEMBER RAIL INCOME 19 PCT. HIGHER THAN '31

Showing Best Since August, 1929.

December net operating income of the 165 class 1 railroads totaled $32,856,895, according to a report by the bureau of railway economics yesterday. This was 19 per cent ahead of the total for December, 1931, and it was the first time since August, 1929, that there was an increase for one month over the same month of a preceding year.

Net operating income of all the roads for 1932 was $334,324,999, compared with $537,945,488 in 1931, the bureau reports.

Increase by Months.

	1932.	1931.
January	$11,713,613	$34,341,413
February	22,042,614	27,714,535
March	32,289,300	46,478,184
April	20,623,929	39,653,568
May	11,950,652	41,699,648
June	12,652,515	50,618,183
July	11,569,852	56,960,177
August	28,868,887	56,444,155
September	49,646,869	55,428,200
October	63,839,316	64,202,244
November	34,179,122	36,787,704
December	32,856,895	27,618,392

It is stated that the railroads' failure to meet their fixed charges during December will be found to approximate $10,000,000. This would bring the deficit for the year to about $167,000,000 as compared with recent estimates of $200,000,000.

CAR LOADINGS GAIN

New York, Feb. 8.—Reports of cars loaded on a number of the principal railroads in the week ended Feb. 4 indicate total loadings of about 475,000 for the railroads as a whole, an increase of .63 per cent over the 472,088 loaded in the preceding week, but 17.7 per cent under loading of 574,756 cars in the same week last year.

Loadings of revenue freight on lines of the New York Central railroad in the week ended Feb. 4 were 34,613 cars, a decrease of 15.4 per cent, compared with 40,936 in the same week last year and comparing with 32,961 cars loaded in the preceding week. Cars received from connections were 44,831, compared with 43,382 a week earlier and 53,685 a year earlier. Total cars handled were 79,444, compared with 76,343 in the preceding week and 94,621 in the same week last year.

Pennsy Loadings Off.

The Pennsylvania railroad loaded 47,202 cars on line in the week ended Feb. 4, a decrease of 16.2 per cent, compared with 56,386 in the same week last year and comparing with 46,713 in the preceding week. Cars received from connections were 26,544, compared with 25,735 in the preceding week and 32,758 in the same week last year. Total cars handled were 73,746, against 72,448 a week earlier and 89,144 in the same week last year. Since Jan. 1 total cars handled were 362,403, a decrease of 19.2 per cent, compared with 448,328 in the period last year.

ODD LOT STEEL ORDERS BOOST CHICAGO MILLS

An increase in the miscellaneous steel business in some districts last week, notably the Chicago area, was reported by Iron Age in its weekly review of the industry.

The increase in the demand for miscellaneous uses helped to take up some of the slack caused by the decline in automobile tonnage, the review said. New business in major consuming channels other than the motor car trade is making an appearance.

Much of this new demand is for fabricated structural contracts. Railroad buying of steel is still lacking, the review says, but there is some assurance of inquiries for rails about the first of next month.

Pig iron production rose 4.1 per cent last month, totaling 568,785 tons against 546,080 in the preceding month. Steel ingot production at 19.1 per cent was better than any month since last May.

Last week's production rate was estimated at slightly under 19 per cent, a small recession from the preceding week, which was mainly accounted for by the falling off in orders from automobile manufacturers.

CHICAGO BANK BEATS NEW YORK IN FRANKNESS

Inquiry among loop bankers discloses that no large Chicago bank is considering publication of a detailed list of its investments, such as was made public Tuesday by the Corn Exchange bank of New York.

The First National Bank of Englewood, however, has published not only a detailed list of investments but also an anlysis of its loans, including real estate loans. The property securing each of the latter is specifically identified. Municipals, utility bonds, equipment notes and railroad bonds are similarly explained, and in each case the amount at which the bond is carried on the books of the bank is given.

Deposits of this bank on Dec. 31, 1932, totaled $4,413,000. Cash and United States government bonds amounted to $2,994,000.

"When plainer statements are made," says J. M. Nichols, president of the bank, "we will make them."

How Trucks Get Business.

The aggressiveness shown by trucking companies in seeking new business was exemplified recently when the United States senate ordered Halsey, Stuart & Co. to produce its books in Washington on short notice. The story of the senate's action was published in the morning newspapers.

When officials of the firm arrived at their office that morning they found a representative of a trucking concern waiting there with an offer to transport the records to the capital. Later in the morning three other trucking concerns communicated similar offers.

The business was not awarded to any of the trucking firms because the senate order was later modified, but the incident has been cited to show the contrasting methods of the trucking industry and the railroads.

High Pressure Work.

High pressure securities salesmen yesterday were reported to be complaining that the state blue sky commission was not showing the true lame duck spirit of "leniency." Rupert Bippus, as securities commissioner appointed by the former Republican administration, has continued to pursue violators of the state securities act. The registrations of three dealers have been canceled by Bippus during the last two weeks.

This has given rise to the rumor that Bippus is not to be immediately replaced, but that he may remain in office until after July 1, when all dealers are required to renew their registrations. Selection of a successor is up to the new Democratic secretary of state, Edward J. Hughes.

A number of candidates for the office have already been proposed to Mr. Hughes. Among them are Leonard D. Karcher, assistant manager of the Investors' Protective bureau, and I. Harvey Levinson, an attorney.

Thinnest Steel Rolled.

A recent dispatch from Youngstown, O., told of an order for a sheet of steel six inches wide and .001 inch thick. This steel was described as being the thinnest rolled. Benjamin Carlson, Chicago representative for Sandvik Steel, Inc., a Swedish company, states that he is selling rolled steel in Chicago of a thickness which would require eight layers to make one of the Youngstown steel. His rolled steel, Mr. Carlson says, is approximately .00012 inch thick. It is used for diaphragms in high frequency radio transmission, which is employed in trans-ocean and ship to ship service. To prove it, he sends a sample.

Hour Glass Discourages Tardiness.

Technocracy hasn't yet hit the office of H. A. Behrens, president of the Continental Casualty company. Instead of a time clock Mr. Behrens provides his office boy with an hour glass. Mr. Behrens arrives at his office daily at 9:15. The office boy, who is due to arrive at 8:30, turns over the hour glass upon his arrival. If the last grain of sand filters through by 9:30 the boy has not been tardy.

Two Places at Same Time.

The problem of having to be in two places at the same time is to be solved by Harold Warner, United States manager of the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance company through the telephone. Executives of the Chicago and New York branches are to meet on Monday and Tuesday. It was desired to have Mr. Warner at both meetings. Mr. Warner settled the matter by hitting on the plan of talking from New York over long distance telephone to the Chicago group who will meet in the Bismarck hotel. His talk will be amplified by loud speakers here.

Kansas Cuts License Fees on Autos and Light Trucks

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Gov. Alfred M. Landon signed a bill today slashing passenger motor car tag fees 50 per cent in Kansas, reducing registration fees for light trucks and increasing those for heavy motor carriers.

Compressed Industrial Gas Declares 35 Cts. Dividend

Compressed Industrial Gases, Inc., of Chicago, has declared its regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents a share, payable March 15 to stockholders of record Feb. 28. Earnings for 1932 after reserves and taxes were $60,174 as compared with $96,448 in 1931.

STOCK LEADERS MOVE UPWARD 3D DAY IN ROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 8.—Stray bits of news from different trade quarters helped the share market to edge ahead for the third day in succession. As on the preceding moves the gains were small, few of them amounting to as much as a point.

As one broker known for his bullish leanings put it, however, a half point is better than no point at all in these times with the overplus of uncertainties, political, industrial, and otherwise, still beclouding the picture.

Better traffic reports for some of the leading railroads of the country, the good showing of the General Motors sales figures for January and the renewed rallying tendencies displayed by the commodity markets provided the chief fuel for today's progress of the stock list. Revival of rumors of cuts on cigarets continue to bring selling into the tobacco issues however and this group acted somewhat as a drag on the general market.

See Regular Dividends.

Nearby dividend meetings lost some of their terror as brokerage house spokesmen whose opinions carry weight agreed that the boards of both American Telephone and Union Pacific may be counted upon after all to maintain their regular rates. Union Pacific's board meets tomorrow and that of Telephone next week. Union Pacific's present rate of $6 was established last July by a cut from a $10 rate. The yield is about 8 per cent as compared with 6.6 on Norfolk and Western and 8½ on Chesapeake and Ohio, the only other two active rails on a regular dividend basis.

Some fairly large blocks of American Telephone came out on the tape as shorts cast about to cover their lines to agree with the revised forecast on the company's rate meeting scheduled for next Wednesday. The closing sale was recorded at 101⅞, a gain of more than a point on the day.

Other utilities continued to encounter difficulties, although most of them swung to the upside with the rest of the list. Peoples Gas was an exception and finished behind its customary minus sign.

Ship Preferred a Feature.

New York Shipbuilding preferred put on another little side show of its own, rising nearly 7 points on top of its sensational gain of yesterday. The common also moved up nearly a point.

Other nominations for the feature list included National Biscuit, which sold to a new low, and heavy selling in Budd Wheel, which drove the issue down in the afternoon from $2 a share to $1. Seaboard Oil showed little response to the 10 per cent extra dividend declared.

Railway Equipment shares which have been widely tipped for a rise for some days finally perked up, General Railway Signal and Pullman each bettering their score by a point or so.

BIG FINANCING FIRM'S PROFIT IS $5,720,000

The Commercial Investment Trust corporation yesterday reported 1932 net earnings of $5,720,000 available for dividends. This compares with $7,555,000 in 1931.

The company is one of the largest finance companies in the country. It finances installment sales of several leading automobile concerns and other manufacturers. The net volume of bills and accounts purchased last year was $317,398,000, against $374,094,000 in the preceding year.

Henry Ittleson, president, says in his report that, while all lines of the company's business declined, there was an upturn in various divisions late in the year. The textile industry appears to be one of the first to show signs of recovery, he said.

The year-end balance sheet shows the company has cash of $14,734,000. Current assets were $116,310,000, against current liabilities of $11,479,000.

BANK CLEARINGS MAKE FIRST YEAR TO YEAR GAIN IN 31 MONTHS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 8.—One of the most important signs of improvement in business activities yet to be discerned appeared today when it was announced that bank clearances at New York city last week were nearly 10 per cent higher than those for the corresponding week last year. This is the first increase to be recorded for thirty-one months and was of sufficient proportions to lift the total for the entire country above 1932.

Coincident with this favorable report, another was issued showing that commercial failures in January had made the most encouraging record since the same month in 1930, reversing the trend of a year ago, when there was a substantial increase. The improvement was noted both in the reductions of numbers of failures and reductions in the aggregate liabilities.

Bank clearings at New York city for the week ended Feb. 8, or Wednesday night, totaled $3,419,769,000, while for the same week last year they amounted to $3,120,988,000, indicating an increase of 9.1 per cent over 1932. These clearings represent payments made by check and cleared through all banks here, and great importance is attached to fluctuations in the totals inasmuch as nearly all commercial transactions are effected through check payments.

GENERAL MOTORS' CONSUMER SALES UP LAST MONTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 8.—General Motors corporation reports sales to consumers in the United States in January were 50,653 cars, compared with 19,992 in December and 47,942 in January last year.

Sales to dealers in the United States in January were 72,274, compared with 44,101 in December and 65,382 in January last year. Total sales to dealers, including Canadian and overseas shipments, were 82,117, against 53,942 in the preceding month and 74,710 in January.

Won't Cut Capital Stock.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 8.—(AP)—A dispatch from Lansing, Mich., last night to the effect that the General Motors corporation had filed notice with the corporation division of the department of state of Michigan of decrease in authorized capital stock from $1,253,333,000 to $750,000,000 was described at the corporation offices today as in error.

The facts are, it was stated, the corporation last month filed supplemental franchise papers at Lansing showing its authorized capital as of Dec. 31, 1930, to be $1,259,332,200, indicating an increase of $5,448,300 over the authorized capital filed on Dec. 10, 1928.

Oklahoma Gas & Electric Declares Usual Dividends

Bylesby Engineering and Management corporation announces that the directors of Oklahoma Gas and Electric company have declared the regular quarterly dividends of 1½ per cent on the 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock and 1¾ per cent on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, both payable March 15 to stockholders of record Feb. 28.

Eastman Kodak Declares Usual Quarterly Dividend

Hull Proposes Check on Tax Exempt Bonds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Taxation of securities now exempt from tax was proposed to the senate today by Senator Cordell Hull [Dem., Tex.].

The Democratic senator, who has been prominently mentioned as President Elect Roosevelt's possible choice for secretary of state, introduced a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to permit income taxes to be levied on all future securities issued by federal, state and local governments.

Only in time of war, and then for a five year period only, would congress, under the proposed amendment, be permitted to exempt the income from such securities.

Cites Huge Amounts Exempt.

Pointing out that the public now owns "some 36 billions of securities exempt from taxation," Senator Hull asserted:

"The United States ought not to contract away its power to tax wealth by tax exemptions. It is unwise to create a class in the country which cannot be reached for tax purposes. Such policy is utterly inconsistent and at war with any system of graduated income surtaxes, and it would ultimately destroy the latter."

"In the event of war," he continued, "it would be an unspeakable tragedy for the nation to have locked up in tax exempt securities 40 to 75 billion dollars owned by a privileged class, which could not be reached even for the most urgent and emergency war tax.

"Our tax exempt policy, federal, state and local, has not only encouraged extravagant expenditures and unnecessary increases of debt, but it is driving the nation into a condition wherein there is gradually arising a great idle class living on tax exempt securities."

Wealthy Chief Benefactors.

Senator Hull stated that exemption from tax was a valuable attribute of a bond, but one increasing in value with the wealth of the bondholder, because of the higher surtaxes in the higher income group. The very wealthy, he argued, constituted so small a class that removal of the exemption would not greatly affect the price level of government bonds.

The treasury department, however, disagreed with him, emphatically claiming that wartime selling drives would have to be employed to dispose of government securities if their exemption from tax was removed. Moreover, they said, a large part of the tax revenue, if the exemption on government bonds were removed, would be offset by the higher interest charges the government would be forced to pay on nontax exempt securities.

ELECTRICITY OUTPUT IN CHICAGO LAST WEEK GREATEST THIS YEAR

Electricity production in the Chicago district for the week ended Feb. 4 was the largest for any week so far this year. Except for the first week in January, however, the decline from the year ago output was the largest.

Production amounted to 95,020,000 kilowatt hours, a decline of 8.5 per cent from the coresponding period last year. In the preceding week production was down only 7.3 per cent from 1932.

The trend throughout the country was the same as in this district. Production was down 8.4 per cent as compared with 1932 and a spread of 7.5 per cent in the preceding week. All major geographical districts reported a decline compared with the preceding week.

RECALL PRICES OF HOGS, SUGAR LED FALL RALLY

New York, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Commodity dealers and other Wall street observers, who recalled that last fall's rally in prices of commodities and securities was led by hog and sugar prices, closely studied those two commodities today.

The advance of these bellweathers, it was felt, had not yet gone far enough to give any definite cue to general business, but those who feel that lightning sometimes strikes twice in the same place were admittedly encouraged to hope that the hog and sugar team might again provide a harbinger of better business conditions to come.

A 'Boss'—Who Should He Be and What Do?

The "boss"—his qualifications, how he should be selected, and what is expected of him—yesterday came in for attention of the personnel conference of the American Management association, which last night closed its annual meeting at the Palmer house.

Members of the association, who belong to executive staffs of large corporations and to university teaching staffs, have been giving their thought to the rank and file workers. Now they are casting a scrutinizing eye on executives, including those at the top and "straw" bosses.

John A. Stevenson, vice president of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance company, in discussing the training of executives, said that those capable of leadership will be men who are "reasonably worldly wise." Business is going to expect much of its key men, he aded, saying:

"Executives in the future must be able to organize, to evaluate, to discipline, to train, to lead, and to sell.

Urges Need for Leaders.

"Even a casual survey of the critical problems now facing business and industry will indicate that there is a very great need for effective and understanding leadership. Leaders who will be called on to assume great responsibilities will be those who not only are familiar with the problems of their own business but also have an intense interest in human welfare. One of their very great responsibilities and enjoyments will be the creation and the development of an effort which will enrich the lives of the entire personnel in the organization.

"Opportunities for leadership in the future are not going to persons merely because they have served a decade or so in the business. Selection will be based on ability to contribute to the welfare of the business and to its success. Some of our difficulties in business and industry today are indirect results of incompetent leadership."

Mr. Stevenson said that there are many good men submerged in organizations simply because they have lacked opportunities for self-development. One of the important functions of future executives will be to make the best use of these workers, he asserted.

Defines Executive Qualities.

W. J. Donald, partner of James O. Kinsey & Co., gave his idea of a balanced executive personnel program essential to business success. Some of the principal points in his program are: A clear cut definition of the responsibilities and authorities of every executive position, an accurate determination of the requirements of each position, selection of executives with the capacities necessary for each position, the establishment of proper relationships between executives, including the thorough understanding of responsibilities and authorities.

Prof. Pearce C. Kelley of the University of Arkansas said that despite the introduction of complicated rating and psychological tests there is no substitute for interviews in the selection of executives.

A paper prepared by James D. Mooney, president of General Motors Export company, was read. He is abroad. In his paper Mr. Mooney asserted that with all their mass production, industrialists today as organizers are still in the novice class.

"Organization and the application of its principle must always remain a potent force in determining industrial destiny," he wrote. "Modern industrial organizations have literally grown up like Topsy, with plenty of evidence that the technique of organizing has been a much neglected study. Organization means any and every kind of concerted human effort, the kind of concerted human effort that is essential to the success of any group undertaking."

VAN SWERINGEN PLANS FOR RAIL EMPIRE REVIVED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 8.—The election today of John J. Bernet, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio lines, as president of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis [Nickel Plate] railroad marked the first move for consolidation made by the Van Sweringen Interests since the trunk lines agreed on a four system plan for the east last summer. His election coördinates the operation of 4,800 miles of line.

JOHN J. BERNET. [Blank & Stolle Photo.]

As the C. & O. already controls the Pere Marquette, this leaves the Erie as the only Van Sweringen railroad in the east corporately separate from their other lines in this region, O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen also control the Missouri Pacific.

Complies with I. C. C. Plan.

Under the interstate commerce commission consolidation plan, as accepted by the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, and C. & O., the Van Sweringen lines in the east would be grouped in one system together with the Lehigh Valley, which is now held by the Pennsylvania. The appointment of Mr. Bernet to the Nickel Plate is, therefore, in harmony with this plan.

Under Mr. Bernet's management, the C. & O. has provided the revenues with which the Alleghany corporation, top company in the Van Sweringen holding structure, has been able to maintain interest payments on its bonds though the depression. The C. & O. is the only railroad to have maintained dividends unchanged since 1929. It pays $2.50 annualy on its $25 par common stock.

Through today's change, Mr. Bernet is now made responsible for one of the weaker units in the Van Sweringen chain. The Nickel Plate reported a net loss of $4,410,000 in 1932, and its prospects for 1933 show no change from this trend. It is a heavy borrower from the Reconstruction Finance corporation and it is endeavoring to refund $20,000,000 of unsecured notes which fell due last Oct. 1.

Roads Linked Financially.

The fortunes of the Nickel Plate are nevertheless involved with those of the C. & O., which holds or has on options from the Alleghany corporation about 57 per cent of Nickel Plate common stock.

In assuming the headship of the Nickel Plate, Mr. Bernet, who will be 65 years old tomorrow, is returning to the first property he managed for the Van Sweringens. After the two Cleveland brothers bought the Nickel Plate from the New York Central in 1916, they brought Mr. Bernet from the New York Central management to operate the road for them. He improved the Nickel Plate to a point where it was paying dividends of $6 on its common shares in 1930. He went from the Nickel Plate to the Erie in 1927 and, after making that

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Weather and crop reports dominated the action of the wheat market yesterday and were of a character to increase bullish sentiment. The government weekly summary said the crop continued to deteriorate in Oklahoma and the western third of Kansas.

There was a marked lessening in the pressure on the May option, which has been in evidence of late and which had been attributed to hedging against cash wheat from Red Cross stocks turned over to mills in payment for processing flour and other charges necessary for the distribution of the produce for relief purposes.

Some of the local professionals who have not been inclined to operate freely lately were understood to have taken the buying side in wheat yesterday, having been impressed with the bullish character of the crop comments received during the day. R. O. Cromwell, the Lamson Bros. & Co. expert, said damage to wheat in the southwest from low temperatures is considerable where the condition of the plant was already poor. He called attention to the temperature range of 64 above to 6 degrees below zero on Tuesday at Amarillo, Tex., and 62 above to 2 below on the same day at Oklahoma City.

Fear Heavy Crop Damage.

"Where condition of wheat was fair to good from eastern Kansas eastward, I think damage will maybe be confined to bare spots, ice smothered fields, thinning of stand, heaving, top browning or general weakening of resistance," Mr. Cromwell said. Other reports, however, were not as optimistic and claims of actual damage east of the Mississippi river were received.

A Kansas City house issued a report during the day placing the condition in the western two-thirds of Kansas at 51.5 and in the eastern third at 70, suggesting a wheat crop of 75,000,000 bu, compared with 106,000,000 bu in 1932 and 240,000,000 bu in 1931. Thomson & McKinnon had a report calling attention to the temperatures of 17 to 24 below zero in Kansas, compared with a low of 17 in 1917, when the state raised only 42,000,000 bu.

Strength in Winnipeg had some effect on the local market toward the last, and the close was within a fraction of the top, with net gains of ½c. May being 48⅛@48¼c, July, 48⅝@48¾c, and September, 49⅞@50c. Winnipeg gained ⅝@⅞c for the day in Canadian funds, buying presumably to remove hedges against export sales being a factor. Liverpool was ½@⅝d per bu higher, and reported two cargoes of Argentine wheat had been sold to the orient. Buenos Aires closed ¼@⅜c higher.

Corn Dull But Firm.

Trade in corn was largely of a local character, with the strength in wheat the main influence. Closing trades were ¼@⅜c higher, with May 26¼c; July, 27⅝@27⅞c, and September, 29@29¼c. Owing to the snow blocked highways, country offerings of cash corn to arrive were the smallest in some time, only 7,000 bu being reported bought by local handlers. Shipping sales were 4,000 bu. The trade has about given up hope of a liberal export business.

Oats showed a firm undertone, with low temperatures in the south and southeast regarded as likely to damage the winter crop in that area. While the crop in that area is small in comparison with the yield in the large central western and northwest states, it is important locally. Net gains were ⅛@¼c higher, with May finishing at 17⅛@17¼c and July at 17½c. Rye gained ⅜c with wheat, May finishing at 35⅛c and July at 34⅝c. May barley was ¼c higher.

OIL INSTITUTE ADOPTS RULES TO CURB OUTPUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 8.—The directors of the American Petroleum institute adopted today for the industry a set of principles that they believe should tend to bring the production of crude oil in line with market requirements. The success of such a program, they said in a statement issued after the meeting, rested upon rigid enforcement of lawful orders of state commissions, and they called upon every person in the petroleum industry not only to assist commissions in enforcing such orders but also to avoid acts tending to circumvent or defeat them.

In their statement the directors said domestic crude oil production was related inseparably to the production in other countries, "and, in order to apply these principles and make them effective in the United States, it is necessary for similar principles to be applied to the production of crude oil in other exporting countries."

Lay Down Principles.

The board said the sound administration of market demand rulings should include the following general principles:

"In a broad and general sense the measure of market demand is the consumption of refined products.

"Current production should not exceed this demand and should make some allowance for withdrawals from storage, which are now excessive.

"Producing capacity being already far in excess of consuming requirements, there is no public interest in developing new pools, and, therefore, production from new pools should be restricted to the utmost limit permitted by the laws of the states.

"Both in the interest of conservation and the prevention of waste the production of stripper wells should be the last restricted.

"After allowing for the production of stripper wells and the utmost restriction of new pools the intermediate existing flush pools should be so limited as to bring the total production in line with the total market requirements.

Prorate Pools Fairly.

"The production for each state should be prorated as between pools on a fair basis, and the production of each pool should be prorated between the property of producers on a fair and equitable basis.

"In order for this program to succeed it is absolutely necessary that the lawful orders of the state commissioners be rightly enforced, and every person engaged in the industry should assist the commissions in enforcing such orders and should avoid any and all acts which would directly or indirectly circumvent or tend to defeat such orders.

"In addition to this, the important subject of the gasoline tax and gasoline tax evasion cannot be omitted from the picture. The gasoline tax has reached a point where the motor vehicle, because of this and other taxes, is now paying approximately 10 per cent of the total tax burden of the United States, including federal, state, and local subdivisions, and on an average more than 40 per cent of the revenues of the states. This burden has already reduced the consumption of gasoline, the purchase of new cars, and the number of cars in use is now at least 3,000,000 less than three years ago."

December Output Drops.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Crude petroleum production for the United States in December totaled 58,044,000 barrels, a daily average of 1,872,000, the commerce department announces. It was the first time since March, 1926, that daily average output for one month fell below 2,000,000 barrels.

According to preliminary figures, the total production of crude petroleum in the United States in 1932 was 781,845,000 barrels, a decrease of 69,236,000 barrels from 1931.

PRODUCE MARKETS

Continued cold and snowy weather over the producing sections with prospects of a material reduction in receipts again resulted in sharply higher prices for eggs and butter, the former advancing ½@1c, while butter was up ½@1¼c. Receipts, 5,015 cases eggs, and 4,148 tubs butter. There was no trading in potatoes owing to cold weather. Receipts 37 cars with 117 cars on team track. Live poultry firmer, with hens 1@1½c higher and Leghorn hens and colored broilers 1c higher. Receipts, 3 cars. No trucks received, owing to heavy snow blocking the highways.

SIXTEENTH SILVER SKATES DERBIES OF CHICAGO TRIBUNE RUN OFF IN SUB-ZERO WEATHER; CROWD BRAVES THE COLD. The start of the men's senior final two mile race at La Follette park last night. The skaters are on the line, ready to go at the crack of the gun. This race was won by Don Wittkamp of the Denemark Skating club after two skaters who were ahead of him fell to the ice. The races, in which there were hundreds of entries, were decided in below zero weather. (Story on page 15.)
